FRASER NOT STINGY, HIS WIFE SAYS

Spouse Who Sues Admits Ocean Park Man Always Lavish on Her Birthday

Whatever else Mrs. Lillian Fraser might accuse her husband of he was an ideal spouse when it came to remembering her birthdays and their wedding anniversary, she testified yesterday in Superior Judge Monnette's court, where her cross-examination by counsel for Earl A. Fraser, wealthy Ocean Park property owner, was completed. She gave her $500 on each anniversary and birthday for several years up to the time she filed her divorce suit, she admitted.

"Yes, Mr. Fraser was generous," she testified after explaining about gifts of diamonds and other jewels. She explained that she had purchased a diamond bracelet for $1000 and admitted her husband contributed toward paying for it. It was brought out by the defense that in addition to from $700 to $1200 a month she admitted receiving from Fraser. Until he paid all her expenses and for her clothing.

The only complaint she has made against him is in regard to his exerted attention to other women and of beating her during rows over them.

Mrs. Fraser testified that she not only attended to business affairs of the Ocean Park Bathhouse and Amusement Company, but that she could paint in oils and water colors, use a camera, made many of her own dresses and hats and was an expert in needlework.

Her husband, she stated, was once "fired" from the bathhouse job by his father, and her husband demanded return of a $20,000 investment in the enterprise, but that his father, ill from paralysis, "waved him away." Now witnesses will be called today.

DUELL WILL SPEED SUIT IN GISH CASE

New Counsel Employed to Handle $5,000,000 Action Over Contract

Intention to prosecute vigorously the suit of Charles H. Duell, Jr., for damages of $5,000,000 against Lillian Gish, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation and others, was announced yesterday by Attorneys Abrahams and Radicoff, who filed a notice of their substitution as counsel for the plaintiff.

The action is pending in the Superior Court. Charles H. Duell, president of the plaintiff corporation, formerly was Miss Gish's fiance.

"The suit is over a contract between Miss Gish and the plaintiff, which was breached by Miss Gish when she accepted employment from others according to the complaint. The damages asked are the largest ever sought in the Los Angeles courts on an employment contract.

As present there is pending before Judge Gates, in this action, a citation for contempt against Miss Gish because of her refusal to make a deposition. The matter was litigated in another form before the Federal Court in New York some time ago.

Will Rogers Remarks:

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Thanksgiving was started by the Pilgrims who would give thanks every time they killed an Indian and took more of his land. As years went by and they had all his land they changed it into a day to give thanks for the bountiful harvest, when the boll weevil and the protective tariff didn't remove all cause for thanks.

So here is what the Republicans have given us the past year: A war in Nicaragua, and China, and a rehearsal in Mexico, two floods and a coal strike and pictures of the Black Hills. And all we got in return is the promise of a new Ford car and lower taxes. Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

Trade Volume, Price Average Issues Handled All Set New High Records

Sale of Seat at $300,000 Enhances Memberships by $143,000,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Important high records for all time were mowed down thick and fast on New York's Stock Exchange today. The average price of industrial shares reached an unprecedented level and the number of individual issues traded in was 690, the highest total ever reached.

Sale of a membership on the stock exchange was arranged at $300,000 and a seat on the curb market was sold for $40,000, both high record prices.

For the second time this year and the fifth time in history the total sales on the stock exchange exceeded 3,000,000 shares. This was brought about by unusually energetic bidding for about a score of specialties which registered gains of $3 to $12 a share.

Although part of these gains were lost when profit-taking developed, net advances of $4 to $6 a share or more were numerous among such stocks as Brooklyn Edison, Otis Steel, National Lead, American Republics, Lehigh Valley, "Boo" Lines and Stromberg Carburetor.

Coincident with the establishment of a new record for a stock exchange seat arrangement for the sale of another was made at the previous peak price of $295,000. Announcement of the purchaser's names will be made next Thursday.

At the new high evaluation the 1100 memberships in the Stock Exchange are given an aggregate value of $330,000,000, an increase of $143,000,000 since the first of the year, when seats were quoted around $170,000 each. As late as 1924 seats sold as low as $76,000.

The sharp appreciation in the value of the Stock Exchange membership has been attributed to the enormous increase in the value of stocks listed, as well as in the volume of trading. The recent promulgation of new rules for the listing of certificates of deposit for stocks of foreign corporations has given the value of seats added impetus in the past month or so.

GIOVANNA'S BETROTHAL NEWS NEAR

Return of Sofia Diplomat from Rome Believed to Mean Early Heralding

SOFIA (Bulgaria) Nov. 23. (AP)—A prominent diplomat returning from Rome today is authority for the statement that the engagement of Princess Giovanna, third daughter of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, and King Boris of Bulgaria is expected to be announced before June, next.

Only one point remains to bet settled. Giovanna, who is a Roman Catholic, must be converted to the Orthodox Greek religion of Bulgaria, which requires the assent, tacit at least, of the Vatican.

Two interesting points arise with respect to such a union. Premier Mussolini of Italy is desirous of establishing a firm link with Bulgaria by a royal marriage, in order to offset Jugo-Slavia's avowed hostility toward Italy. The Holy See, on its part, is eager to retrieve its lost temporal power, at least over an area continguous to the Vatican, and Mussolini has a great ambition to achieve settlement of the age-long "Roman question."

It therefore is considered possible that some arrangement can be entered into looking to conciliation and the settlement of these important points.

COOLIDGE TALKS TO NATION

Thanksgiving Message Broadcast by President; Blessings of Year Summed Up

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—The radio was placed at the command of President Coolidge tonight for a personal appeal to the people to give thanks for another year of peace and domestic contentment. On the eve of another anniversary of the first Thanksgiving by a handful of colonists more than 300 years ago, a hookup of a score of radio stations was arranged to bring for the first time in history to millions of people the words of a President reading his Thanksgiving Day proclamation asking for a continuation of divine favor.

Whereas the first observance in New England in the seventeenth century found the very cradle of American civilization surrounded by hostile savages and wilderness, tonight's ceremony beheld the President of the new nation letting his voice carry to a civilized people from coast to coast over the cities and farms which have arisen from the forests, and even possibly abroad where the still-young republic has assumed a commanding influence.

REMINDED OF BLESSINGS

Reminding the nation that fields and factories have yielded abundantly during the year, Mr. Coolidge's proclamation declared that with these has come a more profound knowledge of the higher values of life.

"There has been advancement in our physical well-being," the proclamation said. "We have increased our desire for the things that administer to the mind and to the soul. We have raised the mental and moral standards of life.

"We have had the blessings of peace and honorable and friendly relations with our sister nations throughout the world. Disasters visiting certain of our States have touched the heart of a sympathetic nation which has responded generously out of its abundance. In continuing to remember those in affliction we should rejoice in our ability to give them relief."

DAY TO BE QUIET

The program of which the address by the President was the principal part was the signal for a day of prayer and thanksgiving over the country tomorrow. Leading the rest of the nation, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will attend morning services of the First Congregational Church in Keith's Theater, the congregation being required to use other buildings for its exercises while its own structure is being repaired. Upon returning from the services the President will be serenaded by the Army Band with music appropriate for the occasion, the public having been invited to the White House grounds for this ceremony.

Miraculous Rescue from Narrow Water Hole 250 Feet Deep Effected

STRATHMORE, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—A miraculous rescue was effected on the E. B. Shoemaker ranch north of Strathmore this afternoon when the 5-year-old daughter of a family of orange pickers was drawn by a rope, practically unhurt, from a narrow 225-foot water hole, into which she had fallen accidentally. Water stood at 175 feet. When the child was but a few feet from the top, the rope broke, letting her fall into the water again.

She owec her life to presence of mind, which enabled her to follow instructions from men gathered at the top of the hole, fastening the rope about her feet and being drawn up feet first to safety.

The child is believed to have pushed the cap of the well at play, falling in. Workmen missing her went to the well and heard her cries for help. They were unable to render assistance until the rope was procured from Strathmore.

Prayers Aimed at Prayer Book

LONDON, Nov. 23. (AP)—About 1000 clergymen from various parts of the British Isles, with bowed heads, today registered a protest against the recently revised Book of Common Prayer of the Church of England while Right Rev. Edmund Arbuthnott Knox, former Bishop of Manchester, pronounced a benediction.

Dr. Knox, who is 80 years of age, was too infirm to make a speech, but he prayed that the Almighty will "not send our beloved church back into the iniquities from which it was delivered by the Reformation."

JACK FROST STAYING ON AT BAY CITY

Coldest Day Reported and Freezing Weather Holds Many Points Over State

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—With the official government thermometer at 46 deg. San Francisco today experienced its coldest day of the season. The minimum was recorded at 8 a.m. and was accompanied by frost. In the low places, where no government thermometer is located, there was ice on pools of water again. The cold wave, the Weather Bureau forecasts, will continue tomorrow, Thanksgiving Day, with a possibility of a new low in sight.

Freezing temperatures continued to hold Northern and Central California points in their grip. Readings of 32 deg. or lower are reported today from Chico, Colusa, Lindsay, Merced, Modesto, Orland, Red Bluff, Santa Rosa and Stockton. At Reno, Nev., it was 22 deg. and similar figures maintained through the Sierras.

Heavy frost visited interior points and Maj. E. H. Bowie of the Weather Bureau said the first heavy snow of the season fell in the Sierras. No crop damage is reported as the cold snap has been anticipated.

Heat on Holiday Eve Sets Mark for New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Instead of the crisp, cold weather of the Pilgrim Fathers' Thanksgiving, New York today experienced the warmest Thanksgiving eve in the annals of the Weather Bureau.

Heavy coats were discarded as the official thermometer touched 70 deg. at 1 o'clock, topping by 1 deg. the previous high record made in 1913. Tomorrow's prediction reads, "fair and colder."

PRIEST AND THREE OTHERS PUT TO DEATH IN MEXICO

Quartet Executed by Firing Squad for Attempt to Kill Obregon; Clergyman Calm to End

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 23. (AP)—Four men were marched out to their death today within the walls of the Mexico City prison. They were executed for the recent attempt against the life of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, former President of the republic and now sole remaining Presidential candidate. The first to face the firing squad was Miguel Agustin Projuarez, described as a Roman Catholic priest. He met his fate calmly, kneeling with clasped hands for a brief prayer, then standing and extending his arms in blessing. He crumpled over as the bullets passed through his body.

A moment later the second man, Luis Segura Vilchis, an electrical engineer, was led from his cell. He walked across the courtyard with steady step, glanced with firm, set face at the body of the priest but said no word. When he reached the wall he turned and faced the squad, gazing straight at his executioners and fell before their bullets without a sound.

In their cells the two others could hear the volley of rifle fire and the shot of the sergeant's pistol, which told of the fate they were to meet within a few minutes.

Outside a crowd of several thousand had gathered. They peered through the iron grating of the great gates; some even attempted to scale the wall, but unsuccessfully. The people could not see the executions, but they massed around the entrances silently listening for the shots that told them of the grim happenings hidden from their vision.

PRIEST'S BROTHER THIRD

Humberto Projuarez, brother of the priest, was third. Also with unfaltering step he crossed the courtyard, walking past the two bodies. He restrained what must have been extreme emotion; his face was pale but composed. Without uttering a word he looked into the rifles and fell bullet-riddled beside the others and received the coup de grace.

Last came Juan Tirado. For ten or fifteen minutes he had been in his cell hearing the shots that ended his companions' lives; then he was led to the wall. Tirado seemed weak from wounds which he had received at the time of the attempt against Obregon. He was very pale but his face was resolute. He crossed the fatal courtyard with strides less firm than his predecessors. He wore a blood-stained cloak, once the property of Lamberto Ruiz, another occupant of the murder car, who was killed by Obregon's companions in the pursuit following the attempted assassination.

WANTS TO SEE MOTHER

Tirado shuddered as he went forward, glancing with a shifty eye at the three bodies on the ground.

"I wish I could see my mother and say good-by to her," he said. Then a volley crashed and echoed through the courtyard and Tirado's body lurched and fell. The sergeant gave Tirado the coup de grace in the right side of the head, but the body still moved; then the sergeant shot him through the opposite side of the head. Six other bullets already had passed through his body.

It previously had been reported that Tirado had died from his wounds in prison.

According to the police, all the men confessed to their guilt in the Obregon attempt. The four bodies immediately were carried by squads of police from the courtyard to the street and placed in waiting ambulances. The curious crowds surging around had an excellent view of them. They were then taken to a military hospital and will be handed over to relatives.

IGNORANT OF FATE

The four condemned men breakfasted together in the priest's dungeon in ignorance of their fate. Meanwhile a summary court-martial had decided they must die. For breakfast they had eggs fried in Mexican style, with red and green peppers, plenty of strong black coffee and had smoked a cigarette.

Then officials told them. The terrible, but not unexpected tidings were received in silence, and the men were left alone together to write farewell messages.

The priest's last act, although not

JOCKEY CLUB BAN ASKED

New Blow Aimed at Racing

Kentucky Attorney-General Files Suit to End Track Gambling

Attack Follows Defeat of Democratic Candidate, Foe of Betting

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Atty.-Gen. Daugherty today instituted suit in the Jefferson Circuit Court in behalf of the State of Kentucky for dissolution of the Kentucky Jockey Club and for forfeiture of its franchise, asserting that a further continuance of the club as a corporation is detrimental to the interests and welfare of the commonwealth.

The petition came close on the heels of a bitter gubernatorial campaign in which J. C. W. Beckham, Democrat, had asserted that if elected he would work toward repeal of the State law permitting the club to operate the pari-mutuel betting system.

REPUBLICAN WINS

He was defeated by Judge Sampson, Republican, who held that the matter was not an issue in the campaign.

Sampson got a majority of approximately 40,000. One of Beckham's supporters, Circuit Court Judge Thurman, in public speeches accused the jockey club of spending thousands of dollars to defeat Beckham, but this was denied vigorously by club officials.

The petition states that the jockey club is a corporation with a capital stock of $4,000,000, engaged in operation of race tracks at Louisville, Lexington and Latonia, and that in March, 1926, it acquired and began to operate a track in Chicago. In connection with the race tracks, it is asserted the jockey club set up and operated gambling devices, commony referred to as pari-mutuels.

VIOLATION CHARGED

The petition asserts that the sale of tickets in connection with the pari-mutuel machines is a lottery and in violation of Section 236 of the Kentucky constitution and a violation of the Federal laws.

It adds that in connection with the betting the club has created and maintained a monopoly on race track gambling and in order to defeat the repeal of any bills presented to the Legislature has engaged lobbyists to attend every session, and furnished large sums to debauch and control members of the Legislature.

It further is stated in the suit that the Kentucky Jockey Club has employed persons for the purpose of controlling the election of governors and members of the Legislature and has taken an active part in the elections."

BOYS LOSE: NOTHING TO TEN

Eight Stanford and Two Menlo Students Try Wits Against Turkeys, But Birds Squawk Too Loud

REDWOOD CITY, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Turkey hunting might have been profitable for the Puritans but eight Stanford University students tried it and landed in jail. With the Stanford men were two students of the Menlo School for Boys.

Perhaps the turkeys did not care to leave their comfortable home on the farm of Edward Schroeder, which is a few miles west of the university. At any rate they set up a terrific squawking when visited and succeeded in frustrating the well-laid plans of the ten young men to feast on "borrowed" turkey Thanksgiving.

STUDENTS RELEASED

Although the raid occurred late Tuesday night it remained unheralded until today. The Stanford men are at liberty on their own recognizance. Special Officer Prebe, who attempts to watch over the male personnel of Stanford's campus, promised that they will appear before Justice of the Peace McAuliffe later.

However, the Menlo youths lacked outside help when it came to getting out of jail. So, for several hours they languished in a cell, pondering on the Thanksgiving dinner they might not get, except from a prison guard.

Lately there has been an epidemic of turkey raids on the poultry farms in the vicinity of Stanford. The Schroeder ranch has suffered at least twice. Consequently, when Schroeder was awakened Tuesday night by the maddened chatter among his feathered flock he wasted no time in telephoning for Sheriff McGrath.

POSSE ARRIVES SPEEDILY

Llewellyn Forrest, San Francisco; Douglas Lewis, Menlo Park; Edward Post, Palo Alto; Jack Stewart and Thomas G. Murphy, Los Angeles; Dean Torrence, Palo Alto; Gordon Griffiths, Stanford, and George Thompson, Pasadena. All are members of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity with the exception of Griffiths and Thompson, the latter being an Alpha Delta Phi.

NEW EXPANSION IN AIR FORETOLD

Gen. Patrick Gives Views on Eve of Retirement

Confidence Expressed as to Recognition of Need

Tribute Paid to Efficiency of Army Aviation Forces

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—The belief that further expansion of the Army Air Corps will be recognized as necessary, even before the present five-year increase program is completed, is expressed by Maj.-Gen. Mason M. Patrick, air chief of the Army, in his sixth and last annual report. He retires for age December 13, next.

"During this six-year period I am satisfied that there has been a gratifying and progressively better understanding on the part of other branches of the role aircraft will play in time of war," Gen. Patrick says. "Likewise, there is a clearer conception on the part of the Air Corps personnel as to the way they must co-operate with ground troops.

IMPROVEMENT IN CRAFT

"Six years ago there were practically none but war-built planes or planes constructed according to wartime designs. During this period there has been a great improvement in aircraft and aircraft engines. This has been the result of intensive and intelligent work on the part of manufacturers closely co-operating with the Air Corps engineering division.

"The adoption of the five-year program and the gratifying certainty that it will be carried into effect is a noteworthy step in advance. This assures to the Air Corps within a reasonable time equipment of the most modern design and construction.

FURTHER INCREASE

"It is believed that by or before the time when this five-year program is completed, it will be recognized that a further increase of air strength will be necessary and fully warranted by the part which aircraft will play in warfare."

Gen. Patrick concludes his report with a tribute to the loyalty and efficiency of the Air Corps throughout his administration and to "those of other branches (of the Army) who, as they have studied the matter realized the effect which this new arm would have upon strategy and the battle tactics of the future."

Aside from this personal aspect, the report is devoted to an outline of the work of the year in various Air Corps activities and contains no specific recommendations for the coming year.

GODIVA TO RIDE, SHANKS MARE

In Other Words, She'll Walk At Arts Ball As Committee Rules Out Horse

CHICAGO, Nov 23 (AP)—Lady Godiva will not ride at the Arts Ball Friday night. She will appear on foot.

After a fortnight's pro and con the entertainment committee has decided that a horse in a machine age would be somewhat ridiculous, even though it followed the legend of the lady who rode through Coventry draped only in her long flowing hair.

The pageant is supposed to present life in 2000 A.D., and the committee seems to think that by that time horses will be extinct.

GOODYEAR SUIT ASKS MILLIONS

Payment of $16,000,000 by Company Demanded

Stockholders' Representative Files Action in Ohio

Dividends Wanted Before Any Further Stock Deals

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23. (AP)—Kent P. Johnson, minority stockholder, today filed suit in Common Pleas Court here seeking to compel the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company to pay 5000 stockholders $16,000,000 in dividends on preferred stock, accrued in the last five years.

Nineteen directors of the company are named defendants and the court is asked to restrain them from making any issues of capital stock, which might have prior dividend rights over the original stock, and from using $60,000,000 in 8 per cent gold mortgage bonds, and $100,000,000 worth of preferred stock for the payment of dividends declared on the original issue.

DIRECTORS ACCUSED

The petition asserts the directors sought illegally to invalidate the original stock August 8, last, when they authorized issuance of the bonds and preferred stock.

The court is also asked to compel the directors to pay back all moneys so far paid out from funds derived from the new issue of preferred stock, and to set aside action of the board of directors in creating the new issue.

Directors of the company are asserted to have mailed out a false circular to stockholders setting forth purposes of the new issue, and threatening stockholders with curtailment of their future rights, unless they approved the new issues of $160,000,000.

OTHER CHARGES

It is asserted that directors violated the law when they made the new issue in that they did not have assets over and above liabilities sufficient to cover it. It also is charged it was illegal for the directors to issue new stock with priority rights over the old.

The petition further asserts that stockholders were deceived as to the real purpose of the issue and were not aware that the new issue would require stockholders to surrender their original stock certificates and to forfeit $18,000,000 in back dividends due them. It also is asserted that common stock of the company is prejudiced by the new issue, which is unnecessary since the company has $55,000,000 in its treasury at the present time.

BACKER SCORES GILES BY WIRE

Giles was quoted then as declaring that his plane had been tampered with before the take-off and that most of his gasoline had been drained.

Officials of the Ford airport, where the take-off was made, and Aubrey Hess, builder of the plane, who groomed it for the flight, issued indignant denials, and Giles later, in Chicago, retracted the statement.

MORE DELAYS

Giles's biplane was shipped back to Detroit and there ensued another month's delay before it was repaired.

Rosenwarne then decided on a program of short hops to the Pacific Coast and the flyer finally got away October 5, his first stop being made at Chicago. From then on dispatches indicated a jagged flight replete with mishaps. There was a stop at Davenport, Iowa, and another at Iowa City when he was forced down by rains. He stopped overnight in Cheyenne, Wyo., and crashed in Elko, Nev.

The plane had to be shipped to San Francisco from there and a month was spent in getting a new wing from Detroit and putting it on the disabled plane at Mills Field, San Francisco. The ship was finally made ready then, and inclement weather held Giles up several days.

The "big hop" ostensibly in the first leg of a journey to Wellington, N. Z., was made yesterday, but like the others, ended in mishap.

WEATHER BUREAU EXPERTS DOUBT STORY OF GILES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. (AP)—United States Weather Bureau officials here, including Maj. E. H. Bowie and T. R. Reed, forecasters, went on record today branding as "simply impossible" and "not reasonable" the "storm" story recited by Capt. Frederick A. Giles, British aviator, after he landed safely near San Simeon, Cal., yesterday instead of completing his flight from San Francisco to Hawaii.

The captain's biplane, Wanda, was damaged. He told a story of the plane having been flipped upside down 480 miles out from San Francisco, his charts, food, instruments and fares dumped into the sea and of his dash for the California shore with damaged wing braces.

Maj. Bowie declared today that eleven ships on or near the great circle along which the captain was to fly reported perfect weather conditions and that the storm Giles said he encountered was "simply impossible."

DECLINED FORECAST

The major declared further that the bureau declined to give Capt. Giles a forecast Tuesday because it felt Giles and his flight manager, Capt. A. T. Peterson, were not inclined to "play ball with us." He said the bureau would not jeopardize its reputation on an "expedition" that acted contrary to forecasts.

Reed said that "if Capt. Giles had waited twenty years he couldn't have had better weather between San Francisco and Hawaii than he did Tuesday.

"We had eleven ships directly on or within close proximity to the great circle. Every one of them gave us detailed reports on weather conditions and we had the entire course charted, showing that there was no semblance of any atmospheric disturbance.

"The Weather Bureau does not want to get into a controversy with Capt. Giles over his flying ability, but a sanatorium is the only place for an aviator who couldn't fly safely through the weather prevailing at sea yesterday.

QUIZZED ON EXPERIENCE

"Capt. Giles was in the office here on several occasions and, having been an aviator myself and knowing the difficulties ahead of one who attempted to make a long ocean flight, I asked him what experience he had had in night flying. I could never learn, though, if the captain had ever flown at night. That point is mighty important when one attempts a flight between here and Hawaii. Those who have tried it will tell you that."

Reed corroborated Maj. Bowie's statement that the Weather Bureau declined to make an airways forecast for Capt. Giles after the aviator and Capt. Peterson apparently would "not play ball" in the matter of heeding forecasts. Reed said that Giles tried to make a flight last Saturday after he had been advised weather conditions over the Pacific were bad and failed to fly on occasions when the reports were good.

Harry E. McConaughey, vice-president of the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, the concern that sponsored the Dole flight last August between Oakland and Hawaii, and chairman of the committee handling arrangements for the affair, declared today he felt Capt. Giles should not attempt his Pacific flight.

"Because of his lack of equipment and experience I do not think he should go," McConaughey said. He denied a report that he would attempt to start action to prevent the airman again attempting the flight.

GILES REPLIES

Capt. Giles arrived here tonight from San Simeon and, despite the contention of weather officials, reiterated his assertion that "foul weather" upset and damaged his biplane 480 miles west of San Francisco on Tuesday, forcing him to speed back to a safe landing in San Luis Obispo county.

In an interview with the Associated Press Capt. Giles said:

"I can't understand all this controversy over my accident. In the first place I never described the foul weather conditions encountered at sea as a storm in the sense one usually refers to a storm. The air conditions that caused my plane to upset would not be observed by ships nor could they be charged on any weather map. I did not fall in a squall.

"You can quote me as saying that as a foreigner to this country I am thoroughly disgusted with the action of local Weather Bureau officials, who today took advantage of my absence from San Francisco by issuing statements in which they declared that the atmospheric conditions that forced me back were 'simply impossible.'"

"CLOUDS WERE THERE"

In reply to Maj. Bowie and Reed, Giles declared:

"Didn't the report given by the steamer Manoa, which I was supposed to sight before noon Tuesday state that there were low-hanging clouds over the vessel? The clouds were there. I did not sight the Manoa. There were clouds beneath me at the time I figured I should be passing her and at that time I was about 3000 feet high.

"At the time of my bump I was flying at about 1000 feet. I was between two layers of clouds and at times it was misty. I suddenly felt the ship drop straight down. I had no control of her. I passed through the low strata of clouds hanging desperately on to the stick. Charts, food and other loose articles in the cockpit were falling out. The engine sputtered. All I could think about was to hang on to something so I hung on to the stick.

"Just as I pulled out below the clouds I saw the sea beneath me and then the plane completed the loop. I had throttled the engine down during the fall and now the motor started to pick up.

WISHED FOR RAFT

"If I had had a life raft aboard I would have set the ship down on the water and taken to the raft. I saw that the shifted gasoline load in the main tank had broken the braces and my only thought then was to get to land. I pulled the dump valve on the main tank and let out the gasoline. I still had my upper wing tanks or as near as I could figure about ninety gallons of gas to fly on.

"The magnetic compass was not damaged in the fall but I was not certain whether it had been thrown off in flying upside down. The best I could do was to guess in which direction the mainland lay and head in that direction.

"I had strong tail winds behind me which boosted me along, increasing my speed to between 140 and 150 miles an hour as near as I could judge.

"When I finally reached land I flew north along the coast looking for a place to set her down. There was nothing in sight. The coast seemed to be all of volcanic or rough formation, so I turned about and flew south until I saw a level spot where I landed. A garage man of the ranch came down to the plane and took me up to the ranch house.

WENT TO BED

"There I went right to bed. If anyone had given me a plane to fly then I wouldn't have touched it.

"I guess I must have had about ten gallons left in the ship when I landed."

Capt. Giles declared tonight that, though he did not know the exact number of flying hours he had to his credit, he would estimate it to be between 3000 and 4000 hours. He is quoted as saying that during the World War he was a member of the British Royal Air Force and credited with downing several enemy planes and balloons.

HONOLULU OFFICIALS SAY GILES ASKED NO ASSISTANCE

HONOLULU, Nov. 23. (AP)—It was ascertained here today that Capt. Frederick A. Giles, whose attempts to fly to New Zealand from San Francisco by way of Hawaii, have met with so many delays, has never requested the co-operation of either the Army or the Navy here in connection with arrangements for landing in the islands. He had planned to land at Wheeler Field, he said.

VISITOR LAUDS SUNSHINE

Californians Do Not Appreciate Weather, He Says; Defends Climate of England

BY PHILIP HEWITT-MYRING

During the seven weeks that have elapsed since I arrived in the United States, I have experienced but five rainy days. One of them occurred during the week I spent in New York, three during the month I spent at Los Angeles; and there has been one since I came to San Francisco.

This record would not appear very remarkable to an American—and certainly not to a Californian—but to an Englishman it seems very singular, indeed. There have been English summers that I can remember when there were not more than five rainy days in any seven consecutive weeks, but they have been exceptional; and when I consider that it was on October 1 that I landed in New York, I can hardly believe that I have not made some mistake in my reckoning.

PHILIP HEWITT-MYRING

Yet the English weather is not quite so black as it is sometimes painted. It is a curious and rather misleading practice of many English people to take a malicious pleasure in disparaging their own institutions.

"FINEST IN WORLD"

An American will tell you with perfect sincerity that his State is the "finest in the world." An Englishman will feel just the same about his own land; but the most he will say on the subject is that "it's not a bad little place." And when it comes to some topic about which he is mildly unenthusiastic he will refer to it in terms of exaggerated severity.

So it is with the English climate, and an American who has heard the abuse that is showered on it by Englishmen themselves and has himself traveled for a rainy week or two in England, may well be pardoned if he regards our weather as compounded solely of rain and mist and fog.

As a matter of fact, the average annual rainfall of London exceeds that of San Francisco by only three inches, and it is considerably less than of New York, and indeed most of the other large cities in America.

The difference is that while in most American districts it rains hard while it is about it and then clears up for perhaps weeks on end, in London and England generally, little driblets of rain continue day after day, even in summer; and while they do not total a large annual quantity of rainfall, they do add an uncertainty to life that makes things difficult for a nation as fond of outdoor activities as are the English.

It is true that these constant showers are almost unregarded. Social life in England is planned on the assumption that no such thing as bad weather exists. If a royal garden party or the Ascot races are spoiled by rain—well, it's a pity, but it probably won't happen again next year. And very often, of course, it doesn't.

And it has to rain pretty hard to spoil such functions as those I have mentioned. Umbrellas and raincoats will do a lot to enable a nation that loves fresh air to "carry on" even in the most trying circumstances.

Besides, the English climate carries its own compensations. Only very rarely is it unpleasantly hot; scarcely less rarely is it disagreeably cold—which means that a man can work hard and (if he prepared to brave occasional showers) play hard all the year round with as little discomfort from the weather as he can well demand in an imperfect world. And, after all, if it were not for the showers, England would not be the gloriously green and flowery land that she is.

BRIGHT SKIES WELCOME

But I admit that I find the continual sunshine and bright skies that you have out here infinitely welcome after English grayness; and it may be for this reason that I do not think that you yourselves properly appreciate them.

I say this because, wherever I go in private homes, shops or hotels, I see the sun excluded and the electric light switched on. I suppose it is because you get so much of it during the long summers that you seem to regard the sun as almost an enemy, when it is—as medical researches in America as well as England during the last few years have proved beyond all question—the very mainspring of life. I have not indeed seen anywhere in California that practical use of the climate that one would expect.

In England, women go about in the thinnest clothing in unfriendly weather. Probably they—and the men, too—somewhat overdo the fresh air business and would be more healthy if they wrapped up a bit more and kept out a few more draughts from their homes. But I am perfectly sure that the California women who wear thick stuff, or even fur coats on days when sunlight is flooding the streets, are committing a more serious error; and that shrouded windows and electric lights indoors are no sort of substitutes for God's own sunshine.

HEARST CHARGE BRANDED "LIE"

Dr. Gruening Hurls Denial of Being Calles Agent

British Mine Strike Study Called Imagination

"Redress" Will be Sought for "Malicious Falsehood"

NEW YORK, Nov 23. (AP)—Dr. Ernest H. Gruening, an American writer on social subjects, in a telegram to the Associated Press from Portland, Me., denied statements published in Hearst newspapers today that he was authorized last year by President Calles of Mexico to study the situation in England in regard to the coal strike of 1926, and that Calles ordered a pay warrant for $10,000 drawn in Gruening's favor.

Dr. Gruening's telegram said:

"So-called exposure relating to Mexico which has been appearing in the Hearst newspapers, in the course of which, in the issue of the 23rd inst., I am portrayed as being authorized by President Calles to study the situation in regard to the British miners' coal strike in 1926, preliminary to President Calles sending, as the Hearst papers allege, $100,000 to the striking coal miners, for which mission, the Hearst expose further alleges, I received $10,000 from President Calles, is an absolute and outrageous lie."

REDRESS SOUGHT

Terming the photostat of the document which purported to be a warrant ordering the Mexican Treasury-General to pay him $10,000 "obviously a forgery," Dr. Gruening said he never discussed the British coal strike with President Calles; that he never was authorized by Calles to go on "this or any other mission;" that he never received a cent of money "directly or indirectly" from Calles; that he was not in England in 1926 and that he was not in Mexico on the date that the alleged order was issued.

Dr. Gruening's message said that he is "taking the necessary legal steps to secure redress."

When Dr. Gruening's message was called to the attention of officials of the New York American, they said that at no point in the article was it stated that Dr. Gruening had received the money or had been in England.

FALLACY SHOWN

"How unlikely it is that if President Calles were sending anyone on a mission so secret that it was to be charged 'to secret expenditure,'" Dr. Gruening's telegram continued, "his letter calling for this payment would likewise give in full detail the purpose of the expenditure. Such a letter could have been conceived only in the imagination of the forger and the yellow journalist working in unison.

"It would have been a simple matter for the Hearst papers to have checked up on the facts. The most elementary regard for the first principles of journalism or any real desire to serve the truth rather than to serve up a sensation, required such checking up. But I have not even been approached by any Hearst representative.

"So while repeating that the material published is utterly and maliciously false, I am taking the necessary legal steps to secure redress.

other Thanksgiving delicacies have arrived at the White House, where the President and Mrs. Coolidge will have as dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, their house guests. John Coolidge will not be home, as Amherst College, which he attends, has declared only the one-day holiday.

At the White House the balance of the day will be spent quietly as all business will be suspended at the executive offices along with all other government departments. As soon as the holiday is over the usual quota of officials and army and navy officers will make an exodus from the capital to attend the Army-Navy football game in New York Saturday.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 23. (AP)—Acting Foreign Minister Estrada gave a luncheon at the Foreign Office today in honor of the American Ambassador and Mrs. Dwight W. While this was a usual diplomatic courtesy, it is nevertheless construed by observers as further evidence of the Mexican government's cordial feeling toward Ambassador Morrow.

ENDURANCE PLANE TEST ARRANGED

San Francisco "Chronicle" Sponsors Flight by Huge Fokker on Next Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—An attempt to shatter the present record for sustained flight by an airplane will be made within the next several days, next Sunday, if weather permits, by the three-motored Fokker monoplane Southern Cross. Announcement of the attempt is made tonight in the columns of the San Francisco Chronicle simultaneously with a notice that the Chronicle will sponsor the endurance test. The monoplane has been rechristened the Spirit of California for the purposes of the flight, it is announced.

The present record is held by Cornelius Edsard and Johann Risticz, German flyers, who remained aloft for 52h. 22m. 8s. last August. It is hoped to keep the Fokker in the air for fifty-six hours.

The Southern Cross, or Spirit of California, is making the endurance flight as a preliminary to an attempt to fly from the Golden Gate to Australia by way of Honolulu. On the success of the time cruise will rest the approximate time at which the Antipodean air journey will be launched.

FOUR EXECUTED IN MEXICO PLOT

witnessed by any person now alive, was, according to the guards who heard what was said within the underground cell, to administer the final rites of the church to his doomed companions, and attempt to cheer and hearten them.

Then, saying "Good-by, my brother, good-by, my sons," he stepped out into the courtyard, pulled his old sweater close around him against the biting cold and prayed his God to forgive his executioners, and died.

TELLS HIS BEADS

As he turned his back to the wall and confronted the soldiers with their rifles ready, he reached into his trousers' pockets—an old wrinkled brown suit, not the robes of his church—drew forth a rosary and crucifix and knelt and told his beads and raised his clasped hand to heaven and prayed.

This was by consent of the commanding officer, who withdrew a few paces while the priest performed his last earthly devotions. When he arose from prayer, he kissed the crucifix and extended his arms to each side in the form of a cross, and, addressing the firing squad, whose leveled rifles pointed at his breast, he cried: "May God have mercy on you all!"

Standing there with closed eyes and outstretched arms, communing with his last breath into that eternity which in another moment he would know, he must have heard the commands: "Ready, aim, fire." But he gave not the slightest sign, nor flinched in the least. Only death lowered the cross-like arms and felled the frail form of the little man in shabby civilian dress, who was talking to his Creator.

The squad fired as one, and the priest, still clutching the rosary and crucifix, stumped to the ground, twisting in the death throes. A sergeant of the squad came up to his body and placed his pistol at the back of the head and fired, giving the coup de grace.

When the four bodies were taken from the prison grounds they were taken past Gen. Obregon's dead body in an automobile, the car in which former President was riding at the attempt at assassination which these men were executed for making.

The priest's sister was present and attempted to throw herself upon the bodies of her brothers, then sought, unsuccessfully at the time, to climb into the ambulance beside them. Hysterics strained her and she was taken away to receive medical attention.

HOOVER SIGHTS GOOD BUSINESS

Secretary Sees No Sign of Future Slump

Gives Lengthy Interview to Wall Street Journal

Rivals Wonder How He Has Time for Speeches

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Republican rivals of Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, are wondering how he has time to make so many addresses and take so much time on various important government matters. Last Monday he was in St. Louis. The next morning he was in Chicago. The following morning he was in Vermont to line up plans for flood relief in that devastated portion of New England. In a few days more he will go south into the Mississippi River section for a further study of the rehabilitation of the flood-ravished south.

In between times he has a chance to tell his Iowa neighbors how he lived as a boy on an Iowa farm and how he went on to California and success. Now he has been asked by a writer for the Wall Street Journal if financial panics are ended in the United States. In his answer he shows as much caution as Coolidge and as much financial wisdom as Mellon and puts his own impressions on modern conditions of business and commerce in the United States and forecasts what may happen in the future business world of this country.

WHAT HOOVER SAYS

The Journal quotes Secretary Hoover thus:

"I asked Secretary Hoover whether in the view of the Department of Commerce the busines cycle has been abolished. In other words, will we have a periodic repetition of old-fashioned 'hard times?' He replied that up-to-date economic prophets have not justified their having much repute either abroad or at home, 'so I do not join them,' he added, and continued:

"'I can say that I believe that the profound forces which have been in motion in the whole business world, particularly during the past fifteen years, are making for greater stability and have, in my view, greatly mitigated the violence of the business cycle.

"'It seems impossible that the old terror-stricken panic can ever return and I fervently hope that those periodic stretches of heart-breaking unemployment, back-breaking prices to farmers, bankruptcies to business men through no fault of their own, are on their way to history if we only continue wise.

GUARANTEE AGAINST PANICS

"'Many factors contribute to this hope. The Federal Reserve system has already proved its ability to guarantee against money panics. It gives a large measure of assurance of a continuous flow of credit. Business concerns have today larger working capitals of their own, i.e., less proportion of inventories carried on bank loans. All this contributes to freedom from interruption of production and distribution through accidental or artificial restriction of credit.

"'One of the supposed broader causes of the business cycle was that in the rise from a slump, increased employment brought larger savings and profits, that these savings and profits sought employment in expansion of industry which in time brought about expansion and over-production, thence the slump again. One might conceive this to be true if the variety of business was limited and if increased production did not bring about decreased costs and consequent wider consumption. If all savings had to be poured back into expansion of the industries from which they were derived, and if there were no expansion in demand for their products, this would probably be true.

BUSINESS LIGHTHOUSES

"'If, on the other hand, the demand for capital was for new industry such as was recently the case in automobiles, and still is for electrical power and apparatus, foreign loans, better homes, processes of production in old industries, then this mechanistic theory would be less applicable. This is to a great extent taking place. We have an increasing skill in business and technical direction, in scientific discovery and invention due to the enormous spread of education. Thus we have constantly new fields for investments in new products meeting new satisfaction.

"'We have a large growth of co-operative sense in business—an increased feeling of mutual responsibility and an undoubted decrease in wasteful labor conflicts. Our foreign trade has greatly expanded, thus giving a wider base to production and a greater variety and spread of customers. We have shifted our merchandising methods to a great degree from advance orders to hand-to-mouth buying—making for less inventories and thus less hazards in price movements.

"'Finally, we have enormously improved our private and governmental information services as to economic movements. We now have a lot of useful statistical and economic lighthouses by which navigation of business becomes more secure. We also have some new currents in business which I believe are really of minor importance that may work against these stabilizing forces.

"'That all these stabilizing forces amount to abolition of the business cycle no one would say, for some part of that movement is due to the imponderables—politics, international relations, fear, optimism, etc. Certainly we have had an unprecedentedly long period of stability—and the fundamental 'forces of stability are growing. In any event none of the signs point to a slump at the present time.'"

"The Ladder" to be Shown for Nothing, Despite Its Huge Loss Already

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Extra! Genuine chance to see for nothing a long-run Broadway play. Beginning tomorrow night there will be no charge to "The Ladder," which deals with reincarnation.

Theatrical critics estimate that 400 performances already have cost Edgar B. Davis, oil and rubber man, who is backing the play, some $700,000.

MRS. SNYDER DEATH DATE ANNOUNCED

She and Paramour Gray to be Executed in Sing Sing Early in January

ALBANY (N. Y.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder of Queens Village, mother and housewife, and Henry Judd Gray, her paramour, a corset salesman of East Orange, N. J., must pay with their lives some night during the week beginning January 9 for the murder of the woman's husband, Albert Snyder, artist and editor.

The time for the execution in the death chamber at Sing Sing prison was fixed today by the Court of Appeals, which yesterday upheld their conviction in the Superior Court of Queens county last May. Each of the seven judges of the court signed the death warrants which were sent to Warden Lawes of Sing Sing prison.

With today's action by the court the only hope of Mrs. Snyder and Gray is in the clemency of Gov. Smith. This hope, it is believed, is feeble, since the Governor throughout his many years in the executive chamber almost invariably has refused to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment when the decision of the Court of Appeals has been unanimous, as it was in this case.

Theatrical Man Weds Actress

MONTEREY, Nov. 23. (AP)—Sigurd Russell, former head of the Fotbollier Players, Los Angeles, and well known in the Little Theater movement, and Vivian Pierrett, actress with the West Coast Players, Los Angeles, were married by Judge Fraser at Carmel yesterday.

The ceremony was simple, two witnesses, Mrs. Roberta Thudicum and William F. Kyle, being present. The couple did not announce their plans for the future. Russell recently returned from a tour of the United States and Europe.

Sole Massacre Survivor Dead

OAKLAND, Nov. 23. (AP)—Mrs. Martha Simmons, 92 years of age, of Oakland, said to have been the sole survivor of the Webster Party Indian massacre in Texas in 1839, is dead. She leaves two sons and a grandson, all of Oakland.

Mrs. Simmons was a 4-year-old child when she was captured by Comanches. She carried throughout her life the marks of mistreatment at the hands of savages who stripped her clothes from her, tied her on a wild horse and threw her in a river.

LEAGUE CHIEF INVITED TO CUBA CONFERENCE

GENEVA, Nov. 23. (AP)—The secretariat of the League of Nations has been invited to be represented, in an advisory capacity, at the second international emigration conference at Havana, March 31, 1928, by Senor de Blanck, Cuba's permanent delegate to the League, on behalf of his government.

STATE CLOSING CASE ON REMUS

Judge Denies Conspiracy Point Proved

Bootleg King Charges Klug Was Intimidated

Witnesses Trace Auto on Murder Trip

CINCINNATI, Nov. 23. (AP) — The State today virtually completed its case against George Remus excepting for accounting for the forty-five minutes which intervened between the time he shot his wife to death in Eden Park here last October 6 and the minute he surrendered himself to the police.

Remus's whereabouts and association of that period was a missing link in the State's expected determination to prove that when he fired the fatal shot Remus was an actor in a four-cornered conspiracy.

George Klug admitted he drove Remus to the scene of the shooting, that he later went past the home of George Connors and to the home of Blanche Watson.

CONSPIRACY DENIED

Connors was named by a witness as the man he thought he recognized as the driver of the automobile, different from the death car, in which Remus rode to the Pennsylvania Railroad depot, whence he took a taxicab to the police station after the shooting.

Klug, Connors and Miss Watson were named in the State's opening statement as conspirators with Remus. Connors and the woman formerly were secretaries to Remus.

The prosecution today lost a heated and lengthy argument that it had proved Remus was a conspirator and not an insane man.

Judge Chester R. Shook ruled that the record did not record a conspiracy and further reference to one could not be made until the State had proved it existed, either by direct or circumstantial evidence, and that the persons involved acted in furtherance of it.

Through Klug, who early was termed a hostile witness, the prosecution today completed its story of the automobile chase preceding the slaying and Remus's actions at that time.

Klug, a steam fitter who became a chauffeur for Remus and Connors a year ago, testified he picked up the defendant at the Remus home, drove him to the Alms Hotel where Mrs. Remus was staying and then followed the taxicab in which she left.

"DIDN'T SEE KILLING"

Through the ride to the hotel Remus's only instructions were declared to have been "we are going to the Alms Hotel," at the start and "there goes the taxi now," when Mrs. Remus left the hotel to start to divorce court to press her suit against Remus.

Once the pursuit was under way Remus was said to have told Klug to "pass that car and cut it off, I want to talk to my wife."

Klug admitted he made two efforts to halt the taxicab. He denied he witnessed the killing. He said Remus got out and walked back and he lost sight of him. His grand jury testimony introduced as evidence was to the contrary.

"Everything happened to quick I got excited and drove away," testified Klug.

Walter K. Sibbald, assistant prosecutor, asserted that the State will prove that the car which took Remus into the park also took Remus out of the park.

Klug was a reluctant witness. He took refuge many times in "I don't remember that."

CHARGE KLUG INTIMIDATED

Once Remus, who is his own chief of counsel, created a mild sensation by asserting that the reason that Klug answered questions in that manner was because he had been the victim of intimidation in the prosecutor's office.

Judge Shook halted Remus and sent the jury out.

In a long argument the defense contended that Klug had been taken to the prosecutor's office, a watch held on him for five minutes when he refused to confess he drove Remus to the Pennsylvania depot, and then he had been locked up.

Klug at that time was held as a material witness under $10,000 bond. Release from the bond was requested by the defense after adjournment of court today, but Judge Shook refused.

After adjournment until Friday the prosecution indicated it had only four or five more witnesses to introduce to complete its direct evidence.

Willie Better Walk Gingerly

BERKELEY, Nov. 23. (AP)—Eight-year-old Willie Butler's stick of dynamite came to light today.

Willie's big brother, a student in a college of mines, took the stick of dynamite home. Willie thought it was candy and "swiped" it from big brother's desk. As candy the dynamite didn't taste so good. Willie hid it behind the window curtains, fearing parental wrath should he be found with it.

Mrs. Butler found the explosive today while house cleaning. She called the police, fearing a plot to blow up the house. Willie's confession solved the mystery. He is to discuss the matter with Papa Butler.

Tempers at Fever Heat in British Parliament

Reds Lose Navy Quiz Vote in French Chamber

LONDON, Nov. 23. (AP)—Several Laborites were suspended in the House of Commons tonight to the accompaniment of a wild uproar and the hurling of bald Anglo-Saxon epithets, traditionally classed as "unparliamentary."

The business of the House at the time was a discussion in the committee of the whole of the unemployment insurance bill. The trouble began when the Minister of Labor, Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, moved closure on a clause of the bill which had been debated for three hours.

The Laborite back benchers shouted "Gag, gag," and James Maxton, Labor member for Glasgow, demanded that certain manuscript amendments should be discussed. The chairman, James Fitzalan Hope, refused, and Maxton retorted that it was "damned unfair." At this the Laborites cheered vigorously, and the ministerialists angrily protested.

ONE AFTER OTHER

After closure was carried, Chairman Hope called upon Maxton to withdraw his charge of unfairness. The Laborite refused. The Prime Minister moved his suspension, and Maxton quit the House.

The members were greatly excited throughout the incident. After Maxton had gone the Laborite, George Buchanan, also from Glasgow, told the chairman that his ruling was contemptible and unmanly. Buchanan's refusal to withdraw this charge led to his suspension.

No sooner had Buchanan disappeared than a third Laborite, Richard Collingham Wallhead, declared that the chairman's conduct was a "damned outrage" and a misure of the chair's powers.

AT FEVER POINT

Then up spoke Neil Maclean in defense of his colleagues. He charged Chairman Hope with unfair partisanship to the government, and, after further shouting, he followed in the footsteps of the other suspended men.

All the time these incidents were happening, tempers were at a fever point, there were angry shouts, swinging arms and writhing bodies, and above all the row the high-pitched voice of the Laborite, Miss Wilkinson, was heard—"You're a coward, Mr. Hope."

The chairman ignored this, and a little later relinquished the chair to deputy Chairman Captain Fitzroy, and calm was restored.

RED ROWDIES RIOT IN FRENCH CHAMBER

[Copyright, 1927, by Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Communism, redder and rowdier than ever, had its day in the French Chamber of Deputies this evening. It failed to force an investigation of the state of affairs in the navy that gave rise to mutinies on the battle cruiser Ernest Trenan and in the Toulon navy yard, but it succeeded in heaping on the government abuse and threats such as are rarely heard on the floor of any Parliament in the world.

Voting 371 to 180 to quash the demand for a parliamentary investigation, the Deputies for the most part went against the dictates of their conscience, first because Premier Poincare grimly made it a question of confidence, and second because they sensed the grave danger of playing into the hands of the Communists by throwing light on the conditions in the navy just before the elections, in which the Reds are making a bid for a raft of new seats in Parliament, one of the most genuine compliments the Communist party in France ever was paid.

Flying to the support of M. Leygues, Minister of the Navy, who in a high-handed fashion last week informed the commission of government supplies that he would quit before he allowed an investigation of the quality of food and cleanliness in the prisons at Toulon, Premier Poincare quite camily threatened to resign when the issue came to a head in the Chamber today in the form of a demand from the commission of the navy on a 9 to 6 vote, for full powers to investigate.

FRENCH ARMY FREES DOTY

Soldier of Foreign Legion, Recently Pardoned for Desertion, Plans to Hasten Home

PARIS, Nov. 23. (AP)—Bennett J. Doty of Biloxi, Miss., who risked a death sentence by desertion from the Foreign Legion, was free tonight to go to his home in the United States. Instructions for his release from the rest of his five-year enlistment were forwarded to the commandant of the Foreign Legion at Sidi Bel Abbes today.

Doty, who enlisted under the name of Gilbert Flare of Memphis, Tenn., was sent back to the Legion to complete his enlistment when he was pardoned recently after serving part of an eight-year sentence for desertion.

BENNETT J. DOTY

The instructions to the commandant directed the immediate discharge of "Clare." Doty is expected to return to the United States shortly by way of Paris.

The official reason for the departure from military regulations in releasing a Legionaire before his term of enlistment expired is ill health, but a French Ministry of War official privately told the Associated Press the department did not desire to have publicity given the case in the French press, "as it was favoritism shown to an American citizen."

ROCKWELL HELPED

Doty formerly was a student at the University of Virginia, which was also attended by Paul Rockwell, whose brother, Kiffin, was killed in the Vosges region while serving in the Lafayette Escadrille. It is understood that Rockwell was instrumental in obtaining Doty's release.

Doty's mother has been ill for several months. The shock of reports over a year ago that he had been sentenced to death and executed at Damascus injured her health.

Doty apparently made no request for his discharge. He was completely reconciled to completing his enlistment and had expressed himself as desirous of proceeding to Morocco to see some fighting in the Middle Atlas region. He wrote to a friend in Paris from Sidi Bel Abbes recently expressing satisfaction at his release from prison.

EXPECTED TO DIE

Doty fully expected that he would be executed after his arrest in Syria, although he had won several medals for bravery. All precedents pointed to such a course. He resents all publicity given to the affair and says he is desirous to return to "God's country" as soon as possible.

"He is one of the finest soldiers I ever commanded," his captain once told the Associated Press in Syria.

Charles Campbell, Jr., once in the American diplomatic service in Switzerland under Minister Pleasant Stovall, and now a lawyer in Paris, has been reported acting in behalf of Doty.

SWEDISH INVENTION ADDS LIFE TO FILMS

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 26. (AP)—A method for increasing the longevity of motion-picture films has been discovered by Gustav E. Goosa, Stockholm engineer. His impregnation process keeps the film from becoming worn and scratched. Both sides of the celluloid strip are coated with a tanning liquid which not only strengthens the film but brings out the details of the picture with greater clarity.

ENGLAND HOPES FOR NAVY SLASH

Cruisers Held Up Expecting Future Limitations

Lord of Admiralty Explains Move to Commons

Lady Astor in Tilt With Opponent of Plan

LONDON, Nov. 23. (AP)—The British government is reluctant to lay down any more 10,000-ton cruisers at present in the hope that naval limitation may yet be reached, W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty, told the House of Commons today.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons Bridgeman said that a new situation has arisen owing to the fact that although Great Britain's proposals for limitation in the number of large 10,000-ton cruisers had not been agreed to at Geneva, the discussion left the hope that a limitation might be reached.

In these circumstances he added, the British government is reluctant to lay down any more of these cruisers at present.

The questioner, who was Sir William Davison of Kensington, had asked if Mr. Bridgeman would state what were the new facts disclosed in regard to the naval conference which had caused the government to decide it was unnecessary to proceed with laying down two of the three cruisers planned for this year.

Lady Astor chipped in when Mr. Bridgeman was answering a further question by Sir William with the statement that protection of Great Britain's trade routes and food supplies had been taken into consideration in cutting down the naval program. Lady Astor's remark was: "Is anybody attacking the food supplies of this country?"

Piquancy was given to Lady Astor's comment by the fact that she was sitting next to Sir William and there was laughter when she was observed in conversation with him afterward.

Mr. Bridgeman replied that Lady Astor would agree it was necessary to provide in advance for defense.

Suspect Says Beating Caused His Confession

LUVERNE (Ala.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Promises of reward and protection, a threat against the Ku Klux Klan and then beating and cursing caused Shelby Gregory to confess to the flogging of Annie Mae Simmons, negress, the defendant testified at his trial for kidnaping today.

Gregory, accused of kidnaping and flogging the negress, is the first of thirty-three men to be brought to trial by Atty.-Gen. McCall in connection with Crenshaw county's "reign of terror."

The defendant from the witness chair denied being implicated in the asserted flogging and said his confession, admitted in evidence Tuesday, was "induced by browbeating, cursing and promises of reward and protection by the Attorney-General."

Gregory testified that the Attorney-General boasted to him he was "after the Klan."

"I am in this game to get the Ku Klux Klan; they are the boys I am after," he quoted McCall as saying. McCall resigned from the order several months ago.

Steel on Grave Balks Removal of Codys' Bodies

DENVER, Nov. 23. (AP)—Steel bars and concrete have been placed over the caskets of Col. W. F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody and Mrs. Cody to insure that they never will be moved from their resting-place on Lookout Mountain near here.

Under the direction of Johnny Baker, foster son of the frontiersman, the caskets have been encased in steel bars and concrete to a thickness of eight feet on all sides and to a depth of twelve feet from the surface.

"The work forever settles the idle talk about the possible removal of the bodies of Col. Cody and Mrs. Cody from the resting-place they chose," Baker said today. "The work will last forever and is an answer to all persons who might agitate for the removal of the bodies."

SYMPATHY MINE PICKETS ROUTED

Crowd Scatters Small Band in New York

Banners Torn, Fists Fly, and Four Arrested

Rockefeller Denies Part in Colorado Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Several thousand New Yorkers today routed a small band of pickets parading on Lower Broadway with banners denouncing treatment given Colorado coal-mine strikers. The paraders were scattered, some of them being beaten with fists, and the banners were torn from their hands. Four of the band, two women included, were arrested charged with disorderly conduct.

The band, composed of about twenty men and women, had gathered in front of the Standard Oil Building and were greeted immediately with jeers and boos by the thousands of persons who were promenading after lunch. Laborers on near-by construction jobs joined in the fracas.

ROCKEFELLER DENIES CHARGE

About the time the disturbance was under way a statement was being issued from the offices of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in which he declared he neither directly nor indirectly has any connection with the Columbine mine in Northern Colorado, scene of disorders. The statement was occasioned by a charge by David Sheehan of the miners' committee that State police who fired on the striking miners are "hired assassins" of Mr. Rockefeller.

The band of parsders appeared suddenly in front of the oil company's building shortly after noon and soon attracted a crowd by their banners. Some of these read, "We Protest Against the Murder of Colorado Strikers," "Down With Colorado Cossacks," "Rockefeller, You Are Guilty—the Ludlow Massacre and the Denver Massacre," "John D. Rockefeller, Your Gunmen Will Not Break the Solidarity of Labor."

Men and women office workers and others out for lunch started jeering and booing them and finally the police ordered that the pickets disperse. They did so, but re-formed their ranks a short distance down the street, and again started their march toward the Standard Oil Building. The crowd following them steadily grew larger until traffic for two blocks was brought to a standstill.

ONE GRABS BANNER

Finally one man grabbed a banner from one of the paraders and ripped it from his hands to the cheers of thousands. This inspired the others to action and the crowd descended on the pickets, beating many of them with their fists.

Meanwhile, the reserves had been called and after the pickets and the crowds were dispersed bluecoats remained in front of the building for more than half an hour keeping the crowds moving.

The four pickets arrested described themselves as Sophie Marcoles, 25 years of age, a dressmaker, and May Kaplan, 19, a millinery worker. Milton Wich, 20, unemployed, and Julius Fleiss, 28, a furrier. They later were arraigned in Tombs Court. The two men were held under $50 bail each and the women under $25 each for a hearing Friday.

NORTHERN MINES TO REOPEN MONDAY

DENVER, Nov. 23. (AP)—Coal mining companies in Northern Colorado plan to reopen their mines Monday, officials stated today. All of the mines except the Columbine, where five strikers were killed Monday, have been idle since the I.W.W. strike of miners started more than five weeks ago.

National Guard troops now are in complete charge of the district. With headquarters established at the Columbine mine, companies of the soldiers have been stationed at the various other properties.

The strikers have announced they will carry on the strike by peaceable means until they have been granted the Jacksonville wage scale.

The Southern Colorado mines reported increased working forces today and there was no activity on the part of the strikers. I.W.W. leaders at Walsenburg said, however, that a telegram has been sent to the national headquarters of the organization in Chicago, asking for permission to resume mass picketing.

KILLING OF TWO MINERS HELD TO BE "NOT FELONIOUS"

GREELEY (Colo.) Nov. 23. (AP)—The Coroner's jury investigating the deaths of John Eastenes of Lafayette, Colo., and Nick Spandahkis of Erie, delivered a verdict at 6:30 o'clock tonight that the two men were killed at the Columbine mine last Monday by bullets fired by persons unknown, "said deaths being not felonious."

The jury took cognizance of the fact that the shots were fired by members of the Colorado State law-enforcement squad guarding the mine, but made no further effort to identify the officers who fired the shots that killed the two men.

Coroner Howe of Boulder county, who is to conduct an investigation into the deaths of the three other victims of the fight at the Columbine mine, sat with Coroner Weaver of Weld county, when the verdict was announced and said the verdict of this jury will be binding on him.

Three Released in Gun Seizure

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23. (AP)—Three men arrested following the seizure of a shipment of machine-gun parts and ammunition from Albany, Cal., at Kent, O., more than a week ago were released today by police. The discovery of the guns at Kent was the first development in the exposure of an asserted extensive distribution of machine guns from the California city.

The men freed today are Charles L. Hess of Kent, a former Marine Corps gunner, and now a farmer, and Morris Komisare and Martin Fenster of Cleveland. They explained the guns were intended for use in protecting a gambling resort near here.

OREGON PASTOR FINED $100 FOR INTOXICATION

MEDFORD (Or.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Rev. William K. Ray, former pastor of the Methodist Church, South, of this city, pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication on a public highway and was fined $100 and costs yesterday at Ashland. A committee of the church investigated the case and recommended that Mr. Ray be forgiven and transferred to another pulpit. He formerly was chaplain of the Montana State prison.

PORTUGAL FEARS NEW UPRISINGS

Discovery of Many Bomb Plots Leads to Severe Precautionary Measures

[Copyright, 1927, by the New York Times.]

LISBON, Nov. 23 (Exclusive)—During the last few weeks so many anti-governmental bomb and other plots have been discovered that strong precautionary measures are being taken to prevent any revolutionary outbreak, such as occurred last February.

Last week a secret store of fifty bombs was discovered, and on the same day an attempt was made to assassinate Col. Raul Esteves, commander of one of the Portuguese crack regiments by several men who fired on the colonel as he was entering his home and escaped in the darkness.

Several Bolshevist groups also have been discovered working actively in the army. Discoveries have led to the arrest of several corporals and sergeant, and to a considerable rounding up of known revolutionaries, who are being quietly deported to the African colonies.

Conference in Turmoil Over Stand on China

One Leader Warns of Revolt Just Around Corner

MOSCOW, Nov. 23. (AP) — The quarrel between the leaders of the Communist party and members of the opposition, which resulted in the expulsion of Leon Trotzky and Gregory Linovieff, has cropped up again. This time Alexander Rakovsky, former soviet Ambassador to France and a prominent oppositionist, is in the foreground.

During a heated debat at a Moscow Communist party conference, Rakovsky, replying to a query as to what should have been soviet Russia's answer to Peking's "provocative program," cried: "War." His exclamation caused the highest tension among the delegates.

The Peking incident presumably, refers to the action of the soviet embassy in Peking, in seizing various documents, arresting Russians and searching Russian vessels. The Peking government's defense of these actions is that Russians were plotting for the overthrow of the Northern Chinese government.

Nicolai Bucharin, member of the executive committee, after summarizing, asserted overt acts by the opposition in recent months, charged Rakovsky with having attempted to organize strikes at Kharkoff.

"Once we have attempts at street demonstrations as well as the organization of the struggle through a strike, there remains only armed rebellion," Bucharin declared.

After a vigorous speech denouncing the opposition, he concluded by declaring that lately there had appeared on the scene circles and groups dreaming terror and conspiracy. "It seems that it would be useful to show the fist to all these rascals," he said.

INSTALLMENT BURIAL REJECTED

State Corporation Commission Believes System Will Tend to Promotion of Funerals in Effort to Make Them Popular

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. (AP)—A plan by which one may pay for his own funeral on the installment plan was rejected by the California State Corporation Commission today.

The Security Mortuary Corporation sought permission to issue 3000 burial certificates costing the purchaser $30 cash or $36 in twelve monthly installments.

The applicant set forth arguments that the mortuary business has reached such a strain of competition that funeral directors demand exorbitant prices, figure on getting the first payment and then charge off the balance as "bad debts."

Under the certificate plan, the applicant said, a funeral that would retail for $2000 may be had for $671 and the poor man's burial ordinarily costing $175 may be had for $107.25.

The commission denied the permission on the grounds that the plan appeared to be purely promotional and that certain features of the plan were contrary to the State Securities Act.

Deputy Commissioner Ellis handled the investigation. He said similar plans failed in Salt Lake City and Portland, Or.

Pennsylvania Supreme Court Backs Coal Companies

Ejections Based on Lease Signed by Employee

Renters Forced Out After Strike at Mines

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23. (AP)—The State Superior Court today affirmed the action of the Allegheny County Court in deciding in favor of coal companies in eviction cases.

Appeals carried to the high court by striking miners in the Pittsburgh district to prevent eviction from company houses were lost to the miners in three cases decided by the court.

The ejectments followed a strike and were based on leases under which, it is charged, an employee agrees to deliver peaceably the possession of the premises in which he lives to the coal company within five days after being notified of his discharge from the company's employ.

PRESIDENT DRAFT PLAN ABANDONED

Bostonian Will Recall Chain Letters at Wish of Coolidge

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—The plan to draft President Coolidge into candidacy for re-election by means of a series of chain letters was abandoned today by its originator, Philip M. Tucker, Boston banker. He issued a statement requesting that all work on the plan cease immediately.

The idea was entirely his own, he said. Mr. Tucker said his purpose was "to make possible for the great mass of American citizens to speak for Mr. Coolidge as with one voice."

Abandonment of the project was in response to the expressed wish of the President that any petitions favoring his candidacy be discontinued. "In view of the President's wishes," Mr. Tucker said, "it seems best to desist from trying to bring further pressure upon him to run. I trust that all work on my plan will cease immediately."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—While declaring himself to be one of those who hopes that President Coolidge will be a candidate next year, C. C. Hamlin, Republican national committeeman for Colorado, said after a call at the White House today he believes it ridiculous for the impression to be gained that the Republican party must draft a nominee.

Freshman Class Fined for Hazing

GUELPH (Ont.) Nov. 23. (AP)—A fine of $150 was levied upon members of the freshman class of the Ontario Agriculture College today as punishment for the hazing of Edwin Beddoes, an English student who is said to have "squealed" to authorities over a minor matter.

The punishment, which also includes confinement of each member of the freshman class every night in the week except one, was inflicted at a joint meeting of faculty and student bodies.

Beddoes was bundled into a pig crate, dragged through the crowded streets and then was offered for auction to the townsfolk. After he was released he was pelted with tomatoes and other missiles.

French Actress Must Pay Fine

PARIS, Nov. 23 (AP) — Huguette Duflos, one of the most popular of French actresses, today was sentenced to pay 150,000 francs, (approximately $7500) damages to the government-supported Comedie Francaise for breaking a contract last summer.

Maurice Lahmann, manager of the Porte Saint Martin Theater, was sentenced to pay the same amount for engaging Mlle Duflos while aware that she was under contract to the Comedie Francaise.

POET LOCKED UP FOR RAZZBERRY

Spanish Versifier Becomes So Disgusted at Theater He Emits Yells

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 23 (AP)—The artistic temperament of Ramon Del Valle-Inclan, Spanish poet, has brought him into conflict with the law, a Madrid dispatch to La Nacion says.

During the premiere of a play in Madrid, the poet rose in his seat and shouted "bad very bad." The police were called and ordered him to leave the theater. He refused and continued to shout "bad, very bad," adding "give them the ear, the ear"—Praise in a bull ring, invective in the theater.

The poet then was arrested and has been ordered remanded on a charge of disorderly conduct, for which the penalty is one to six months in prison.

CHICAGOAN APPOINTED CUBA ENVOY

Attorney Noble B. Judah Selected by Coolidge to Succeed Gen. Crowder

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Noble Brandon Judah, a Chicago lawyer, was appointed by President Coolidge today to be Ambassador to Cuba. Judah was recommended to Mr Coolidge by a group of influential Chicago Republicans. He has a distinguished war record and has been prominent in law and banking circles in Chicago for some time, but has had no diplomatic experience.

The appointment fills a vacancy at Havana created by the resignation last spring of Maj.-Gen. Enoch H Crowder. Mr. Judah's selection automatically gives him a place on the American delegation which will represent this country at the Pan-American Congress to be conducted in Havana next January and which Mr. Coolidge is expected to attend.

In addition to practicing law, Mr. Judah is a director of the Chicago Title and Trust Company, a trustee of Brown University and of the United Charities of Chicago, and is on the board of various other charitable institutions. He served for one session in the Illinois House of Representatives.

Entering the Army as a first lieutenant he won in France the American Distinguished Service Medal and the French Foreign Legion of Honor award and the Croix de Guerre with palms. He was mustered out of service as a colonel and now holds that rank in the Reserve Corps.

Coxey's Army From Baldwin

LONDON, Nov. 23. (AP)—The hopes of 250 unemployed miners who marched from Wales to lay their troubles before Premier Stanley Baldwin were shattered today by announcement that the Prime Minister would refuse to see a deputation representing the men.

Mr. Baldwin referred to the request of the miners for an audience to the Ministers of Labor, Health, Pensions and Miners. Although disappointed, leaders of the miners contend the object of the marchers is achieved, as the march focused public attention on the mining situation.

The men will hold a farewell demonstration at Trafalgar Square Sunday and then entrain for Wales.

VOTING BY WIRELESS VISIONED

Shaw Believes Science Can Smash Fabric of Representative Rule

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Wireless science is capable of smashing the whole fabric of representative government, George Bernard Shaw declared, lecturing tonight before the Fabian Society. His subject was "Democracy as a Delusion."

Elaborating his point, the noted writer said: "Nowadays speakers talk to millions of people. I did the other night. The only invention necessary is an arrangement for listeners-in to be able to press a button and register 'aye' or 'nay,' and thus instantaneously register their votes on a political issue. Then the pure democracy of the old-fashioned town meeting would have returned."

But Shaw was convinced that nobody wanted pure democracy or any other sort of democracy. He maintained that dictatorship is the natural government for man, and he made the socialist intellectuals who sit at his feet as patron saint of the Fabian Society, squirm in discomfort as he championed Mussolini and ridiculed government by the people.

"The government of the people and for the people—yes," said Shaw, "but government by the people cannot be."

He was tired of people insisting that they were democrats and then doing everything possible to disprove it. He cited Americans, "who all want prohibition and at the same time want their drink."

"They all vote prohibition," he added, "and then disobey the law."

Hughes Rules for Chicago in Lake Diversion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—Chicago scored a material victory today when former Justice Charles E. Hughes submitted a report to the Supreme Court as special master in the lake diversion cases in which he holds that the present diversion permit issued by the Secretary of War is valid.

He declared that the entire control of the diversion through the Chicago sanitary canal remained solely with Congress and that if a situation develops in which Chicago seeks to create or continue a withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan without the sanction of Congress or of administrative officers acting under its authority, the lake States will be entitled to bring a bill to restrain such action.

Whisky Runner Says He's Son of Dry League Man

DETROIT, Nov. 23. (AP)—An automobile containing a load of whisky and bearing the license number of a plate issued to Howard Kresge, son of S. S. Kresge, multimillionaire 5-and-10-cent store owner and Anti-Saloon League philanthropist, was seized here tonight. A youth giving the name of H. C. Kresge was released on his own recognizance by the authorities after asserting ownership of the car and liquor.

The youth said he was 22 years of age and gave a local hotel as his residence. The car's license plate was issued to H. C. Kresge at the address of Mrs. Anna E. Kresge, divorced wife of S. S. Kresge.

The plane was towed back into the harbor apparently undamaged.

Two Injured in College Blast

SAN JOSE, Nov. 23. (AP)—Gas collected in a flue inside a wall of the recently completed home-making building of the San Jose State Teachers' College here exploded as classes were assembling this morning, blew out the wall, shattered windows and slightly injured two women students of a group of 125 near the blast.

A splinter of glass was removed from beneath the eyelid of one student who returned to classes. The other received a slight cut from another bit of flying glass.

Windows were blown out 300 feet away and the blast was felt in every building on the campus. College authorities estimated the damage at about $2000.

HALF MILLION IN BAGS IN REACH OF THRONG

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—Nearly $500,000 in currency lay in nine bags on the Brooklyn bridge today. A ring of thirty policemen stood guard over the treasure for half an hour, while firemen put out a blaze in the armored car from which it had been removed hastily. A thousand bridge pedestrians blocked traffic about 100 feet from the Brooklyn entrance to the span, but the money was not molested. The fire started from backfire.

SLAYING JURY FORMS CLUB

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 23. (AP)—A social club has been formed by the seven men and five women of the jury which convicted Mrs Lulu Ethel Gruber of second-degree murder for slaying her husband, Mrs. Martha Ryan, one of the jurors, announced today.

The organization will meet once a month. The bailiffs who kept the jury locked up eleven days and ten nights, during the trial, were invited to join, but declined because of other trials.

The first party of the social club will be held Friday night, when Mrs. Eleanor Brest, juror, who is accused of being ineligible for jury duty, will be the honor guest. Defense attorneys for Mrs. Gruber filed a motion for a new trial on the ground that Mrs. Brest had knowledge of the shooting before the trial. The motion was taken under advisement by the court.

Mrs. Gruber is demanding acquittal or conviction of first-degree murder. She asserts she shot her husband, Charles X. Gruber, June 12, 1927, in self-defense.

Zither selections which entertained the jurors during the trial will be repeated at the first party of the social club, Mrs. Ryan says.

McANDREW WALKS OUT AT HIS TRIAL

Chicago Superintendent of Schools Protests Against Methods of Board

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Amid the cheers and jeers of a gallery jammed with excited followers of either side, the trial of Supt. William McAndrew, this afternoon reached a climax when Mr. McAndrew literally walked out of the Board of Education rooms during the hearing.

Aroused by President J. Lewis Coath's refusal to admit to the records a statement presented by Supt. McAndrew, Trustee Walter J. Raymer leaned to his feet and for twenty minutes delivered a scathing arraignment of the conduct of the trial, the character of the testimony and the attitude of the board attorneys.

In his statement, Supt. McAndrew had protested against the conduct of the trial and announced his intention to absent himself from further hearings until the board is ready to abandon its present tactics and try him on the main charge of insubordination. Acting on Attorney Frank S. Righeimer's advice, President Coath refused to admit the communication to the files. Then Supt. McAndrew left the room. President Coath's plea that he remain was ignored.

In his discourse, which was the first defense of the suspended superintendent, as well as the first extended comment by a board member on the trial, Mr. Raymer labeled the charges of pro-British teachings as political propaganda having no bearing on the charges lodged against Mr. McAndrew on August 29, when he was suspended.

Post Sought as Air Mail Clerk

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—The Postoffice Department has received its first application for the position of air mail clerk.

Walter O. Tuchfarber of Olathe, Kan., who has been a railway mail clerk for the last twenty-two years, made application today to Second Assistant Postmaster-General Glover, in anticipation of the time when air mail will be sorted en route.

The strides made in all-mail service, postal officials say, make it possible that in the near future air mail clerks will be employed.

Gifts from Abroad

Holland

COLORFUL Gouda pottery from Holland has been fitted with musical attachments. Teapots, tobacco jars, candy dishes, ash trays and fruit bowls when wound up tinkle forth engagingly. Priced $8.00 to $10.50.

Italy

A CERTAIN richness characterizes gifts from Italy, however inexpensive: soft, deep-toned color and dull gold in hand-carved and tinted picture frames, in tooled leather articles, and the delicacy of fine marble.

From Naples come antiqued verdigris green bronze vases, urns and classic figurines—exact reproductions of art objects long buried by Vesuvius. The small urn sketched, from Naples, $6.00. Hand-painted wooden tray, $5.00.

The marble figure of Rebecca, $35.

INTO THE SPACIOUS ROOMS DEVOTED TO THE ART AND GIFT SECTION AT J. W. ROBINSON CO. ARE GATHERED GIFT OBJECTS FROM EUROPE AND THE ORIENT. SILVER, ONYX, PEWTER, MARBLE, LEATHER, WOOD, BRASS, POTTERY, GLASS, BRONZE, ENAMEL, CRYSTAL AND IVORY GLOW AND SHINE AND SPARKLE IN HUNDREDS OF SKILLFULLY FASHIONED THINGS, STIMULATING THE SELECTION OF GIFTS THAT WILL CHARM WITH THEIR INDIVIDUALITY.

ETCHINGS, ENGRAVINGS, WATER COLORS

Color Etchings by Brewer, Pollok, Lambert and Artot; Dry Points by Icart and Grellet; Colored Woodblocks by Brunelleschi, a collection of Venetian Water Colors and a rather extensive collection of French Colored Engravings have been gathered together not so much with the intention of offering a large selecion of the work of these types—as to offer a thoroughly tasteful group from which it will be possible to select beautiful gifts.

France

PRECIOUS materials are enhanced in value by the artistry of France, wrought by French hands and minds into things distinctive, decorative — often amusing. Crystal trees and flowers of charming fragility and sparkle are represented in many lovely shapes and colors. In the sketch is a bouquet of lilacs in tender lilac blue, its price $49.50.

The book-ends of silver plated French bronze and black onyx, splendidly heavy, were designed by the artist Sibylle May. The pair, $97.50.

Sevres pottery, streaked blue and green in coloring is combined with French Bronze in handsome tall vases, lidded boxes, jars, bowls, etc. The Sevres box sketched $15.

Germany

INTERESTING small figures from Germany are modernistic in feeling, their clothes of bronze variously colored, their finely carved faces, hands and arms of ivory. Graceful, decorative pieces of true distinction.

Sketched one of these figures. $75. Boxes of master brass are for cigarettes or jewels—the one sketched, $13.50. Black marble ash tray, supported by three bronze Buddhas, $6.00.

Czecho Slovakia

THIS massive rock crystal vase with standard of French bronze is from Czecho-Slovakia. Its price is $32.50. A double-handled woven brass basket holds a bouquet of colored flowers, which conceals an electric bulb. At $8.50.

India

FROM Kashmir, there are cigarette boxes and candlesticks of wood, carved by natives. Hand etched and enameled brass articles make up another interesting group: boxes, trays and bowls. Priced at $1.50 to $9.50.

China

AMONG the lovely art objects that come from China are Cloisonne vases, rose jars, boxes and smoking sets. The vase in the sketch is priced $22.50. Interesting and inexpensive are Chinese brasses, etched or pressed into more or less elaborate designs. The brass teapot, $5.00; the incense burner, $1.75.

England

A LIDDED bowl from Liberty's in London is of rosy Moorcroft pottery with lid of Tudric Pewter, $12.00. A candlestick of the same shining pewter is $9.00. The urn is a true antique, of Sheffield silver plate, dating from 1790. Its price is $115. Each is a gift to please some discriminating person.

Austria

THE piano in the sketch is one of rare attainments; not only does it produce dainty music, but its doors fly open as if by magic, disclosing compartments for cigarettes and matches. Its price $47.50.

The jeweled chest, $60. Double ash tray of black onyx and bronze, $12.50.

RADIO SHAKE-UP OF WIDE SCOPE

Twenty-five Channels Will be Clear Next Thursday

Rest Slated to be Dealt With Before January 1, 1928

Don Lee Station Announces Surprise for Tonight

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

All but eleven of the thirty-six available channels in the so-called nonheterodyning band set up by the Federal Radio Commission will be cleared for the purpose of improving the long-distance reception of radio programs after next Thursday. The next move, the commission announces, will be to clear the remaining channels through voluntary cooperation between the stations before January 1, 1928, or through the medium of public hearing at Washington, where the respective programs merits of the stations left on those waves will be threshed out before their licenses are renewed. Five channels within the 600 to 1000-kilocycle band (499.7 to 299.8 meters) are exclusively Canadian and thus not involved in the shake-up.

REVOLUTIONARY STEP

The clearing of the twenty-five channels by the Radio Commission this week represents one of the most revolutionary steps it has undertaken. Stations are summarily swept off channels on which they have operated for a long time and relegated to new and sometimes less desirable wave lengths. Others are ordered to share time so as not to create interference with others on the same channels.

The object has been to free this particular band of all howls and whistles that result when two or more stations not very widely separated by distance broadcast on the same wave length. A glance at the new line-up of stations reveals only two to four stations left to operate on each of the cleared waves. They either pair up so that they will not operate simultaneously or they are far enough apart—usually the breadth of the continent—so that they cannot clash except under exceptional conditions.

IMPROVED RECEPTION

There is no reason, experts believe, why heterodynes should disturb programs on the twenty-five cleared channels after December 1, unless neighboring stations wander off their assigned frequencies. Reception on these waves should be perfect for all listeners within range of the stations in the free band, except for static and fading. Most of the high-powered stations and those of highest program merit are to be found operating on the newly established exclusive or semi-exclusive wavelengths. Those ordered off the channels simply must accept their fate as "martyrs to the cause of good radio," as the commission has aptly put it.

KHJ PLANS FOR THANKSGIVING TREAT

A surprise is promised radio fans for tonight over the Don Lee station KHJ, when a special Thanksgiving program will be presented between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock. The two-hour program, which has been prepared as a musical dessert for the day of feasts, will bring to listeners the first feature program presented over KHJ since this station was taken over by the Cadillac-La Salle distributor.

The program should prove a surprise, for a great deal of care has been taken in developing something that will be genuinely unusual. Orchestral features, mixed quartets, solos and novelty features will be presented. According to the program schedule the entertainment should prove of unusual interest to young folks as well as grown-ups.

Generally speaking, Thanksgiving Day will be a feature day for KHJ, for two football games will be broadcast during the day, through the sponsorship of The Times.

The evening's schedule will begin at 6 o'clock with dinner music, followed by a brief talk and more music. Radio fans are invited to watch the 7-to-9 feature program for Thanksgiving night. The 9-to-10 hour will be featured by dance music.

NEW BELGIAN STATION COST PUT AT $750,000.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—The new long-distance international radio station of the Belgian government, which has just been installed, cost $750,000, the Department of Commerce attache at Brussels reports.

The service is to be commercially known as "Belradio." Its sending and receiving signal is ORU. It will be operated by the government telephone and telegraph administration. The installation is divided into three parts: the central station, with which the public will deal, located at Brussels; the sending station at Ruysselede, and the receiving station at Liedekerke. All traffic will be concentrated at the Brussels central station and will be received and transmitted there, and from there by underground cables to the receiving and sending stations.

The sending station at Ruysselede is a few miles south of Bruges. This station with towers, generator station and radioelectric equipment cost $470,000; the remaining station cost $76,000, and the central station, $3500.

Child Perishes on Car Tracks

Barbara Hildreth, 11 years of age of 4445 West Rose Hill avenue, was killed instantly by an inbound Pasadena Pacific Electric car at Lincoln Drive and Esmeralda street late yesterday, police report. The girl was attempting to cross the tracks when struck, according to witnesses, and was carried more than 100 feet before the car could be stopped.

Norman H. Armour of 2305 East Thirty-eighth street, a passer-by, picked up the girl and took her to General Hospital, where it was found that life already was extinct. The County Coroner took charge of the body.

BUILDING ORDINANCE AMENDMENT VOTED

After a lengthy hearing yesterday, the Council voted, 12 to 1, to amend the municipal building ordinance to permit the use of concrete tile in bearing and filler walls in buildings up to three stories. Councilman Hall alone opposed the amendment, basing his action on the statement of John C. Austin, one of the architects of the new City Hall, that it is impossible to supervise the grade of concrete which goes into each tile.

TEACHERS CATCH 'EM YOUNG

Systematic Education of the Child of Eighteen Months and Up Topic of Meeting Tomorrow

Systematic education for the child of 18 months to 4 years of age will be one of the major topics under discussion at the sessions of the California Kindergarten-Primary Association tomorrow when nearly 700 educators from all parts of the State will assemble. The convention will open at 10:30 a.m. on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles and continue throughout Friday and Saturday.

Miss Barbara Greenwood of the U.C.L.A. teachers' training department, who recently spent several months in a study of nursery schools in Europe and the East, will lead a discussion of this phase of education and report on her observations and conclusions. Demonstrations of benefit to the child from nursery schools will be explained and the results of extensive research work in this type of educational work announced.

Advocates of nursery schools are hopeful of placing California in the lead in this phase of modern educational methods, just as the State has taken leadership in kindergarten work. How defects, both physical and mental, in the child of two years can be detected and corrected before they have become a permanent drawback to future development will be stressed at the sessions.

Social features in connection with the two-day session include a banquet tomorrow night and a luncheon Saturday noon. Both of these functions will be at the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood and are in charge of Miss Bess Steigleder of the Los Angeles Kindergarten Club, and Miss Kirby, president of the Los Angeles Branch of the Primary Council.

Another social event of the meeting will be a theater party Saturday night at the Chinese Theater in Hollywood. A tea also will be a function of Saturday afternoon. Besides the Roosevelt Hotel meetings several sessions will be conducted at the Alexandria-street School auditorium.

Mother Needs Help to Spank 41-Year 'Boy'

At the request of an aged mother to "give my boy a chance to sober up," Georgia police officers early yesterday morning arrested Will Clark, 41 years of age, and booked him on a charge of "vagrancy, common drunk." According to police records, Clark has been arrested thirteen times on similar charges.

Clark's mother, Mrs. S. J. Leedon, who is 82, told officers she has a hard time keeping her rooms rented for her livelihood because of his actions. She asked that Clark be given at least thirty days in jail.

UNDERWOOD EXPECTED

Imagine traveling 3500 miles across the continent to "meet the wife!" That is just what Franklin Underwood, theatrical producer, is doing. His wife is Frances Underwood, and she is starring in "Meet the Wife," at the Hollywood Playhouse. Wednesday afternoon Underwood will arrive in Los Angeles.

VETERANS IN STORE GIVEN HIGH HONOR

Broadway Staff Present Costly Gifts to Two Men in Employ 25 Years

Officials and employees of the Broadway Department Store met yesterday to honor two employees who have just completed a quarter of a century of service with the organization. The [illegible]mer were praised for their work and loyalty by Harry Philp, general manager, and then each was presented with a platinum watch in behalf of fellow-employees and officials of the store.

E. WILLING LEWIS

E. Willing Lewis, assistant to the general superintendent, started with the Broadway store November 2, 1902, his first employment being as a floorman under J. T. Bullock. Later he was appointed head floor manager and his rise to his present position was steady.

Charles H. Wilson entered the service of the Broadway store twenty-five years ago today and has served this entire time in the linen department, where he now is head of stock. Wilson's first linen department was a little twenty-five-foot space in one end of the store when he first started with the company, and now it is one of the largest in the city. He is recognized as an expert in linens.

CHARLES H. WILSON

PROBATION PLEA FILED FOR BRIDE

Wife Denied Request to Go to Prison With Mate to Get Hearing Next Month

Murriel Bossert, 20-year-old bride charged with robbery, yesterday was granted permission to file an application for probation by Superior Judge Hardy. Wallace Reynolds, 19, jointly charged with the crime, also was given permission to file an application for probation and both will be given a hearing on their pleas December 15, next.

Mrs. Bossert, her husband, George Bossert, Reynolds and Albert Britt were arrested a month ago charged with holding up a service station on the Norwalk Road near Santa Fe Springs and taking an automobile by force from a taxi driver.

After pleading guilty to the charges Bossert and Britt were sentenced to San Quentin prison. At that time Mrs. Bossert pleaded with the court to send her to San Quentin with her husband, but her case was continued.

Church Goes to Larger Quarters to Hold Service

Services of All Soul's Church will be held next Sunday and thereafter at the Westlake Theater on Alvarado street just north of Wilshire Boulevard, instead of at the Belasco Theater. Change to the new theater which has been tendered the organization by West Coast Theaters, Inc., was made because of increased attendance. The congregation is independent and nonsectarian.

Dr. C. P. Aked will preach Sunday on "Follow the Gleam," a challenge of the age to youth. Otto Ploetz will be the soloist. Vesper services which will be broadcast over radio station KNX are in charge of Judge Myron Westover.

Hollywood Man Takes Own Life

Max Lehman, 55 years of age, 1612 Courtney avenue, a retired business man, died at the Hollywood Hospital at 5 p.m. yesterday from a self-inflicted bullet wound in the temple. He shot himself with the aid of a hand mirror to direct his aim, according to Hollywood police. Mrs. Lehman informed Detective Carmen that her husband had been despondent from ill health.

MOTHER REQUESTS NEWS OF YOUNG SON

Edgar Frankling "Bill" Grissom, Boy Scout of Brownwood, Tex., who purchased a ticket for Los Angeles from Abilene, Tex., October 2, last, is urgently requested to communicate immediately with his mother, Mrs. C. W. Grissom, [illegible] East Baker street, Brownwood, according to a letter received by The Times. The boy is 12 years of age, weighs ninety-five pounds and is five feet four inches in height. He is believed to be somewhere in Los Angeles and at the time of his disappearance to have been somewhat imbued with the desire to enter motion pictures. His mother asks only that he or anyone knowing him inform her of his welfare and whereabouts.

FORMER NAVY MEN REGISTRY SOUGHT

Names of all former Navy men who have been honorably discharged from the service, now residing in Southern California and not actively connected with any unit of the Naval Reserve Force, are sought by the naval recruiting station. Other information desired by the recruiting office includes name, age, last rating held, years of active service, when last discharged, present occupation, present postoffice address and physical condition.

WALLACE CHOSEN TO DIRECT "LADY, BE GOOD;" WATERS RE-SIGNS

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

That young director, Richard Wallace, is now assured of another box-office success to add to his list, which includes such money getters as "Syncopating Sue," "McFadden's Flats," and "A Texas Steer." Yesterday I learned that he has been selected by Richard Rowland, First National president, who is now visiting the Coast studio, to direct "Lady, Be Good," the musical comedy the film rights to which have just been purchased by First National.

The director has been in New York in company with Sam Rork during the past couple of weeks, returning home on Tuesday.

John Waters Repeats

John Waters is ready for another two years of uninterrupted picture-making.

The young Paramount director returned yesterday from New York and a vacation trip that was his first in twenty-four months. He visited his parents, saw all the shows, and called on old friends of the days when he was backstage as a property man in one of Broadway's leading theaters. He has just signed a new Paramount contract.

"Chicago" Will Be Road-Show

So much better than even the most optimistic of the Cecil B. De Mille cohorts had expected has "Chicago" turned out to be, that it has been decided to road-show the picture rather than to place it on the program.

Phyllis Haver

It has been booked to follow "The King of Kings" at the Gaiety in New York and as already announced and then in Chicago and Detroit. It will be shown in nine reels, ranking it as one of the longest dramatic comedies ever produced.

Frank Urson directed the picture from the adaptation and continuity of Lenore Coffee. Urson was responsible, as you may remember, for Wallace Reid successes and Raymond Griffith's first starring pictures.

SHAW PLAY HUGE HIT AT GAMUT

Mencken Burlesque Also Delights in Production of Little Theater

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

When an English army captain presumes to give advice to a Russian empress, and when the Russian empress is none other than Catherine the Great—

But why attempt to sketch an impression of what might happen when George Bernard Shaw is the sponsor of these events. It is better to see his play "Great Catherine." Here he glimpses an episode in the life of a famous, and one must admit, somewhat romantic sovereign who reigned in Russia a scant 200 years ago. The historic period need worry one but little.

Shaw's comedy, a gift of his more recent years to the stage, is being performed by the Little Theater as their fourth production, and it is attracting a distinguishing interest. The second-night audience packed to virtual capacity the playhouse in the Gamut Building, where the presentations of this progressive organization are given.

"Great Catherine" is not the only source of enjoyment. It is preceded by a curtain raiser, "The Artist," written by H. L. Mencken, which is as clever a bit of satire as has been seen here in months. With Fritz Feld as the star, and he is the only player who is on the stage, the rest being in the audience, it is receiving a deft interpretation.

Those who really enjoy the unusual in plays are finding this particular program of the Little Theater an event both delightful and stimulating.

"Great Catherine" is one of Shaw's most engaging comedies. It is but two acts, each divided into two scenes.

Shaw has filled the play with burlesque and slapstick, in addition to the usual measure of brilliant dialogue. There is perhaps only one moment where the play lags. That is toward the close. But even that is redeemed by the priceless finale. In this the empress expresses her regret over the fact that she did not acquire the English captain, not for her inamarato, but for her museum.

In his plays, Shaw always poked jovial fun at his countrymen. In "Great Catherine" he is perhaps even a little more successful than usual, because he has a strongly contrasting background in a gay, exotic, frivolous and somewhat decadent Russian court. He has managed to endow his characters with attributes of singular reality, and rare sense of humor. The picture of the Empress torturing the abnormally ticklish soldier by prodding him in the ribs with her foot, while his hands and feet are strapped together, is unforgettable.

Shaw has never been a respecter of historic personages, but he has painted them humanly. Perhaps sometimes they are truer to the real historic personages because of this.

There are commendable performances in this play by Hedwiga Reichner, Bert Sprotte, Gene Gowing, Margaret Kolker, Mme. Rea Mursel, Leo White, Otto H. Frie and others. Miss Reichner achieves an impression that with slight exception is splendid as the empress. Sprotte is at times very amusing as the burly, heavy-drinking Patiomkin. Gowing proved satisfying as the Englishman. Henry Kolker directed this presentation and though perhaps lacking a little in smoothness at moments, it was exceptional.

The sentiments of the audience at a concert, much varied and including those of the romantically inclined women, critics, the janitor and others, as well as the inner feelings of the artist himself, are duly and adroitly written by Mencken in "The Artist." It is a very clever piece of work. It is both a verbal and a musical burlesque, for the piano part which the "artist" plays while the audience and he himself express their thoughts, is a skillful travesty in itself.

Mr. Feld had much to do in keeping up this accompaniment, while he very subtly conveyed the revealing lines. Feld is remembered as the Piper in "The Miracle."

The closing bit of comment in "The Artist" is rare stuff— "I wonder," he confides to himself, "how much money there is in the house?" No less amusing is the endless piano cadenza with which the sketch finishes.

ROWLAND TO LEAVE PLAYHOUSE

Managing-Director Resigns from Hollywood Theater; Plans New Move

Ed W. Rowland, managing director of the Hollywood Playhouse, who was instrumental in launching interest among local business men to build that theater, which opened last January, has resigned his position, it was learned last night.

Although he retains an interest in the Playhouse, he is now negotiating for another theater in Hollywood, where he plans, he says, to present plays "of proven success and also new plays selected from those submitted for reading."

Rowland, after twenty-five years of experience, came to Los Angeles four years ago from the theatrical-producing firm of Rowland & Clifford, and identified himself with many important local activities. He was the director-general of the opening of the Mulholland Drive, the Hollywood Day of the Shrine convention and the Red Cross benefit held last summer in the Hollywood Bowl.

BELMONT WILL REPEAT SINGLE-ACT SERIES

Owing to the success of last Saturday's one-act play contest at the Belmont, Ruth Davis announces another matinee of four one-act plays for this Saturday afternoon at the Belmont.

"El Cristo" which won the Belasco tournament in New York will be presented for the first time in Los Angeles by the newly organized Players' Guild of Los Angeles, with Sada Cowan's "Ball and Chain" from the same group.

"Fancy Free" and "The Three Gifts" will be given by the Hollywood Drama Club under the direction of Irene d'Arville.

The next attraction to be displayed by Murphy's Comedians in their regular occupancy of the Belmont, is "Laff That O'," a comedy opening Sunday night.

Help Wanted—Badly

Theodor Von Eltz and Lydia Dickson

GAY OPERA SET IN PRISON

Few librettists or poets of today wishing to attain fame in the musical comedy or light-opera field would probably consider San Quentin or Sing Sing as a suitable background for their efforts.

Yet the setting for the one light opera, really a musical comedy, of the centuries that has survived the longest and been heard by the greatest number of persons—The Beggar's Opera, to be presented here for a week beginning Friday, was the notorious Newgate prison in London.

The suggestion for this background was given to John Gay by Dean Swift and it was to Swift and Alexander Pope that Gay repaired when he wanted to try out his new comedy. These two noted Britishers often made suggestions, during its creation, and both were in the audience that saw its first production in London, January 29, 1728.

Under the L. E. Behymer management The Beggar's Opera will open at Philharmonic Auditorium Friday night presenting the London cast which recently closed a four-year run of the opera in London.

Beside the opening performance the opera will be given the nights of the 26th, 29th, 30th inst., December 1, 2, and 3, with matinees on the 26th, 30th inst., and December 3.

CUT-UPS ARE "IN AGAIN"

"Now We're in the Air," a Paramount picture featuring Wallace Beery and Raymon Hatton, opens at the Metropolitan Theater today for a week's run. This picture is the third of the series made by Beery and Hatton dealing with the humorous side of the World War. The first was "Behind the Front" and the second, "We're in the Navy Now."

The story deals with two ship stokers who find themselves tangled up in the World War as noncombatants. They don't want to fight but being mistaken for aviators they are rigged out with uniforms, forced into a balloon, which runs wild, and land in Germany, where they are welcomed as German spies returning with valuable information. The Germans then send them back to France to get more information and Beery and Hatton, not knowing what it is all about, are captured by American troops, who decide to shoot them.

The story is filled with fun of this sort from start to finish. Louise Brooks supports the stars. Frank Strayer directed the picture, written by Monte Brice and Keene Thompson.

Rube Wolf, in Fanchon and Marco's "Thanksgiving Follies," offers "a feast of fun and music." In the stage act are Coscia and Verdi, and the Sunkist Beauties.

Clara Bow Film Opens Saturday

Friday night will mark the final performance of "Discord," the foreign production which has caused comment in local film circles, now the feature on the Broadway Palace screen.

Following this opus, opening Saturday, Clara Bow's "Wine," a Louis Gasnier production, will be the attraction.

This film, reissue, taken from the well-known magazine story by William MacHarg, brings the star of "It" forth in all her early glory—and, it is claimed, with all of her "It" qualities in evidence.

SHAW PLAY IS EARLY PROSPECT

"Caesar and Cleopatra" Will be First in Series of Art Matinees

Bernard Shaw's version of "Caesar and Cleopatra" will be presented Monday afternoon in El Capitan Theater, and will run for two weeks as a series of art matinees. Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, by arrangement with Henry Duffy. Leading roles will be taken by Violette Wilson and Irving Pichel, who starred last summer in "All God's Chillun Got Wings" at the Majestic.

Included in the cast are Montague Shaw and Charles Quartermaine of "The Devil's Plum Tree" cast; Henry Hall from "Cradle Snatchers;" Jean Lennox, the ingeune in "Meet the Wife," and many other players, among them Dorothy Weaver, Robert Gossine, Edith Scott-Burritt, Wallas Roberts and Lucian Self.

This play has been secured by arrangement with the New York Theater Guild, and will be given a sumptuous production, with special settings by Malcolm Thurburn.

Miss Wilson and Pichel, during ten years of collaboration, have won for themselves a unique place in the American theater, especially on the Pacific Coast. Reviewers of San Francisco and Los Angeles have many times attested to the power and imagination of their acting, and the exceptional rapport of their work together.

Other plays under contemplation for the winter and spring include "Wild Birds," by Dan Totheroh; "A Doll's House," by Ibsen, and "The Witch," by John Masefield, as well as plays by Shakespeare.

DE MILLE IS DESERTED

Theodore Kosloff's concluding scenes as the Pasha in "Woman Wise," under the direction of Albert Ray for Fox, mark the completion of the actor's first free-lance engagement in nearly eleven years, during which he has been continuously under contract to Cecil B. De Mille, and has appeared only in that director's own productions, or in those of his company. In "Woman Wise," Kosloff plays an eastern potentate, the "heavy" of the picture.

Film Rated as Strong Drama

"The strongest picture to play at the Boulevard Theater this year," is the claim made by the management for "A Man's Past," a drama of forbidden love in which Conrad Veidt appears. The picture opens a week's engagement tomorrow. Those in the supporting cast include Barbara Bedford, Ian Keith, Arthur Edmund Carew and George Siegmann.

The premiere of "A Man's Past" will likewise mark the beginning of a new regime by Gene Morgan and his band at the Boulevard. Morgan succeeds Abe Lyman, who moves downtown to Loew's State for a short stay before leaving for New York. The final showing of "The College Widow," starring Dolores Costello, will be tonight.

"A Man's Past," filmed by Universal, revolves around a man and woman madly in love with one another. Their marriage is frowned upon by the world. Veidt is seen in a straight role, the play affording him latitude in which to display his talents.

CITY IN WEE, SMA' HOURS IS PICTURED

Marceline Day

"London After Midnight," starring Lon Chaney, opens tomorrow at Loew's State.

The new picture is a vivid mystery tale laid in an old haunted English manor house with Chaney as a scientific detective utilizing hypnotism to solve an uncanny plot. Tod Browning, who directed it, is its author and Marceline Day, Conrad Nagel, Henry B. Walthall, Claude King and Polly Moran are in the cast.

In addition to the feature picture this week, Loew's State has the Abe Lyman and his recording orchestra appearing on the stage in their farewell western appearance.

"KONGO" REOPENS THEATER

Orange Grove Will House Tropical Melodrama at Early Date

"Kongo," a play similar to "White Cargo" and "Rain," in short, a tropical drama, will reopen the Orange Grove Theater, it was definitely announced today by K. M. Scoville, president and general manager of C. M. S. Amusements, Inc., new lessee of the Grand-avenue house.

A portion of the original New York cast is now en route for the Pacific Coast premiere in Los Angeles. The remainder of the cast is now being selected, it was announced.

Production work is being rushed, but a definite date for opening has not been set, Scoville said. The play will go into rehearsal immediately upon assembling next week.

Final negotiations for the play were closed by C. M. S. Amusements, Inc., yesterday. This is the first New York stage hit to be brought here by the new California theatrical corporation. Contracts for other Broadway successes for exclusive showing at the Orange Grove are now being negotiated, according to Scoville, who is a former New York and Chicago producer.

"Kongo" played at the Martin Beck Theater in New York.

Chester de Vonde and Kilbourne Gordon wrote the play, weaving into "Kongo" a strange composite of thrills, romance and adventure.

"Gorilla" Goes Into New Week

"The Gorilla," mystery-comedy melodrama starring Charlie Murray and Fred Kelsey, opens its second week at the Million Dollar Theater today.

Mulligan and Garrity of footlight fame—played by Murray and Kelsey—are gaining even more popularity than they did during the two long runs of the stage play here, it is said. The "dumb" detectives are given new and original gags in the celluloid version that did not appear on the stage owing to its limitations.

Alice Day, recent graduate of Mack Sennett comedies, furnishes the love theme with the aid of Gaston Glass, who plays the secretary of a murdered man.

Braslau Sings With Orchestra

The Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, George Schneevoigt conductor, will be heard in its third symphony pair this evening and tomorrow afternoon at the Philharmonic Auditorium, with Sophie Braslau as soloist.

The complete program follows:

Schubert—Symphony No. 8 in B minor (unfinished.) Allegro moderato. Andante con moto.

Moussorgsky—On the Dnieper. Sophie Braslau.

"DESIRED WOMAN" HEADS TOWER BILL

"The Desired Woman," which opened at the Tower yesterday, centers about a cultured English woman who accompanies her husband to a desert outpost in India, of which he is commandant. Here she falls in love with a youthful lover who finally persuades her to leave her husband.

Irene Rich portrays the role of the captivating and impulsive woman of the desert. William Russell and William Collier, Jr., support her, and the tenseness of the drama is lightened by the comedy of the soldiers.

George Jessel, New York stage star, provides the audience with much laughter with his monologues and songs on the Vitaphone. Gale Brothers, juvenile stars, are also featured on Vitaphone with song and dance numbers.

The William Fox News Weekly with Movietone brings to the audience many novelties as plainly as though they were presented on the Tower stage. All sorts of animals are seen and heard on this week's Movietone program, as well as English soldiers and bands.

BRUNETTES GIVE LIE TO POPULAR NOVEL

Brunettes are again in the ascendency following a mad season of blonds, according to information compiled by Victor Nordlinger, casting director for Universal.

When twenty girls were needed for an important sequence in "The Thoroughbred," Marian Nixon's current starring vehicle, Norlinger called nearly 200 extras from which to choose a score. One hundred and sixtyeight of the 200 were brunettes or redheads, the remaining thirty-two were blondes.

STAGE CREW HOPES FOR MEAL—GRATIS

The backstage crew of the Figueroa Playhouse are hoping the action of the second act of "The First Year," current production at the theater, allows some of the "dinner" to be left. In this particular portion of the sequence Tommy Tucker, played by Harland Tucker, serves a dinner which, to keep faith with the occasion on Turkay Day, consists of a roast turkey. What cannot be consumed in the action of the stage dinner goes to the stage-hands instead of to the property room. Hence the hope.

THRICE GIFTED

The three cronies of Franz Schubert in "Blossom Time," now playing at the Biltmore Theater, are sung by three young men, especially gifted in the matter of voices. George Huntington, who has the role of Vogel, is a tenor of ringing timber; Henry Babke, is a robust baritone as well as an actor of fine attainments, while Carl Shiffler has a booming bass of sonorous volume and depth.

MEN GRADUATE IN "BOYOLOGY"

Several Hundred Presented With Diplomas

Colorful and Noisy Banquet Precedes Exercises

Speakers Laud Results of Nonsectarian Course

Unique graduation exercises were conducted at the Chamber of Commerce last night when several hundred men were presented with diplomas for efficiency and competence in "boyology" upon their completion of a brief but thorough course in that modern "science."

More than 800 men and women, including some of the city's notables, attended the banquet that preceded the exercises. It was a colorful and noisy occasion, the banquet hall presenting a sea of colored paper caps worn by the banqueters, who periodically gave vent to "gang" yells, catcalls, Indian war cries and whistles.

Although the course was sponsored by the Knights of Columbus as part of their post-war civic educational program, it was participated in by all creeds, and by men of all professions. The purpose of the course was to give the men a few scientific "pointers" on some of the problems of the boy of today and how to solve them intelligently.

During the course of his brief talk last night, Bishop John J. Cantwell expressed the belief that upon reaching a certain stage in his development the boy should come under the sterner influence of his father. The bishop deplored the fact that in America the education and upbringing of the boy are left so nearly exclusively in the hands of women. The boy of today knows much more and should know much more than his father did when a boy. His advantages today are greater.

And the bishop observed that today there is too much of an inclination to smash up the influence of the home with the automobile. In his boyhood days, he recalled, the sessions in the woodshed constituted a portion of the home influence with commendable results. Those who had attended the course in "boyology" were now apparently well grounded in those fundamentals.

Ball to be Free to All Disabled ex-Service Men

Admission to the entertainment and ball to be given tonight at the Ambassador Auditorium by the Disabled Veterans of the World War will be free to all disabled ex-service men who show their identification cards.

This announcement was made last night by John R. Quinn, president of the veterans' organization and past National Commander of the American Legion. Commander Quinn with Mrs. Lillian S. Latchford, president of the Los Angeles Gold Star Mothers, will lead the grand march.

Entertainment features arranged by Police Commissioner Insley, chairman of the program committee, will include tribal dances by Cheyenne, Cherokee and Pinto Indians, songs by the Los Angeles police department quartet, a dance by Miss Shirley Widman and numbers by Yakima Canutt and Buddy Roosevelt.

Former Banker and Chamber Man Succumbs

William Mead, 65 years of age, once prominent in Los Angeles banking circles and a former director of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, died at his bungalow at the Beverly Hills Hotel last night at 9 o'clock from heart disease.

Mr. Mead had been seriously ill for the past five weeks, and only two weeks ago returned from a five-weeks' trip to Honolulu, which he took in an effort to regain his health. His health had been failing, however, for the past four months, according to his physician, Dr. P. G. White. For some time his wife, Mrs. Nellie Mead, and a nurse had been at his bedside almost continuously day and night.

For several years prior to the time he was taken ill, Mr. Mead was in the real-estate business, and was identified with a Los Feliz Boulevard project.

He was born in Lewiston, Ill., on January 11, 1862, and moved to California in 1885, according to R. P. Bishop, a close friend.

Funeral arrangements will be in charge of W. A. Brown, funeral director.

Defense Aide in Paddleford Case Passes

SALINAS, Nov. 23. (AP)—A man who registered at a Salinas hotel as M. Magner of San Francisco, but who later was identified as Walter Belding, 67 years of age, wealthy Stockton man, died in the Monterey County Hospital today, revealing that he had come to Salinas as an "old friend" of Mrs. Genevieve M. Paddleford, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, to help her in her court fight for freedom.

Henry L. Corson, attorney for Mrs. Paddleford, was in consultation with Belding yesterday after a jury of nine men and three women returned a verdict convicting her. Belding was taken ill in his hotel room last night and died today after being removed to a hospital.

BISHOP STEVENS TO BE SPEAKER AT CLUB

The Breakfast Club yesterday announced to its members a Thanksgiving program for tomorrow morning at 3213 Riverside Drive, with Rt. Rev. W. Bertram Stevens, Bishop Coadjutor of Los Angeles, as speaker of the morning. Hugo Aleidis, proprietor of the Victor Hugo Cafe, and James Long Wright, banker, are cohosts for the party and Mrs. Aleidis, it is said, will take his chefs, waiters and "culinary secrets" with him to the club for the serving of a special breakfast. Featured on the entertainment program are: Elsa Ersi, Hungarian musical comedy star, headlined this week at the Orpheum; Harry James, English humorist; the California string quartet, and Hubbell Brothers' male trio.

REUNITED AFTER TWO DECADES

Mother Joins Son Last Seen in 1903

C. T. Henderson, His Mother (Left,) and Wife

TWENTY-FOUR years ago, a dark, curly haired youth, 21 years of age, returned to his home in London, Eng., from the Boer War. Then he kissed his mother good-by and sailed for America.

Yesterday, that boy was joined by his mother, Mrs. Emma Henderson of London. Mrs. Henderson, now 70, and silver haired, greeted her son, C. T. Henderson, for the first time since he sailed away in the early spring of 1903. They will have a real Thanksgiving dinner today.

The aged mother also met for the first time her son's wife, Mrs. Betty Henderson. He has been married for nine years.

"This is the happiest moment of my life," Mrs. Henderson said as the three sat in her son's apartment at the Hotel Proctor, 1413 West Ninth street.

Mrs. Henderson will make her home with her son. He is a hotel manager and has been in Los Angeles for eighteen months, coming here from Palm Beach, Fla.

STAGE SET FOR SCOUT FAIR

Exposition at Chamber of Commerce Will Be Started Tomorrow and Last Through Saturday

Late this evening Boy Scouts will complete the exhibits and displays that make up their first annual exhibition to be opened to the public tomorrow afternoon and evening and all day Saturday in the Chamber of Commerce Building. An army of youths has been engaged in arranging the "fair" for the purpose of demonstrating many phases of their Scout activities.

At noon tomorrow Scout Executive E. B. DeGroot will give a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce at which the guests will be leaders in boy character forming agencies, including Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, D. F. McGarry, Malcolm McNaghten, Playground Superintendent Hjelte, Fred Beabyshell, Maj. F. R. Burnham, Regional Scout Executive Carlson and Reverend Father John Conlon. At 2 o'clock the guests formally will dedicate the exposition.

Sixty-five booths have been provided, each showing one form of Scout work, with continuous demonstrations, ranging from camping and cooking to signaling, nature study, conservation, fire fighting, first aid and life saving and various merit badge subjects. Seascouts will have one of the largest of the single exhibits.

Despite the long preparation the boys have made for the exposition, it will remain open only the two days, owing to the fact that on Monday they again resume their school duties.

The staff of the Scout executive will have a booth to welcome parents and talk with prospective new troop leaders. This will be the official information headquarters. The Boy Scout band of sixty pieces will give concerts afternoons and evenings, and entertainment features will be provided.

The University of Hawaii football team will be guests of honor at a banquet to be given Friday night at the Alexandria under the auspices of the Los Angeles Hawaiian Society. Mrs. Pauline Steele, secretary, announces a menu of native dishes and a program of Hawaiian entertainment.

SOMEONE SING PRISONER'S SONG

Probation Violator Facing San Quentin Sentence Will Get Life Term from Judge in Jail Wedding Ceremony Saturday

The barren halls of the County Jail Saturday will witness the marriage of Y-Vee Irwin, 25 years of age, Los Angeles stenographer, to William Middleton, 34 years of age, under sentence to San Quentin prison for violation of probation. Superior Judge Hardy, who sentenced Middleton, will perform the ceremony.

WILLIAM H.S. MIDDLETON

Middleton, a native of Australia, asserts that his father formerly was the business manager of the London Grand Opera Association.

He was arrested in luxurious offices in Hollywood recently while trying to promote an around-the-world motion-picture travelogue and brought to court charged with violation of probation.

Two years ago Middleton was arrested charged with embezzlement and obtaining money under false pretenses as a result of a theatrical enterprise which he sought to finance. He was granted probation with the understanding that he pay back approximately $1900 which he had obtained from investors.

The couple yesterday were reticent regarding the romance which resulted in their wedding plans. The only fact that could be learned was that they met several months ago in Hollywood while Middleton still was at liberty.

Ex-Postmaster Gains Liberty

Manuel Escobar, former postmaster at Guyamas, Mex., will have a happy Thanksgiving in Los Angeles with his wife and nine children. United States Commissioner Head yesterday dismissed extradition proceedings against Escobar, holding that the extradition warrant was not legally sufficient.

Escobar had been in the County Jail for three months. He was arrested by Federal agents for the Mexican Treasury Department, which charges that Escobar, while postmaster, embezzled $2500.

SCREEN MAN TAKEN FOR FILM THEFT

Director at Fox Studios Arrested on Complaint of General Manager

John D. Hetrick, 36 years of age, 5041½ Willoughby avenue, assistant director for the Fox Film Company, was arrested last night on complaint of Ben Jackson, general manager of thecorporation, and other officials on suspicion of grand theft. The arrest was the result of efforts to trace the asserted bootlegging of films.

Cuttings from the recent picture, "Sunrise," on which Hetrick worked as assistant under F. W. Murnau, were found in his home. Hetrick said they had been left over from work he did on the picture in a workshop which he rigged up at his home, in order to continue his labors after hours.

He said that officials of the company told him they were endeavoring to trace prints of the picture which they believed to have been stolen, but he stated that he had no knowledge of or connection with such thefts, and that it would be impossible to market the scraps of films which he had in his possession.

Hetrick, who has been identified with Hollywood film production for the past eight years, worked on "Sunrise" throughout its entire production, and declared that Murnau had left him in charge of the cutting for a time during which he was in New York.

BANK CASHIER FOILS ROBBER

Bandit Demands "All" But Gets Less Than $300

Whittier Boulevard Scene of Noon Hold-up

Brigand Chased to Ninth and Boyle Bu. Escapes

A lone bandit who entered the Bank of Commerce, 4178 Whittier Boulevard, yesterday noon demanding "all of the money" left the institution contented when George Donaghy, cashier, thrust a roll of miscellaneous small bills in his hands amounting to less than $300, according to reports at the Sheriff's office.

The hold-up man had been noticed loitering in the vicinity of the bank for more than an hour prior to the robbery. At noon he entered, walked over to the customers' counter and wrote something on a deposit slip. He then walked over to the cashier's window, handing Donaghy the slip of paper and pointing a small automatic pistol at him.

The note on the deposit slip read: "Give me all the money. Want $1000."

After seizing the bills thrust through the window by the cashier the bandit fled to the curb and departed in an automobile.

Donaghy and another man pursued the bandit as far as Ninth street and Boyle avenue, where they lost his trail in the traffic.

Deputy Sheriffs Harrington and Zahn investigated the robbery.

Mrs. Schiffman Asks Separation Decree Voided

Mrs. Mabel Ann Schiffman of Pasadena yesterday filed an affidavit in Judge Walter Guerin's court whereby she seeks to set aside a separate-maintenance decree, which she obtained on May 11 from her husband, Rudolph J. Schiffman.

In the suit against her husband $15,000,000 in community property was listed. In the court award she was granted approximately $5,000,000 and in the affidavit, which was filed through her attorney, S. S. Hahn, she seeks to return the property to her husband and states that they are now reconciled.

In Mrs. Schiffman's separate-maintenance suit the property listed included real estate, bonds and cash. She charged her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment, declaring that he separated from her December 6, 1924, going to Europe, where he resided in Paris and Berlin. She asked the custody of a son, Rudolph J. Schiffman, Jr., which was granted.

The motion for the dismissal of the separate-maintenance decree will be heard by Judge Guerin on Monday.

ESPEE RAIL REPORTS ON OPERATIONS

Profits for October and Ten Months Show Slump from 1926 Figures

Net railway operating income of the Southern Pacific Company for the month of October and for the ten months ended October 31, last, again shows a decline as compared with the corresponding periods of last year, according to the company's monthly financial statement issued yesterday.

For the month of October, net railway operating income amounted to $6,892,397.68, a decrease of $532,618.57 from the net income of $7,424,416.25 for October, 1926, while the net for the ten-months' period declined from $46,123,715.73 in the 1926 period to $43,469,478.84 in the period just passed, a decrease of $2,654,237.00.

Railway operating revenues amounted to $36,717,325.02 in October, last, and $250,854,758.73 in the ten-months' period of this year. Railway operating expenses totaled $18,566,621.81 in October and $183,282,948.01 in the ten months.

Railway tax accruals aggregated $2,281,145.34 for the month just passed and $16,182,167.36 in the first ten months of this year. The Southern Pacific Company operated an average of 13,507.48 miles of road during October and an average of 13,499.72 in the ten-months' period. This is an increase of 188.58 miles over October, 1926, and 251.34 over the average for the ten months of last year.

Cotton Prices Down on Break in Liverpool

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (Exclusive) The cotton market declined 15 to 20 points from yesterday's closing decline of 25 to 30 points shortly after the opening. This was due to a break in the Liverpool market of 16 to 20 of their points from the scattered liquidation by local and continental operators, which the decline here of yesterday influenced. There was considerable further scattered local liquidation and southern selling here, left over from yesterday.

On this decline December contracts went down to 19.40 cents, January to 19.46 cents, March to 19.71 cents and May to 19.87 cents, or within 7 to 12 points of the low levels of Saturday.

Renewed trade buying then checked the decline with Liverpool's closing rally to a net decline of but 9 to 12 points on the day there against 8 to 9 that had been due to have met our closing decline of yesterday, helping to cause a good rally here after midday. There was then considerable covering of shorts, with also some new commission-house buying, influenced principally by the bullish action of the stock market.

On the rally prices were carried back to a little above yesterday's closing, with December selling at 19.61 cents, January at 19.68 cents, March at 19.88 cents and May at 20.05 cents, with the greater part of this held in the late trading. It looked today as though most of the scattered speculative long interest had been liquidated in the selling movement in that month of the last three days in anticipation of a large amount of cotton being tendered for delivery on the opening of the market Friday, which is the first day such "notices" can be sent out on December contracts.

The market here and at New Orleans will be closed tomorrow.

CHAIN STORES RETIRE DEBT

Piggly Wiggly Comes Back, After Reorganization Following Wall Street Career; Sales Higher

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Piggly Wiggly stores, in which the ideas of "self-service" and "cash and carry" were embodied by Clarence Saunders, the Memphis (Tenn.) grocer, have become nation-wide in scope, and evidently a financial success. The Piggly Wiggly Corporation, the holding company, has just announced the retirement of its entire outstanding funded debt and does not contemplate a refunding operation.

Not many months ago, when the Piggly Wiggly system of retailing groceries was enjoying its first flush of popularity, the company ran into serious difficulties resulting from the stock-market ventures of Clarence Saunders, president and founder. Saunders essayed to buck the Wall-street speculators who were operating in his stock, and came back to Memphis minus the controlling interest in the company. A reorganization followed, sponsored by a group of southern bankers, and today Piggly Wiggly is one of the most successful of the chain-store systems.

OPERATORS LICENSED

The original plan of operating stores was abandoned for a program of licensing operating companies in each of the large consuming markets in the country. The 550 stores formerly directly operated have virtually all been sold on a royalty basis and the proceeds have been largely used for the retirement of the funded indebtedness. At the present time there are more than 2500 stores and nearly 1000 meat markets owned or licensed, on the sales of which the Piggly Wiggly Corporation collects a royalty of one-half of 1 per cent.

How well this program has worked out is testified by the rise in sales reported by the various operating companies under license. It is reported that the sales volume will total about $200,000,000 in 1927, and has increased $20,000,000 in the first nine months over the sales for the corresponding period of 1926.

In the western States the licensee is the Piggly Wiggly Western States Company. This company, like the other operators, is steadily increasing its sales volume. For the ten months ended in October sales totaled $10,991,842.43, compared with $6,272,301.03 in the same period of last year, a gain of 75 per cent.

SELLS FIXTURES

Besides its royalty returns from operating companies the Piggly Wiggly Corporation has a few other sources of important revenue. A factory is operated in Tennessee which supplies furniture and fixtures for all the stores under the terms of the license agreements.

For the benefit of the operating stores the holding company also maintains a purchasing department which does the buying on most lines of goods for the entire system. Substantial economies are possible under this plan, enabling the licensees to obtain the saving from large-quantity purchases to the same extent that the centrally owned and operated chain systems do.

If the sales of the Piggly Wiggly chain are to reach $800,000,000 this year, as estimated, the substantial increase of $40,000,000 in one year's time will have been scored. This will be 25 per cent over the previous year, compared with a 17 per cent increase in 1926 over 1925

Resources of State's Trust Concerns High

California ranked fifth among the States of the Union in trust company resources on June 30, last, aggregate assets on that date totaling $1,866,734,960.49, according to the twenty-fifth annual edition of "Trust Companies of the United States," just issued by the United States Mortgage and Trust Company of New York.

Aggregate resources of the trust companies of the nation as of June 30, last, amounted to $20,480,000,000, an increase of $1,145,000,000 over the total on June 30, 1926. Deposits of the companies increased $840,000,000 to $16,800,000,000, the report states. Only New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio exceeded California in total trust company resources, and New Jersey was the only other State to report resources in excess of $1,000,000,000.

The following six States account for nearly 75 per cent of the country's total of trust resources:

New York	$6,056,210,173.04
Pennsylvania	2,540,167,964.83

Franklin Denies Outside Control

Harold B. Franklin, president of West Coast Theaters, Inc., yesterday denied the report that the West Coast organization is controlled by the Stanley Company of America. The two companies control First National Pictures, he stated, but aside from this connection there is no relationship between the two theater companies.

"While the most friendly relations exist between the two great theater chains," Mr. Franklin said, "neither is a subsidiary of the other, nor does either control the other. The Stanley Company of America is the largest operating chain of theaters in its locale in the East, just as West Coast Theaters is the largest chain in the field in which it operates. The only actual connection between the two companies is that between them they control in excess of 50 per cent of the stock of First National Pictures."

Department Store to Pay Stock Extra

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Directors of R. H. Macy & Co., department store, declared a stock dividend of 5 per cent, payable February 15 to holders of record January 28, in addition to the regular cash dividend of $1.25 a share, payable on the same date. The action was taken at an adjourned meeting of directors.

The quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the common stock of American Piano Company, due at this time, was omitted, but the regular quarterly of 1 3-4 per cent on the preferred was authorized, payable January 1 to stock of record December 10. Conditions in the industry the first nine months this year had adversely affected the company's earnings, said C. K. Wagner, president, and while improvement was now apparent, conservation of cash resources was advisable for the company's proposed plan for development.

Levy, Oxnard, Dean, Witter & Co., and the Anglo London Paris Company made a syndicate offer of $420 for the water and $455 for the sewer bonds, each at 4 1-4 per cent; and the First Securities Company offered $2469 for the sewer bonds at 4½ per cent. There were several other irregular bids.

New Power and Textile Bonds Due Out Soon

New issues recently underwritten and expected to be offered in this market shortly include $2,000,000 of Wisconsin Hydro Electric Company first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, series of 1947, and an issue of La France Textile Industries, Inc., first mortgage 6 per cent bonds.

A banking group headed by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc., and Coffin & Burr Inc., has underwritten the Wisconsin power securities. The bonds will be redeemable at the company's option on any interest payment date before October 2, 1928, at 105 and accrued interest, and at specific prices in subsequent years. The company operates in Wisconsin.

La France Textile Industries has sold its liens to a group headed by the Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust Company of New York. The company is one of the leaders in the design and manufacture of tapestries, mohairs, velours, plushes and other fabrics used for furniture coverings and for decorative purposes.

LONDON, Nov. 23. (By Wireless) Markets were irregular today. Columbia Gramophone had a sharp fall from which it is now recovering. The drop was chiefly due to its unwieldy speculative position. Celanese and other silk shares were firm. Courtaulds was leading the group.

Brazils were the feature of strength in the foreign market. South African Mines were generally lower.

DeBeers Diamond was steady. In its annual report the directors, in referring to the recent fall in prices in connection with the alluvial discoveries, expressed a hope that the position would be relieved when the alluvial production was placed under control by the passage of the precious-stones bill.

The Cunard and White Star Line has lowered the freight rate for gold shipments from America to London from 3-8 to 1-4 per cent. It is figured that on this basis gold might come from the United States at an exchange rate of $4.89 1-4.

SUPPLY COMPANY FORMED

Redondo Oil Tool and Supply Company will take over a partnership of the same name, according to its application to J. M. Friedlander, State Corporation Commissioner, for a permit to issue stock. The company is a California corporation with a capital stock of 15,000 shares. It was permitted to issue 10,000 shares, 4000 of which will be given in exchange for property. It will operate at Redondo. Officers are W. J. Phillips, W. H. Edmond, D. D. Angle and A. E. Phillips.

NORTHERN OPERATOR BUYS SEAT

Membership on Exchange Sold to Irving H. Kahn of San Francisco

Marking the first instance in which a San Francisco brokerage house has obtained a membership on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, Irving H. Kahn, San Francisco capitalist and a partner of Manheim, Dibbern & Co., was yesterday elected to the roster of the local exchange. Mr Kahn purchased the seat of Francis S Ilher of the First Securities Company for a consideration of $20,000

With this transaction the Los Angeles Stock Exchange firmly establishes itself as fourth among the exchanges of the nation in the matter of seat prices, exceeded in this particular only by the New York Stock Exchange, San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange and New York Curb Market. Recent sales of these three exchanges were respectively at $300,000, $100,000 and $33,000

Mr. Kahn, the new member, is well known in the San Francisco area and it is his intention to establish an office in Los Angeles following his return from abroad next spring. Associated with him as partners in Manheim, Dibbern & Co. which was founded in 1869, are Henry Manheim, George K. Manheim and M. A. Cavanagh. He is also a member of the board of directors of the Bank of Italy and other California corporations.

The current asset sale price is of interest when the comparative youth of the Los Angeles exchange is considered. In 1903 and 1904 memberships brought from $25 to $50, then climbed to $3600, but in 1907 fell back to around $800. Since then the price has gradually advanced, and, according to recent bids, the next sale may be materially above $20,000.

STOCKS OFF AS TRADING ALSO LIGHT

Bancitaly Only Major Issue to Close Higher; Oils Show Weakness

Trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday was in reduced volume and the general trend of prices was downward. In fact, Bancitaly Corporation in the miscellaneous group and Sunnyside Consolidated in the mining list were the only issues in the entire list to close higher than on the preceding day, and their gains were only fractional. Bancitaly added ½ point to 124 7-8 on a fair volume, while Sunnyside added ⅛ cent to 11⅛ on a small turnover.

Bank of Italy closed 3-4 of a point lower at 222 on a turnover of 991 shares, while Bank of Italy rights held firm at 8 1-4 with a volume of 684 shares. Los Angeles-First National sold off to 104½, in the early trading but later rallied to a firm close at 105 California Bank again sold at 480, a firm figure.

The public utility list was unchanged with the greatest activity being shown in the Edison issues. Foster & Kleiser sold at the previous price of 13 3-4 and Goodyear Textile held at 99.

Oil shares were again weak. Richfield led the decline, receding 5-8 of a point on a turnover of 4994 shares to a close of 23 7-8. Union of California lost 1-4 point to 44 3-8 and Associates held at 43 1-4. Standard declined a fraction to 55 5-8, as did California Petroleum to 22 3-4.

Boundary Cone lost ½ of a point to 3, which represented the only change in the mining list, with the exception of the small gain in Sunnyside Consolidated.

The aggregate turnover of all stocks amounted to 76,975 shares, while the par value of bond transactions was $106,500.

WABASH FIGHT DISCUSSED

Suit to Restrain Dividend Payments on B and Common Stock Held Full of Interesting Angles

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—What Wall street now likes to term "the Wabash mystery," that is the suit brought against the road by a stockholder to restrain it from paying dividends on the "B" and common stocks is full of interesting possibilities.

The Wabash Railway Company is one of the last of the great undiscomposed of trunk-line systems and during the rather wide fluctuations in the stock in recent times, five important railroads have been mentioned as having secured control of the road in the open market. The roads are the Delaware and Hudson, the Delaware Lackawanna and Western, the New York Central, the Pennsylvania and the Nickel Plate.

John C. Barclay, on his own behalf and on behalf of all holders of the 5 per cent profit-sharing preferred stock A, has brought suit against the Wabash and several individuals because he says the road "claims the right to pay dividends on the preferred stock B and claims the right and threatens to pay dividends on its common stock" without having first paid dividends for prior years on the preferred stock A.

The railway company paid no dividends on its B stock from its organization until April 1, last, and it has never paid dividends on the common. The suit is particularly interesting because it comes a few weeks before the meeting of directors, scheduled for next month, when it is rumored further dividend action is to be considered. If Mr. Barclay is successful in obtaining an injunction on the road it would, of course, be restrained from taking dividend action, even if it wished to. But this may be offset by the action of William Fraser Dickson, a large owner of preferred A.

Mr. Dickson contends that Mr. Barclay does not represent the sentiment of the A stockholders in his suit and cites the fact that he is the owner of several thousand shares of the preferred A stock and still does not believe himself entitled to back dividends. Mr. Barclay owns only 100 shares.

Attorneys for Mr Barclay point out that it is set forth in the preferred A certificates that the holders of such certificates shall be paid 5 per cent before any dividends shall be paid upon any other stock, "but such preferential dividends shall be noncumulative."

One interesting sidelight of Mr. Barclay's bill of complaint is the change which has taken place in the Wabash capital structure. The original capital stock of the road consisted of 1,434,600 shares, as follows: 462,000 preferred A, 490,700 shares of convertible preferred B and 472,900 shares of common. Through conversions of the B stock the capital now outstanding is 893,430 shares of preferred 9, 24,211 shares of B and 668,977 shares of common.

The B stock stands to win either way in the present controversy, so that the matter rests between the preferred A and the common. These two classes of stock are said to be largely held by the various important roads mentioned as being interested in Wabash, leaving a small floating supply. It is in connection with this small floating supply that Wall street pretends to scent a mystery.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—The suit instituted by John G. Barclay of Montclair, N. J., to restrain the Wabash Railway Company from paying dividends on Class B preferred and on common stock pending payment of allegedly overdue dividends on Class A preferred was withdrawn today

Several Lines of Local Trade Held Improving

Several lines of business in Los Angeles territory are showing an improvement, while dry goods, wearing apparel and kindred lines report business volume and profits below a year ago, according to the weekly review of local conditions by the Bradstreet Company.

Holiday novelties are in little demand, although the season is well advanced. Industrial building is keeping up well and the same activity is shown in subdivision property, with prospects more favorable in this line.

Retail stores and chain grocers report small increases in sales over the preceding month with the best part of the year yet to go. Crops and weather conditions are good. Holiday buying is helping the rancher. Receipts of winter produce, while heavy, are finding a ready market with prices good.

Sales Volume Again Reaches Record Proportions

Industrial Group Carried to New High Average

Activity Most Pronounced in Motors and Specials

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Trading in today's stock market crossed 3,000,000 for the second time this year, and only the fifth time in the history of the exchange, in a broad-buying movement which carried the industrial averages to a new high record in which powerful speculative pools were at work. Gains ran from 4 to 12 points, but these were cut down in the late wave of profit taking. The general list was somewhat fixed, and disclosed a scattering of substantial losses.

Except for the continued ease of money rates and a slight increase in the mill operations of the United States Steel Corporation, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movement. Banks called about $10,000,000 in loans and further gold shipments, totaling $5,500,000, were sent to Canada, but call money held steady at 3½ per cent for the fifteenth consecutive session. There was no change in time money and commercial paper rates.

Standard industrials continued to take little part in the turbulent movement of prices, although they changed hands in fairly large volume. More than 50,000 shares of United States Steel common changed hands, the final price of 143 3-4 representing a net gain of 1 3-8 on the day. Total transactions in General Motors approached close to 100,000 shares, but the stock showed a net loss of 3-4 to 128½.

MARKET TRADERS

Speculative activity was most pronounced in the motors, public utilities and specialties. Dodge Brothers issues were heavily bought, but the net gains were relatively small. Paige-Detroit Motor duplicated the year's high of 14½ on a large turnover, but Hupp, Mack Trucks and Packard, recent favorites, lost ground.

Brooklyn Edison soared 11½ points to 198½ and lost 3 on realizing. Brooklyn Union Gas closed 4½ points net higher at 150 1-4, after having touched 153. Radio Corporation, in which the Fisher interests are re-

Wheat and Corn Fraction Down on Evening Up

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—The grain markets developed an easier undertone today, the technical position having been weakened by the bulge of the previous day, and with evening up for the Thanksgiving holiday, prices declined. The close on wheat was at net losses of ¼@⅝c. December finished at 1.29@1.29⅛. May 1.33⅛@1.33⅝. Corn was ⅛@⅜c lower, with December 85⅛c and May 94c. Oats were unchanged to ⅛c lower and rye off ⅛@1⅛c.

Foreign wheat markets failed to respond to the upturn in North America on Tuesday, with Liverpool up only ⅛@1d, which led to scattered local and commission house selling. Later there was pressure on the offical Argentine estimate of 19,700,000 acres this year, or 450,000 acres more than last year. Winnipeg, however, showed relative strength and this tended to restrict new crop operations. The latter market was ⅛@⅜c lower at the last, and showed the effect of the persistent buying by the country of late.

Export demand was slow, with exports of 800,000 to 400,000 bushels in all positions, largely domestics.

Crop reports on wheat from Argentina were somewhat mixed, with the weather for the coming week indicated as stormy and rainy.

Buenos Aires, however, closed ⅛@1⅛c lower, with Rosario 1½c lower. On the basis of yield per acre equaling that of last year, the Argentine wheat crop is estimated at 229,000,000 bushels, or 5,000,000 bushels in excess of 1926. Exportable surplus is expected to be around 183,000,000 bushels, but there will be little wheat carried over into the new season.

There was some selling of May here attributed to spreading operations, with May being bought at Winnipeg. December at Minneapolis went to 4c under Chicago, the widest discount on the crop.

There was little in the corn situation that attracted attention, and with scattered liquidation on in the December, the undertone was somewhat easier. Cash interests bought December and sold the deferred deliveries, with the exception of the nearby delivery under May following to 7½c at the last against 7⅛c on Tuesday. An effort is expected to be made in Congress this year to increase the import duty to 22½c per bushel against 15c tax prevailing at the present time.

Argentine corn markets remain strong, with Buenos Aires closing unchanged, with December 79½c, or ⅝ over Kansas City, while Rosario was unchanged to ⅛c lower, with December 79⅛c. Nothing was heard regarding export demand however. Country offerings to arrive were small.

Oats showed stubborn resistance to selling pressure, with the strong statistical position as compared with last year attracting attention. The movement from the interior is small, and stocks at terminal markets are decreasing. However, the market held within relatively narrow limits, with trade largely of a local character

Southwest liquidation was on in December rye, and with hedging pressure, prices oversaged lower. Support was lacking on the way down. There was some export business put through at the weekend at the best prices on the crop, but quantities were not given.

Longs in November and December lard are liquidating, and packers are said to be doing some hedging. Sales changing from near to distant deliveries was on, and in all a fair business was under way. The advance in hogs failed to affect values of cured product, as the near deliveries of lard closed 7½c lower, and deferred months 2½c lower

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—A renewed buying wave brought about a buoyant tone in the outside crude rubber market. New York spot was actively transacted at 30c, establishing a new high level within the past five months. London spices were strong with spot selling at 18d, up ⅝d from the previous close.

The buying enthusiasm gave further evidence of the expectation of still higher levels as a result of the activities of the British government toward increasing the efficiency of the restriction act.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—A rush of buying orders, reaching the curb market shortly after noon today, carried a long list of miscellaneous issues into new high territory and raised the volume of trading above 400,000 shares for the first time in several weeks. Pressure had been rather general in the morning, but strong support for such issues as Firestone Tire, General Fireproofing, Midland Steel and Newmont Mining introduced an upward movement which soon spread to most sections of the list.

There was some profit taking late in the day as traders prepared for the holiday recess. Firestone, which had advanced 10 points to 170, a new peak, lost half the gain and there were material recessions in the other leaders.

The day's list of new highs included Insurance Company of North America, Club Aluminum, Atlas Plywood, Sparks Withington, and several others which have been active recently.

Illinois Pipe Line reached a new top, but other oil issues were slightly easier. Heavy trading took place in Standard of Indiana at fractionally lower prices, and Vacuum fell back 2 points.

Public Utilities were not particularly active, although America Light and Traction moved up about a point and a half.

Rubine Silks recovered 7 points of its recent slump, and Celanese preferred again headed upward. Industrial Rayon again reached new high on a large volume of heavy buying.

Parajo Sugar, Auburn Auto, Deere & Co., United States Freight and United States Gypsum were among the few weak spots.

A curb market seat was sold at $40,000, a new high record, an increase of $5000 over the previous sale.

To expedite transmission the stocks given a modified abbreviation as the one and half low and close when same as the high

RUMOR SPURS

...Heavy accumulation of Westing-...house Electric, which touched a new ...high at 93 1-4, was attributed to in-...vestors identified with Arthur Cut-...ten, Chicago operator, and was said ...to be based on expectations of large ...distribution contracts within the ...next few years, particularly from the ...Pennsylvania. International Combus-...tion, another favorite speculative ve-...hicle of large operators, advanced ...four points and lost 1 on a total ...volume of more than 100,000 shares.

...Rails displayed a firm undertone, ...with the publication of relatively ...good October earnings statements by ...the Southern Pacific, Wabash and ...Western Maryland roads. Lehigh Val-...ley was bid up nearly 6 points to ...a new all-time high record, and sharp ...gains were recorded by the ...coal issues.

...A holiday atmosphere pervaded the ...commodity markets. Cotton and ...wheat futures were slightly lower. ...Coffee and sugar quotations ...showed little change.

...Sterling for a slight stiffening in ...the foreign exchange market, demand bills being ...offered around $4.87 3-16, there were ...practically no changes of importance ...in the foreign exchange market.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Despite the approach of the holiday, usually the signal for many traders to limit their commitments temporarily, the bond market today was one of the strongest and most active seen in several weeks. Heavy buying in many divisions was in the face of a sudden spurt of new issues, aggregating more than $150,000,000 in two days.

The prompt absorption of the new offerings by dealers gave renewed evidence of the soundness of the money market and probably this was a factor in the market's strength. Easy credit continued to contribute to higher prices, since bond holders are reluctant to relinquish investments when the yield is higher than can be obtained in interest on current loans.

There was considerable disposition on the part of traders to take up issues convertible into strong stocks. Brooklyn Union Gas 5 1-2s jumped 4 points to 235 1-2 and International Paper 6s and Norfolk and Western 6s also advanced sharply to their best prices of the year or longer.

There were, in all, more than thirty new highs scattered through the various groups, and many more issues duplicated their previous peaks. Many of the rails were in new maximum territory, including Erie 3s, Chicago and Alton 3s, "Katy" 4s, St. Paul 4s and "Nickel Plate" 6s.

More than half a million Goodyear 8s changed hands at fractionally improved prices, and there was heavy accumulation of Dodge 6s, which gained a point, crossing 90 for the first time since midsummer. Otis Steel 6s also were strong.

Peruvian bonds were firm, but failed to reach yesterday's peak figures. German Central Bank for Agriculture 6s fell to a new low below 92, but some of the German industrial liens received good support. Japanese, French and Italian obligations were easy.

Only a small amount of business was transacted in the Federal government list, and prices were irregular.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. In expedite transactions, the close is omitted when the same as the last sale and both low and close when same as the high.

THE INVESTOR

Conversion Privilege May Be Chief Factor in Decline of Dodge Brothers Bonds.

BY WILLIAM RUSSELL WHITE

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A puzzling situation has been brought to light by the decline in Dodge Brothers convertible 6 per cent bonds to the point where a yield of more than 8 per cent may be obtained.

Inasmuch as earnings of the motor car company thus far this year indicate interest charges for the twelve months easily should be covered more than three times, investors are at a loss to explain the sharp recession in prices of the bonds from a high of 96 to the low point of 83½. The chief factor, seemingly, has been the conversion of the issue.

This calls attention to the fact that such a privilege may be a handicap as well as an advantage to an obligation. For if a great many investors purchased Dodge Brothers 6s with an idea of speculating on an advantageous opportunity of converting the bonds into stock, they may have become discouraged over the decline in the shares and liquidated the bonds in large volume.

In spite of the fact that the bonds have sold at a discount of more than 10 points from the issuance price, their position actually has been strengthened, for the original amount outstanding has been reduced from $76,000,000 through conversions and sinking-fund retirements to probably less than $57,500,000.

The motor industry is subject to wide business fluctuations, of course, and a bond such as the Dodge 6s may be expected to reflect in a measure changes in the outlook for the company. It is unthinkable that the Dodge management would continue dividends on the preferred shares if it considered such action imperiled interest payments on the bond issue.

Since E. G. Wilmer, president, has indicated the management has no intention of omitting the preferred dividend, it is to be assumed the interest payments are regarded as secure. Earnings and outlook would have to become much worse than at present, it would seem before the position of the bonds might be threatened.

The company's earnings statement for the first nine months of the year revealed a surplus of more than $2,250,000 after providing for Federal taxes and preferred dividends. This showing was regarded as entirely satisfactory in view of the heavy expense involved in introduction of a new six-cylinder model.

Total income was placed at almost $11,700,000, against which was charged an interest item of $2,867,597 to cover requirements for the 6 per cent bonds as well as notes issued in connection with acquisition of Graham Brothers. Even if earnings in the final quarter of the year prove less than expected, it is believed interest charges for the period will be earned. This would provide ample margin for the full year's charges.

tion, near Bakersfield, but the showings have been so good that the company is finding it difficult not to be pretty optimistic. The crew set a string of eleven-inch casing at 3720 feet a couple of days ago, and in another week or ten days a test will be made to see just what is to be expected from the formations below the shoe and the bottom of the hole at 4606 feet.

It is understood that the Kerwin passed through sixty or seventy feet of oil sand in the lower 900 feet of hole, some of it well saturated, and other streaks not so well. Toward the bottom of the hole one or two questionable sands were penetrated, which was one of the reasons for pausing to test.

Peru Oil Deal Gets Approval

LIMA (Peru) Nov. 23. (AP) — The Senate has approved concessions in the Piura department of the Phillips Petroleum Company, in accordance with a contract negotiated by the government.

The contract with the Peruvian government grants the Phillips Petroleum Company a drilling concession on between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 acres of land on the Peruvian coast, according to O. K. Wing, treasurer of the company, in New York. There are a number of producing wells on adjoining land, Wing said. The company does not intend to start production or drilling on the Peruvian concession for some time. The contract provides for royalties to the Peruvian government on oil produced.

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

PORT BOARD IN BUSY MEETING

Several Projects Approved; Others Initiated

Improvements Involve Cost of About $300,000

Wharf and Pilot Fees Touch New High in October

Harbor Commissioners yesterday approved several projects and initiated others looking to the expenditure of almost $300,000 for shed and wharf extensions and other additions to meet steamship lines' growing demand for more berthage space. Incidentally the controller's report for October shows wharfage and pilotage receipts the greatest in the port's history.

Heading the improvement items is the proposal to extend the city-owned wharf and sheds leased to American Hawaiian Steamship Company at Berths 174-176, at an estimated cost of $175,000. This 1120-foot wharf would be increased to 1312 feet, and the 768-foot shed would be extended to 1024 feet with a width of 150. Additional tracks, paving, platforms and a ramp are involved in the proposal.

The shed would be of steel and sheet metal with reinforced concrete foundation resting on treated concrete piling, the open wharf of creosoted timber and piling. General Manager Cole and commissioners will study the site personally before recommending action next week.

Similar action will be taken on a proposal to extend the Lasco Line shed at Berth 158 for a distance of 108 feet at a cost of $27,000.

Construction was authorized for a 250-foot extension of the wharf at Union Oil Company's Berth 151 at a cost of $63,000, and a permit was granted Pan-American Petroleum Company for a 20,000-gallon storage tank for Diesel oil on the main channel.

Plans also were authorized drawn for 105 feet of new wharfage at Berth 90 at a cost of $21,000, which will permit an eventual extension of the present shed at that berth another 135 feet. This would give a total improved frontage in the area of 855 feet, sufficient to tie up two ships simultaneously and relieve congestion.

Looking also to the relief of the battleships, whose moorings occasionally have stirred shallow mud, the commission authorized Merritt, Chapman & Scott Corporation to deepen the anchorages at a cost of $22,990.90, the work to start in thirty days.

C. H. Baxter & Co. also was awarded contract for creosoted lumber for extensions to McCormick's wharf at Berths 177-178 at a cost of $10,859.87. Bids were opened but no awards made on $160,000 of new insurance on the Harbor Department's floating equipment, with Rule & Son and Charles Brough Company low, quoting premiums around $4100.

Revenues to the department reached $168,901.71 for October, exceeding the same month a year ago by $18,000 and approaching the record, according to Burt Edwards, controller. Every item reflected a gain, the principal ones being wharfage $67,136, pilotage $21,749.12, land rentals $22,023.16, dockage $15,120.80 and Municipal Belt Line Railway $11,312.07.

EAST COAST SPEED BOATS IN ON STEAMER

Three small east-coast speed boats one holder of a national title, arrived on the American Hawaiian steamer Nevadan from New York yesterday to participate in races at San Diego December 10 and 11.

The craft are the Miss Westchester, owned by W. T. Hammond of New York; Miss New Yorker, owned by D. W. Campbell of Gotham, and the Miss Spitfire V, belonging to J. H. Rand, Jr., of Buffalo.

The Miss Spitfire V holds the world record for racers with 122-inch piston displacement and her owner holds the Elgin national trophy.

The American Hawaiian line adopted a policy two years ago of hauling gratis all yachts destined for regattas as a stimulation to the sport.

The Coast Guard cutter Cahokia arrived in port from northern waters yesterday after a scouting cruise and will put to sea again in a day or so. While not attached to Base 17, she is expected to prospect off-shore waters here following reports several rum runners are near and threatening to start a drive to smuggle liquor ashore. The Coast Guard subchaser Smith, sent down here from San Francisco a week ago for temporary duty, returned to the northern port yesterday afternoon.

California sardines for Sardinia, is the paradoxical shipment to be loaded aboard the Italian steamer Brenta for the Mediterranean Friday. The vessel will take several hundred tons of cotton and miscellaneous cargo. The Brenta is making her first visit here, the only stop between Vancouver and the Mediterranean. She belongs to Navigazione Libera Triestina, represented on this coast by General Steamship Corporation. Capt. H. H. Birkholm, agent here for the latter, announces the scheduled arrival Friday also of the French steamer Montana, to pick up 600 tons of which, incidentally, some will be sanked for France.

The Lasco liner City of Los Angeles is due at her dock at 11:30 a.m. Friday with 110 passengers and several thousand tons of freight from Hawaii, according to radio advices from the liner yesterday. The Calawall of the same line, went to the Los Angeles shipyards yesterday for repairs to her port tail shaft and cleaning and painting, preparatory to her departure for the islands Saturday. Heavy bookings are reported on the Lasco coastwise liners over Thanksgiving week-end, due to special rates on the Yale and Harvard. Today is the final departure date on the special rates, the return limit on which is the 28th inst.

Benjamin Franklin, the ship, not the man, came in from Norway yesterday. She is a new motor liner on her second trip here since being built for the Norway Pacific line. Several passengers disembarked and the vessel is discharging 2200 tons of European rags, steel and paper and 15,000 stems of Central American bananas.

The fishing boat Vitality is outfitting for a trip around the tip of Lower California and up the Gulf of California, one of the longest trips for a local craft of the kind. John Martinovich, the owner and captain, will take a crew of nine, and expects to be gone twenty to twenty-five days in quest of white sea bass, a new importation now reaching here by way of Yuma and Calexico in fast refrigerated trucks. The craft was built eight months ago by Yamoto at his Fish Harbor works at a cost of $36,000. She is an eighty-four-footer, with 200-horsepower Atlas Imperial gas engines, giving her a speed of eleven knots, on a consumption of ten gallons of gasoline hourly. Her tanks carry 4000 gallons and her holds are sufficient for eighty tons of fish. A similar trip was made by a San Pedro boat a year ago with success, although the experiment never was repeated.

Harbor Commissioners yesterday disclaimed responsibility for damage done in collision of the tanker Satanta and the dredge San Francisco No. 2 in the main channel two months ago. The claim against the city was made by General Petroleum Corporation because a city pilot was on the Satanta during the accident. General Manager Cole, in recommending against the claim, said he had learned the Satanta had signaled she would pass the dredge on one side, and that it was only when the tanker was almost abreast that the dredge signaled to pass on the other.

Fruit-Rate Cut Fought in Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Forty-seven railroads of the United States, representing 450 carriers, filed suit in the Federal court here today against the government and the Interstate Commission Commission seeking an injunction to suspend the commission's order reducing rates on deciduous fruit shipments from California to eastern points.

The rates, which were made effective October 10, were opposed by fruit shippers at hearings held in Washington several months ago.

Federal Judge Kerrigan heard the motion for an injunction today and then ordered government and Interstate Commerce Commission attorneys to appear before him December 15 to show cause why the new rates should not be suspended and an injunction issued restraining enforcement of them.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

ALBANY (Nueva York), Noviembre 23.—La señora Ruth Brown Snyder, de la aldea de Queens, madre y esposa, y Henry Judd Gray, su querido, vendedor de corsés en East Orange (Nueva Jersey), pagarán con la vida, una noche de la semana que comienza el próximo 9 de Enero, el asesinato del marido de ella, Albert Snyder, artista y editor.

Seguirá Funcionando la Guillotina en Francia

PARIS, Noviembre 23.—A despecho del movimiento que ha habido en favor de la supresión de la pena de muerte, seguirá funcionando la guillotina, que es el instrumento oficial de ejecución en Francia. El proyecto de ley que proponía la derogación de la pena de muerte fue rechazado hoy por votación de 6 a 7 en la comisión parlamentaria de Legislación Civil y Penal.

Será Resguardada una Mina en Méjico

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Noviembre 23. La empresa minera Amparo, de Etzatlán, Estado de Jalisco, que es de propiedad norteamericana, se halla protegida ahora por competente fuerza de tropas federales, con lo que se han removido definitiva y satisfactoriamente ciertas dificultades que amenazaban ser graves hace unos cuantos meses. Tales son los informes enviados hoy a la embajada yanqui por el cónsul de los Estados Unidos en Guadalajara. Debido a las huelgas y a las operaciones de gavillas de bandoleros, las minas de Amparo tuvieron que pedir hace varios meses protección a la embajada, y ésta solicitó del gobierno mejicano un resguardo para dichas propiedades.

Playground and Planning Members Named

Two hours before leaving the city to view the University of California-Notre Dame football game at Chicago, Mayor Cryer yesterday submitted to the Council his third selection for the vacancy on the Board of Harbor Commissioners along with two other appointments.

He sent in the name of J. A. Crawford, vice-president and general manager of the Republic Supply Company, for the Harbor Board; Robert S. [illegible] for the Playground Commission and F. W. Gollum for the Planning Commission.

The appointments will be referred to the Council, and must be approved by it before they will be effective. Terms of office of Mathes for the Harbor Board expire July. Mayor Cryer renominated him for a long term. The Council rejected him when Mayor Cryer named George A. [illegible], head of the Union Rock Company. Again the Council rejected the selection.

EXPOSITION OF BUILDERS' ART TO OPEN

Construction Industry's First Annual Show to be Pretentious Undertaking

The first annual Builders' Exposition of Southern California will open its doors to the public at the Shrine Auditorium Monday evening at 8 o'clock with the entire building and construction industry on dress parade according to an announcement made yesterday by Guy E. Livingston, general manager of the show. For the remainder of the week, says Mr. Livingston, the doors of the auditorium will be open at 2 p.m. daily, closing at 10 p.m.

The initial announcement brought forth indorsement from the leaders of the industry, including the National Association of Builders' Exchanges, Washington, which issued a call calling attention to the activities of the local exchange in developing every phase of the industry—the largest in California.

The construction of a height-limit building to the smallest garage, including all interior trimmings, decorating and installations, to the planning and financing end, the exposition will be one of the most comprehensive displays the building and construction industry has ever undertaken under one roof.

DOG'S GHOST WILL BARK FOR COURT

Suit for $250,000 Starts Wednesday Over Killing of Peter The Great, Actor

Peter the Great is dead and has been for a long time, but the quarrel that resulted in his death still goes on.

Next Wednesday there will go to trial before a jury in Judge Fleming's court a suit for $250,000 damages growing out of the shooting of the once well-known film dog.

Charles B. Dreyer and Edward Faust, owners of the dog, demand $150,000 from Fred Cyriacks (who they say shot him) as the measure of his monetary worth to them and another $100,000 as a penalty for the malice which they say Cyriacks displayed in the matter.

Cyriacks in his pleadings admits the dog died from a shot he fired, but denies he shot maliciously and contends that the plaintiffs have highly overvalued the dog. Peter the Great was only an ordinary police dog and not worth more.

This is where Miss Anona Weissman enters the case. She was in Judge Fleming's court yesterday when the case was scheduled to be heard. She is a fancier of police dogs and had been subpoenaed by Cyriacks to testify as to the dog's actual value.

Dreyer and Faust are said to have been engaged in a dispute with Cyriacks on June 6, 1926. The dog was in the rear seat of their car at the time. Cyriacks is said to have fired a bullet that killed the dog and then passed through the hat of George A. Kemplin, a passenger.

LAMBS TO BE EXHIBITED

An assortment of black and white baby lambs arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from the Vail ranch at Calipatria to appear as exhibits of ideal household pets at the Christmas bird and pet show at the Germain Seed and Plant Company, Sixth and Main streets, Saturday. Many other types of household pets will be exhibited at the show.

JURORS DECLINE TO INDICT PAYNE

Action Against Auditor Put Off After Legal Advice

Lull Follows in Battle Over Legality of Pay Rolls

Official Tells of Correction in Clerk's $1600 Error

The controversy between County Auditor Payne and the county grand jury over payment of the jury auditor's pay rolls, experienced a lull yesterday when in the face of legal advice given by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Eagan and Chief Deputy District-Attorney Davis, the grand jury declined to issue an indictment against Payne.

Payne previously stated that he expected to be indicted over a $1600 error which one of his clerks made but which was corrected at a later date. Supervisor Cogswell was called before the grand jury early this week to testify in this regard as he signed the voucher in question.

When the grand jury opened its session yesterday, it strongly favored immediate action against Payne, it was learned from reliable sources, but after hearing numerous legal opinions on the proposed action it adjourned until Monday without taking action.

In discussing the question Payne stated that he since has discharged the clerk who made the error and the change in the books has been made in a routine manner to correct the totals.

The differences between Payne and the grand jury arose when Payne refused to pay the pay rolls of Grand Jury Auditor Ritter, charging that the Auditor had exceeded his jurisdiction and could not be paid legally. The grand jury countered with charges that Payne was attempting to block an audit of flood-control books.

TRACES OF FROST SEEN YESTERDAY

Low-Lying Areas Report First Touch of Season; Forecast Today, Warmer

Traces of the first frost of the season were reported to the Weather Bureau yesterday from low areas in the citrus district from Azusa to San Bernardino and Redlands and around El Cajon and Escondido. No damage was reported, the frost being light and the temperature considerably above the smudging point.

Late last night bureau officials were of the opinion that some frost again might occur in the areas before this morning but that again the temperature would still be safely above the mark where smudge fires would be required to protect crops.

Yesterday's minimum temperature in Los Angeles was 50 deg. at 6:30 a.m. This is a degree above the season's minimum of 49, reached at 7:45 a.m. Tuesday. The average of November minimums is 49.9.

The official forecast issued yesterday is: Fair with moderate temperature Thursday and probably Friday.

The peak of the cool wave passed with the dawn of today, according to bureau prediction.

SAN BERNARDINO VALLEY PREPARES SMUDGE POTS

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 23. (Exclusive) — The first dangerously low temperature of the winter season was recorded in San Bernardino early this morning when the mercury fell to 32.5 deg., ½ deg. above freezing, registered at the office of Dr. A. K. Johnson, local weather observer, between the hours of 5:30 and 7 this morning.

No damage was done to citrus fruits by the low temperature. However, smudge pots are already being set out in the groves and although no immediate use is expected to be necessary they will be ready if the mercury drops lower.

Smudging was not started last year until about the middle of December but this year, from all temperature indications, it will be early in December that smudgers get their first action. The low temperature was general throughout the valley.

CLOTHES CUSTOMER SOUGHT

Detectives are searching for a man who gave two asserted valueless checks to the manager of Shaffner's, Inc., clothing store at 6367 Hollywood Boulevard, in payment for a suit of clothes yesterday. He signed his name as Uriel Mortinson, and is said to have been introduced to the manager by Jack Daugherty under that name. Both checks were returned marked "Account closed," according to the clothier.

LOS ANGELES READY FOR HOLIDAY FEAST

Markets and Stores Report Busy Time as City Prepares for Festivities; Needy Families Will Not be Overlooked

With songs and service for the spiritual man and with feasts and sports for the physical man, Los Angeles and vicinity last night awaited the dawn of what promises to be a happy and satisfying Thanksgiving. Hurrying crowds of shoppers downtown and in the outlying business districts put the finishing touches on their purchases for the feast day. Judging from the size of the business done at the stores and market and from reports that came into headquarters of the California Retail Grocers' Association, there is going to be more than enough of the viands of the and to go around and even plenty to spare.

Churchmen of the city have been preparing for days to put on special Thanksgiving services, the backbone of this purely American holiday. The services this year promise to be more elaborate and inspiring than ever.

SHARING WITH FELLOWS

And having given a thought to the solemn purpose of the day Los Angeles will give itself over to the day's festivities and to sharing the bounties of the land with their less fortunate fellows.

A number of dinners for the poor have been planned, not alone through the recognized agencies, but in many cases through individuals. The Salvation Army has a full day of services and dinners planned. Four hundred homeless men will be given a dinner by the Army at the Men's Industrial Hotel, conducted by the Salvation Army, 127 Weller street, beginning at 1 p.m. today. Arrangements will be in charge of Col. Gooding.

At the Army's headquarters, 832 West Ninth street, there will be a dinner for 100 elderly men and women whose needy condition has been reported to the Army. Brief services will precede the dinner, the affair being in charge of Ensigns Connie Bly and E. Batchelor. This dinner will be cooked and served by the women of the Salvation Army Home League.

Patrons Urged to Mail Before December 10

Matter placed in the mails before December 10 can be handled easily and satisfactorily, Postmaster O'Brien announced yesterday. He urged patrons of the postoffice to deposit mail before that date if possible, and to hold advertising matter until the first week in January if its value would be lessened by too early mailing.

The department is ready to handle a large Christmas mail, he said, the capacity of the service being elastic, but much more pleasing results may be obtained by advertisers if they will follow his suggestion. Particular attention will be given to announcements of sales opening on January 3, if these are brought to the Arcade substation in bundles labeled "January 3—sales announcements."

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Among union Thanksgiving services of interest will be that to be conducted this evening at the Methodist Church in Pleasant Valley. An elaborate musical program has been arranged and the sermon will be by Rev. John Ovall.

Religious Wave Predicted for Russian People

"Just as the severity of the Czar's regime resulted in the swinging of the pendulum to the opposite extreme, which borders on confusion and licentiousness, so the present materialism and defiant atheism in Russia, so incongruous with the innately mystical and idealistic tendencies of the Slavs, will result in a religious understanding that will astound the world," said Adrian Sasha, in an address on "The Future of Russia" last night at the Hollywood Metaphysical Fellowship, 6055 Hollywood Boulevard.

But due to the present manner of educating its youth, the speaker asserted, Russia never will revert to orthodox religion, but rather adhere to universal principles, as a combination of inspiration and science, in all modes of conduct.

Mr. Sasha will give three lectures today at the fellowship headquarters and Saturday will lecture twice at the same place.

DAVIS AND RYAN RENEW BATTLE

Double-Cross Charge Hurled on McPherson Letter

Ex-Official Lays Chicanery to Chief Deputy

Statement Says Keyes Not Named in Plaint

The smoldering feud between Chief Deputy District-Attorney Davis and former Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ryan, which flared up Tuesday when Ryan resigned and hurled sizzling charges at the District Attorney's office, yesterday simmered down to a battle of statements between the pair.

Davis opened the day's battle with a charge that Ryan, investigator in the Aimee Semple McPherson case, "double-crossed" Dist.-Atty. Keyes when he addressed a letter to his chief commending his action in dismissing the charges against the evangelist.

Ryan immediately parried with the assertion that his "commendation" of the District Attorney's policy in the McPherson case was long before the sensational disclosure of the Carmel evidence against Mrs. McPherson and before she was brought to trial in charges of obstructing justice.

NOT AIMED AT KEYES

Several other statements were bantered back and forth during the day and finally Davis referred his interviewers to his statements the day previous, when he asserted Ryan was fostering political ambitions to become District Attorney. There Davis stood pat, while Ryan issued the following statements:

"My resignation plainly stated that it is Harold Davis and not Asa Keyes who is responsible for the present conditions in the District Attorney's office. I have at no time made any accusation against Mr. Keyes personally. I believe him to be ill-advised by Harold Davis. It is unfortunate that a District Attorney is held responsible for the chicanery of his chief deputy.

"JOSEPH W. RYAN."

POLITICS HINTED

When the barrage of statements was over reports that Ryan's sensational resignation from the District Attorney's office would bring a reopening of the McPherson case were found to be without foundation.

"I have turned Ryan's resignation and my reply over to the grand jury for their pleasure," Davis said. "If the McPherson case is to be reopened it's Ryan's move. If he has any additional evidence concerning the McPherson case or its handling he has the liberty of presenting that evidence to the grand jury."

Meanwhile various political rumors flew hither and yon, but Davis refused to be bothered, while Dist.-Atty. Keyes is reported hunting big game in the mountains on a fourteen-day leave of absence.

LONG BEACH FIRE BRINGS HEAVY LOSS

Craig Shipyards Building Burns in $70,000 Blaze; Sailor Hurt, Then Jailed

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 23.—The machine shops and foundry of the Craig Shipbuilding and Tool Company, at Water and Broadway here were fully destroyed by fire tonight with a total loss estimated at close to $70,000.

The fire was a three-alarm affair, one of the largest in the history of Long Beach. By the time the fire-fighting equipment had arrived the entire structure was in flames.

Although the estimated damage of approximately $70,000 was considered correct, George Craig, a member of the firm, said, "It is impossible tonight to determine the exact amount of damage." It is understood that valuable oil-well tools, lathes and patterns were destroyed in the blaze.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought to have started from molten metal in the casting portion of the shops.

One casualty, a sailor, F. S. Dobie of the U.S.S. Mississippi was reported. Dobie was near the scene of the fire and rushed into the blazing building. He was removed to a hospital with burned hands and later booked at the police station on a charge of intoxication. It is probable that he will be turned over to the naval patrol from the battle fleet today.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

It would puzzle any native-born to explain to a questioning foreigner justy why this wild and violent man is at liberty.

SECOND-HAND CLOTHES

The morale of the army is not being improved—says the inspector-general—by the fact that the soldiers have to wear second-hand clothes, left over from the war.

Our army is one of the best in the world; and the shabbiest. No soldier can feel any pride in the service when dressed in overalls.

WINTER TOURISTS

There are winter tourists not on the hotel registers.

One lone ring-neck duck has just appeared at Westlake Park for his fifth consecutive winter. Every day at dawn the wild ducks come in to spend the day at the park; at nightfall they are on their way again.

A NEAR PRINCE

Although the Paris correspondents are shocked that Dorothy Cruikshank Cochrane, the American heiress, should have married a Balkan prince whose title doesn't seem to hold water, my personal opinion is that she has made a good bet.

A bogus prince is in every way more satisfactory than a real one. For one thing, they look more like princes; and, further than that, they have to behave better.

All the blushing bride has to do is occasionally to finger the Almanac de Gotha in a meditative manner.

Then, again, it is barely possible that the rich American young lady married the person because she really liked him. Such things have happened.

ONLY AMERICANS

I don't see where there is much chance for the stricken districts of Vermont to get any financial help in their dire emergency. After all, they are only Americans.

A CHARMING COUNTRY

New Zealand has reared up its head in protest against being lumped with Australia as "Australasia"—being neither Australia nor Asia.

Recently there came to Los Angeles the most traveled gentleman I have ever known. He had been to every spot on the map—two or three times. He said that the most interesting and charming places in the world were South Africa and New Zealand.

Health Address by Lovell to be Omitted Today

There will be no talk by Dr. Philip M. Lovell in the Manufacturers Exhibit today, this being Thanksgiving, and the displays will be closed all day. The talks will be resumed next week.

Mrs. Maybelle Wyman will have her usual cooking class in the food demonstration room of the exhibit tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. The room is completed and makes an attractive auditorium with room for 800 persons.

Methods used in sending pictures over telephone circuits were explained last night to the members of the journalism class of the University of California in Los Angeles extension division, and their instructor, Orlando Northcutt, at the telephotograph department of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company at 740 South Olive street.

CLUB TOLD CRIMINAL WINS

U.S.C. Law School Dean Says Majority Never Caught and of Those Arrested Many Escape

Despite proverbs about what is supposed to happen to the person who commits a crime the country suffers from "crime waves," and one of the reasons is lack of information about causes and treatment of crime, in the opinion of Dean Justin Miller of University of Southern California law school.

In a talk before the City Club yesterday, Dean Miller told his hearers that regardless of the advisability of saying so, "the 'criminal' does win, because a great majority of them never are apprehended, and a great number of the apprehended never are brought to trial." He mentioned politics and sentiment as two great outside elements entering into treatment of apprehended criminals.

POINTS OUT PROBLEM

It is in the problem of the administration of criminal laws that we have our greatest puzzle and the greatest opportunity for improvement," he said. "Much of the trouble is due to a lack of training and understanding and to the selection of those who administer the laws."

"In view of what is going on in the District Attorney's office just now, Dean Miller's remarks were most interesting." President Hugh Pomeroy of the club, commented in concluding the luncheon meeting.

"The present generation of lawyers," Dean Miller said, also in his address, "has evaded its responsibilities toward remaking criminal law."

He explained criminal law as principally for the protection of some institution, such as, formerly, the church and, typically, the family.

"When we value an institution highly, we enact and enforce laws protecting it with enthusiasm and when we come to hold it in less esteem it is not so much the object of protection and laws concerning it are not so well enforced.

SUGGESTS METHODS

"The first of our present problems is a restatement, a reclassification and re-expression of our determination of criminal law."

THANKSGIVING GREETING GIVEN TO LOS ANGELES BY PASTORS

We the undersigned clergymen of Los Angeles representing many religious denominations unite in extending our warm greetings to our fellow citizens and thank our Heavenly Father for His many blessings, material and spiritual.

We realize the blessing and the privilege of living under the Stars and Stripes. We would keep alive the fundamentals of American freedom and democracy. Differing in some religious convictions, we are yet able to agree in many things.

We realize that if America is to endure and if religion is to prove worthy of its place in the hearts of humanity, it is our duty and obligation to feel kindly one toward the other and to manifest the spirit of goodwill and of peace to our fellowmen. There can be no world peace until peace reigns in the hearts of all the members of the human family. Therefore we unite in expressing to our fellow-citizens of all faiths our best wishes for a happy Thanksgiving and invoke the blessing of our common Father upon them all.

NEW NAVAL PLANE SUCCESS

Craft Built for Battle Fleet Meets All Acceptance Requirements and Sets Mark in Take-off

Signal advancement in the air arm of the battle fleet was assured yesterday with news from the Navy Department that the first of the 130 new Vought Corsair fighting-observation planes has successfully passed all acceptance tests. The new Voughts, to be known officially as type 02U, are said to be superior at high altitudes to any other fighting plane in existence.

A new world's record for seaplane take-off was established by the test Corsair, flown by Lieut. John W. Iseman, U.S.N., in getting off with a full load in five seconds. In the same flight the craft made a speed, while fully loaded, of 153.5 miles an hour. The Corsairs are powered with the new Pratt & Whitney 425-horsepower air-cooled engine and will replace, on all battleships and cruisers, the UO-type shipboard fighters and spotting planes now in general use. The 130 planes will represent an expenditure of approximately $2,500,000.

A closely guarded feature of the Corsairs is their method of machine-gun emplacement, a secret of the Navy, whereby the guns shoot forward but not through the propeller, as at present in fighting planes. As a result, the complicated machinery of synchronizing the flight of bullets with the movement of the propeller has been eliminated. By the new method, it is reported, new navy fighters will have as many as five machine guns, all capable of being fired in a simultaneous burst.

Plans also are under way for the giant new aircraft carrier Saratoga, commissioned at Camden, N. J., on the 16th inst., to proceed directly here to join the battle fleet on her shakedown cruise, providing for her arrival in late January rather than in March, as originally scheduled.

The new move is contemplated to give the aircraft squadrons basing on the Saratoga much-needed experience operating directly with the fleet, so that they will be in complete co-ordination with other fleet arms during the Hawaiian maneuvers next spring and summer.

SUSPECTED IN SECOND DEATH

Sixteen-Year-Old Youth Tells of Robbery and Fight

Captured in Chino Following Escape in Hail of Lead

Denies Part in Murder of Other Long Beach Victim

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 23.—Charged with the murder of Frank E. Fisher, aged Civil War veteran, on September 6, last, Richard Robert Haver, 16 years of age, was taken into custody by Detectives Sergeants Smith and Alyea in Chino late today.

The lad confessed attempting to burglarize Foster's house, according to the officers, and admitted that he struggled with the old soldier, pushing him through an open door. Young Haver expressed the opinion that Foster landed on his head on the sidewalk outside, and that his skull was fractured by the fall.

The youth is said by police to have admitted burglarizing several houses in the neighborhood of the one in which O. B. Hartman was murdered, but denied his guilt of the slaying.

LINKS IN EVIDENCE

The arrest yesterday of Ralph A. Matthews, 28-year-old sign painter of Los Angeles, the recovery of a watch stolen in one of the long series of burglaries laid to the door of the youth, and the questioning of a woman, gave police sufficient evidence, they said, on which to base a complaint charging young Haver with the murder of Foster. Whether he will be charged with the slaying of Hartman, who was attacked in his house by a burglar on September 26, last, depends on the results of further investigation, police said.

Haver, son of a wealthy Los Angeles man, was caught on the morning of September 27 in the police net set to catch the "pants burglar." He was discovered driving an automobile in the residential district where the burglar-murderer had operated. When Patrolman Chickering attempted to stop him, the youth fled in the machine, amid a hail of bullets from the officer's revolver. An hour later he was arrested by Patrolman Hastings. The boy was on foot.

THEFT CONFESSED

At the police station he confessed to the theft of the automobile he had been seen in an hour before and told officers where he had abandoned it. It was found riddled with bullets. The capture of the boy occurred two hours after Hartman had been attacked in his sleep by a burglar.

Charged with grand theft, young Haver later was sent to a boys' school at Chino, where police went to arrest him this afternoon.

Foster died as a result of an attack by a burglar whom he surprised in his home at 3 o'clock in the morning. The old man apparently was struck on the head by the intruder and was hurled through an open door into a garden. He died at a local hospital two hours later. Foster's was only one of a number of homes entered by a burglar that night, police records show. A watch taken in a burglary committed the same night in the next block, is said by police to have been the clew that led to Haver's arrest. It is contended by police that all these burglaries, including the one which ended fatally for Foster, were committed by the same person.

STRUCK ON HEAD

Hartman, second victim of the "pants burglar," was struck on the head while he slept in bed at his home, 1726 Lime avenue, on the night of September 26. Hartman regained consciousness about 5 o'clock in the morning, and finding himself lying in a pool of blood, awoke the household. Police, who were called, found Hartman's pants, with $4 missing from its pockets, on the lawn outside the house. It is believed by police that the burglar, working in Hartman's bedroom, was startled by Hartman's movements in his sleep, and attacked him, fearing he would awake and spread the alarm. Hartman died at his home ten days after the attack.

The operations of the "pants burglar" and the brutal attacks on Foster and later on Hartman, aroused Long Beach as no crime has aroused it before. Delegations of irate citizens demanded of the City Council that something be done to capture him and the Council finally authorized a reward of $500 for his arrest and conviction. This reward was supplemented by one of $150, offered by the local post of the Grand Army of the Republic, of which Foster had been a member.

PANTAGES FAMILY TAKES THE AIR

ALEX PANTAGES'S son Lloyd and daughter Carmen got him up in the air yesterday for the first time in his life. Intimate friends of the theater magnate have long known that his pet passion is speed. If he bought a motor car it must be the fastest of its kind. When a faster one came along the old one was chucked into the discard and the Pantages family moved a bit faster in the speedier one.

Several days ago Mr Pantages announced that the family would spend Thanksgiving in San Diego and attend the races at Tia Juana. It was to be a motor trip but the young heir and heiress got their heads together and decided that they would much prefer to travel by air. The mother was not so enthusiastic at first, but yielded to pressure and, by a vote of three to one the motion for an air voyage was carried.

When the vaudeville chieftain realized that opposition was futile, he chartered the Maddux air liner, invited John W Considine, Jr., and Dixie Morton, and the party took off at 3:30 p.m. yesterday, bound for San Diego. It included Mr and Mrs. Pantages, Lloyd and Carmen Pantages, Mr. Considine and Miss Morton. They will attend the races at the border town today and return to Los Angeles tomorrow again by air.

Radio Amateurs Protest Limits

A chain radiogram protest to be sent by all radio amateurs in the country to Senator Shortridge, protesting against further limiting of the present air band for amateur operators, was started last night at a meeting at the home of Robert F. Parrish, 5155 South Gramercy Place.

The amateurs declare that with present restrictions they do not interfere with commercial or government stations and that since conditions are crowded as they are it would be impossible for them to operate at all in a more limited band.

They also protest against putting amateur operators of other countries on the same band, which is proposed and which they contend would make amateur conditions impossible. About twenty-five operators attended the meeting. Further steps will be taken at a meeting to be held next Wednesday night.

Engineer Asks for Aid on His Peat Fire Plans

A request to employ a group of twelve men, transmitted to the Council yesterday by the Board of Public Works, indicates that progress is being made by City Engineer Shaw on his plans to extinguish the West Adams peat-bed fire.

The report states there has been a conference by the Health Department, the City Attorney, a representative of Anita Baldwin, the owner, and City Engineer Shaw and that whatever the outcome of the matter, authority to employ a foreman, a carpenter, a pipe fitter and nine laborers should be granted. The money already is available, the Council having appropriated $14,000 for the purpose.

FIVE MORE TO TOIL ON ROCK PILE

Judge Bullock Assigns Fathers to Year of Labor for Neglect of Children

Additional help was assigned the foreman of the city's newly created rock pile yesterday when Municipal Judge Georgia Bullock sentenced five fathers to a year each at hard labor for failing to provide for their children.

Following are the latest additions to the city pay roll as a result of the magistrate's sentences:

Albert C. Lund, 42 years of age, of 1666 West Fifty-fourth street; Leonard O'Hartnett, 36, of 1416 Griffith avenue; Rene Le Brun, 38, of 2104 Rome Drive; Wesley Holson, 21, of 1430 Crown Hill, and Wallace Haymes, 28.

Deputy City Prosecutor Ida V. Wells, who prosecuted the five defendants, recommended a straight jail sentence in each case so that offspring of the men might receive the usual $2 per day for the duration of their sentences. Recently the City Council appropriated $4000 to go toward the support of such children.

In imposing sentence, the court said others of the kind may expect no leniency if convicted in her department for similar offenses.

HUNT BEGINS FOR MISSING EXPLORERS

Colorado River Expedition Silent Week to be Sought by Government Planes

Alarmed over the silence surrounding the Pathe-Bray Colorado River expedition which embarked two weeks ago for a perilous trip down the gorge of the Colorado from Green River, Ariz., governmental authorities started preparations to send out an airplane search party for the missing navigators when they failed to arrive at Lee's Ferry, Ariz., on schedule last night.

Lieut. Burgess, commanding officer at Clover Field, received orders from Washington through Maj. Daggett, air officer of the Ninth Army Corps Area at San Francisco, to hold his plane in readiness at any moment to leave for the Colorado wilderness area which the party is traversing.

Elaborate radio equipment in charge of Sergt. Herrick of the government signal corps was expected to keep Pathe officials apprised of the expedition's movements through Station WZAZ, in charge of Sergt. Redding, on the Painted Desert.

For the past seven days Sergeant Redding has received no word from the party and fear is felt that either the boat with the radio equipment may have been lost or that mishap may have come to the entire expedition. Relatives of the men are worried and have asked the government to search for the group.

The expedition consisting of twelve men traveling in six boats was formed for the dual purpose of filming scenes for "The Menace" for Pathe-Bray and conducting a geological survey for which purpose E. C. La Rue, formerly of the Geological Survey, was assigned to the party. Others include Leigh Smith, assistant director of the motion-picture; Devergne Barber, magazine writer, two Bray cameramen and eight experienced river boatmen.

Woman Killed by Automobile

Mrs. Emma Harbeson, 65 years of age, was instantly killed last night when struck by an automobile at Pasadena avenue, and Avenue Forty-Five. Homer Sawyer, 4216 Fountain avenue, surrendered to the police and later was released from custody.

The body of the dead woman was taken to the morgue.

LONG TERMS GIVEN DOPE PEDDLERS

Asserted Members of Ring Severely Denounced by Judge as Peril to Society

Sentences of four and one-half years each in McNeil Island penitentiary were given yesterday to three dope peddlers who entered pleas of guilty before United States District Judge Nederer.

The three, John Lando, Charles Dotson and Joe Miceli, are declared by the government agents to be members of a powerful and notorious dope-smuggling ring that operated with headquarters in Denver and had agencies in Los Angeles Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

Before sentencing the defendants, Judge Nederer gave a severe verbal lashing to the men, declaring they were striking at the very foundation of happiness of society by their handling of narcotics. The sentence imposed on the three is one of the heaviest on record in Federal court here.

Lando, Miceli and Dotson were captured last spring on Whittier Boulevard following a running gun battle with Narcotic Inspector Bright and other Federal agents.

CITY READY FOR HOLIDAY FEAST

C. Bell, division commander and his wife, will conduct services for about fifty elderly women who are convalescents at the Army's home there. The members of the Army themselves will conduct Thanksgiving services at the nine corps headquarters at noon today.

In addition to caring for the aged, holiday cheer will be provided for more than 550 lonely men and women who have no homes in which to enjoy the festive meal. A huge Thanksgiving dinner will be served at the Men's Industrial Hotel, 127 Weller street, and a program of recreation and entertainment has been provided for the rest of the day.

"The joy of this service will repay our men and women for crowding this extra work into a day when we all like to be home with our families," Maj. Bell said.

AT MIDNIGHT MISSION

Brother Tom Liddecoat's Midnight Mission expects to serve dinner to about 5000 men at 126 South Los Angeles street, beginning at about 11 a.m. Brother Tom reports that he is in need of a number of women who will volunteer to come and help serve these men. He also would like to have people who can entertain with singing or playing come down and give the "boys" a little entertainment with their turkey. People who had promised to do these things for the mission are not all going to keep their promises, Brother Tom said last night. Volunteers should telephone the mission at MUtual 6427, he said.

A number of the grammar and high schools brought the spirit of Thanksgiving into homes of the poor and needy yesterday. The Boys' and Girls' League of the Hollenbeck Junior High School packed and distributed 83 baskets, each containing the makings of a Thanksgiving dinner, to the poor of the district. The names of the deserving families were supplied by the grammar schools of the district. Each of the high-school students brought something to put in the baskets. It is a yearly custom at the school.

STUDENTS ALSO BUSY

Two other high schools put over some good Thanksgiving teamwork yesterday when the students of the Virgil Junior High School made up and packed fifty-eight baskets which the students of the Central Junior High School distributed to the poor of their district. R. L. Frasher, principal of the Virgil school, had charge of the preparation of the baskets.

Restaurants, hotels and cafes were prepared to give their patrons almost anything and everything in the line of a Thanksgiving dinner. The railroads will put on special service in their dining cars. C. L. McPaul, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, reported that all trains arriving in Los Angeles yesterday carried throngs of people coming in for holiday reunions and dinners.

Travelers on Union Pacific trains on Thanksgiving Day will be served an all-western dinner, according to R. L. Reynolds, assistant superintendent of the dining car and hotel department. California ripe and green olives and Utah celery will provide the relishes and the salads will be California head lettuce and avocados. Baked California duck with Oregon apples and roast Utah turkey will be the special meat courses. Along with these for vegetables will be California artichokes and cauliflower and Idaho Russet potatoes. The dessert list includes California fresh figs, grapes, oranges and strawberries and apple pie made with Yakima (Wash.) apples.

The day's program of sports will be featured by the football games at the Coliseum at 12:30 p.m. between the Los Angeles and Hollywood High School teams and between Occidental College and Hawaii University.

A pre-Thanksgiving celebration was given last night when the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce gave a dinner to about 100 newsboys and other working boys at the chamber's headquarters. There were songs by the boys and speeches by a number of prominent citizens.

FLEET MEN TO EAT 13,000 POUNDS OF TURKEY

Thirteen thousand pounds of Thanksgiving turkey and 20,000 pounds of "trimmings" will be devoured today aboard the twenty ships of the United States battle fleet, based at Los Angeles Harbor.

The holiday repast, with 12,000 sailormen around the festal boards, will cost the Navy $10,500, according to figures supplied by Chief Storekeeper Cleland, aboard the fleet flagship California.

Approximately 75 per cent of the fleet personnel will have leave over the four-day Thanksgiving holiday, which is to be awarded in two sections of forty-eight hours each.

The big event of the week end, however, will be the football game Saturday afternoon at Troma Field, between the elevens representing the U.S.S. Pennsylvania and the U.S.S. Maryland for the championship of the battleship divisions. Dope favors "Tex" Miller's Maryland squad.

Next week the battleship divisions will be at anchor again for machinery overhaul and communication tests. During the fortnight starting December 5, however, the fleet will be at sea for the firing of night battle practice "B."

WALL DEATH REPORT DUE TOMORROW

County Chemist to Give Result of Analysis Made of Woman's Ashes

Results of an analysis of the ashes of Mrs. Marion Hollenbeck Wall, who died from causes as yet undetermined, will be made known by the county chemist tomorrow afternoon, it was announced yesterday by Chief of Detectives Contreras of the District Attorney's office.

The chemist's report is the only outstanding feature left of the investigation into the woman's death ordered by the District Attorney's office. All those questioned have declared they know of no circumstance that would support a theory of poison.

Mrs. Wall, possessed of a fortune estimated at approximately $125,000, died at her home at 215 South Ardmore street on October 18, last, after a two weeks' illness. She left her entire estate to her third husband, Wesley Wall.

Rumors that she might have been the victim of foul play caused an analysis of her vital organs shortly after death, but no poison was found. The rumors continued, however, and an analysis of the ashes of her cremated body for possible traces of arsenic that might have been in the bones was ordered, as well as a general investigation.

Contreras received a letter yesterday intimating that information of importance might be gained by interviewing Mrs. Mary Fehl, 1891½ South Commonwealth avenue, former housekeeper for Mrs. Wall. When questioned Mrs. Fehl asserted that she had no reason to believe that Mrs. Wall died other than a natural death.

CRIMINAL WINS, SAYS EDUCATOR

Dean Miller said, have come crime commissions of various kinds, none of which have been comprehensive or covered the entire situation. Toward this end, he indorsed the movement to create a national government bureau to collect crime information and disburse its findings to crime-studying agencies.

The commission created by the last California Legislature consisting of seven men, and provided with $35,000 cannot possibly cover the ground laid out for it, he asserted, but it may be able to make such studies as will result in a few important laws improving administration, criminal procedure, records, pardons, paroles and probation. He solicited the support of the club for a continuing authorization and financing for this work.

President Pomeroy suggested that work along this line be done between now and the primary election by working among candidates.

FINGERPRINTS GIVE CLEW TO SUSPECT

Alfredo Garcia, recently arrested in Stockton after he had been shot down in attempted burglary was yesterday identified through fingerprints by Detective Lieutenants Beeson and Burris as a suspect who is wanted here for robbing the home of P. B. Millard, 1655 Red Cliff avenue, from which a quantity of jewelry and clothing was stolen.

He also is believed to be Alfred Pinon, who escaped from the Lincoln Heights Jail last summer. Garcia will be brought here as soon as his trial is finished in Stockton.

TRADE SCHOOLS PLAN MEET HERE

Vocational Experts to Talk Shop December 17-20

Program of Conference Will Cover Wide Range

Dates and Topics Announced; 3000 Delegates Due

What vocational training has done for the youth of the country in the past twenty years and what it hopes to do in the future will be the subject of discussion at the American Vocational Association's second annual convention to be held here December 17 to 20, at which 3000 delegates from every State of the Union and several foreign countries will be present.

Among the men of outstanding interest in this branch of education are A. W. Crawford, director of vocational education, Canada; A. Frigon, general director of technical education, Province of Quebec; M. M. Cline, Bureau of Education, and Lucile R. Allen, Federal Board for Vocational Education, both of Washington; R. O. Small, State Director of Vocational Education for Massachusetts, and many other educators of distinction from the trade and technical schools of the country.

TO COMPARE NOTES

The general and the sectional meetings will bring together men and women engaged in the teaching of vocational vocations, as well as those who are out in the world and have the vocational business viewpoint. The list of members includes Federal representatives from the Census Bureau, deans and heads of great business institutions.

Sessions will open with a visit to the Frank Wiggins Trade School, Metropolitan Part-Time Continuation School and to agricultural departments of the schools in the Los Angeles city district.

Delegates will attend a banquet in the Biltmore ballroom Saturday evening, at which Edwin A. Lee, president of the American Vocational Association, will preside. Mexico will be represented by M. J. Bernard of Mexico City, director of vocational education; Canada by A. W. Crawford, director of technical education; Hawaii by Jesse R. Cosen, director of vocational education, and the United States by J. C. Wright, director of the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

TOPICS AND SESSIONS

Trade education will be discussed in the Biltmore ballroom on Monday morning; agricultural education will be in session in the auditorium of the Los Angeles Public Library on Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; commercial education will hold its sessions in the Belmont High School on Saturday and Monday mornings; industrial education in the foyer of the Biltmore on Saturday morning; technical teacher training in the private room of the Clark Hotel on Friday morning; vocational guidance in Room 9 of the Biltmore Saturday morning; home economics on Friday morning at the ballroom of the Biltmore; civilian vocational relations in Room 7 of the Biltmore on Saturday morning, and part-time education at the Metropolitan Vocational High School on Monday afternoon.

Entertainments have been arranged for both men and women delegates. These include school trips, sight-seeing trips, visits to moving-picture studios and to other places of interest in the city and surrounding country.

FIRE CHIEF KILLS ENGINEERING ORDINANCES

Measures Building Board Should Have Duties Given to Mechanical Body

Two ordinances adopted by the council last week investing the Board of Mechanical Engineers with additional powers were vetoed yesterday afternoon by Fire Chief Engineer Eryer with the statement that he believes the board should be abolished and its duties assumed by the Board of Building and Safety Commissioners.

The matter will come before the council tomorrow morning, probably being referred to committee. After a fight, in which the political aspect of the board was an issue, the council adopted the ordinances by a vote of 8 to 4 and 8 to 5.

Under the new City Charter, the board was left with supervision over the boilers and elevators outside of oil fields. The two ordinances were passed to give the board authority over oil fields and elevators and to allow the board to accept certificates of competency from deputy State inspectors.

Chief Eryer made the point that it would be better to divide the functions which would very properly be under the jurisdiction of the Board of Building and Safety Commissioners. The council went fully into the matter, studying the charter and various ordinances at length.

Comedian and Actress Wed in Hollywood

Hollywood's bachelor comedian became a benedict yesterday morning when the marriage of Neal Burns, who for eleven years in the role of married life, and Miss Dale Fuller, former musical comedy star, was solemnized at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament in Hollywood.

The wedding, which was the culmination of a six months' courtship by Lloyd Ingalls, was solemnized by Father Welch. Eddie Barry, brother of the groom, was best man, and Miss Mook bridesmaid for both the bride and the groom. The honeymoon will be largely a business affair, as acting in different comedies will keep both the bride and the groom busy for several weeks. Burns now is appearing in a comedy of a young man trying to get married. The bride is appearing currently in a Mack Sennett comedy.

After the honeymoon the couple will reside at their home on Molly Drive, Hollywood.

Y.M.C.A. MAN TO SPEAK

Paul Hanly, managing editor of Boys' Life and Boy's Work, secretary of the world's committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, will give an address on "Boys of the World" next Tuesday at luncheon to be given in his honor at the Y.M.C.A., 715 South

Bad laws, if they exist, should be repealed as soon as possible; still, while they continue in force, for the sake of example they should be religiously observed.

—Abraham Lincoln.

HARD TO BITE

The trouble is that in putting teeth into the law they usually get false ones.

KINGS AFLOAT

Five of the world's reigning monarchs have steam yachts. The rest of them will have to get away on roller skates, or as best they can.

THE CENSOR

Mussolini doesn't want Italian authors to write of love. If they try to take the passion out of Italian literature there will be little left.

BREAKFAST READY

Massachusetts will have a fish painted on the bottom of the new motor license plates. Down there a plate isn't a plate unless it has a codfish on it.

AFTER HOURS

SEEM SHORT

As a people the Scotch are among the tallest people on earth. The men average five feet nine inches. Yet from the way they talk and behave one would think they were always short.

NO SKELETON

The Smithsonian Institution seeks the completed skeleton of an American elephant. There have been many fragments found, but never a complete skeleton. No use in waiting for the Republican one to die.

STILL IN BUSINESS

A total of nearly a billion dollars will be spent this year in the betterment of American railroads. All this in spite of the competition of the motor trucks and busses. It isn't a simple thing to push a railway system out of the picture.

HOW HIGH?

A writer in Popular Mechanics says that 45,000 feet above the earth is as high in the air as man can go. But Boss Finn of San Francisco must have gone higher than that when he learned the result of the recent election in the Bay City.

RESOURCES OF NATURE

In the world there are more than 200,000 different brands of bugs and insects that prey upon trees and plant life. Yet for all that the earth is green and the jungle is mighty. Nature does a wonderful business in give and take.

PASSION FOR PUBLICITY

Over in England divorce cases are said to have doubled in number since the passage of a law forbidding publicity. In this country a good many cases seem to be started just because of the notoriety that can be gathered.

WARMING UP

Experimental farms in Sweden are using electricity to warm the soil. By getting the earth up to as high a temperature as the spring air the Swedes may have fresh lettuce in March. Maybe they think that by plowing under a crop of electric currents they can compete with Imperial Valley.

DUMB-BELLS

Equal to the request of the June bride who asked the butcher for some mince meat and stipulated that it be cut from "a nice, tender young mince," is that of the man who, when asked if he were going to the flower show, said, "No; I'm going to stay home and get it over the radio."

TWO GREAT HENRYS

Defending Longfellow against attacks by certain British critics, a writer in the London Daily Express says that although the American verse-writer was not a poet's poet, he was a poet just the same, and might be called "the Ford of poetry." But the trouble with Longfellow's product seems to be that there isn't anybody to supply spare parts.

GOLDEN CROPS

With a $16,000,000 walnut crop and a $120,000,000 citrus yield, California might reasonably be credited with something beside town lots and boosters. This $120,000,000 is almost twice the value of the precious metal taken from the earth in California's greatest gold-producing year—1853—and three times that mined in 1849.

HOW TO BE A CHAMP

W. O. McGeehan, a well-known sports writer, says in Vanity Fair that the secret of being a champion prize fighter lies not so much in brav ry as in ballyhoo, not so much in packing a redoubtable punch as in owning a high-powered press agent. "Your modern champion," he says, "is as great as his chroniclers make him." Such being the case, why doesn't Jack Dempsey hire H. G. Wells to register a come-back for him?

"LEST WE FORGET"

Thanksgiving Day is an American institution. The first shipload of colonists landed in New England in 1620. The Indians were hostile and the bleak Massachusetts shore was more hostile. Many of the colonists died the first winter. The remnant was thankful for life and, in token thereof, started the first Thanksgiving.

For some years the spirit persisted and annually the Puritans met in their chapels and returned thanks to Deity for His blessings. However, with the years came prosperity and with prosperity, forgetfulness. Thanksgiving Day ceased to function.

Then came the Dark Day in New England. In Connecticut the Legislature brought in the candles. Many thought the end of the world was at hand. With the return of the sun blossomed out Thanksgiving again.

The people remembered for years and then began to forget. The day fell into disuse. Deity was omitted from the colonial councils. When their larders were filled, Deity did not seem to be essential.

Came the Revolutionary War. Defeat after defeat was visited upon Washington's ragged army. He was finally driven with his back up against the wilderness. Then came the Battle of Saratoga. This victory revived the national Thanksgiving Day.

Thereafter the day was observed with devotion—for a period. Peace brought little seeming need for Deity and faith was almost forgotten. But with the war of 1812 came also new zest and Thanksgiving was begun anew. However, it was not for long. So soon the people forgot.

Then the woes of the Civil War burst upon the country. Failure met every sally of the Union arms. McClellan would drill but not fight. Lincoln was criticised by the North and hated by the South. The Confederacy planned a drive upon Washington to end the war. It forces had swept as far north as Harrisburg. Lincoln was on his knees before God the night before the battle of Gettysburg. England was waiting for another southern victory to intervene against the Union.

The simultaneous battles of Gettysburg and Vicksburg were fought the first three days of that fateful July. The sorrows of those days expressed the immortal oration from Lincoln on the battle ground in Pennsylvania the next November and a day of Thanksgiving was proclaimed. The celebration has continued till today.

However, there are signs of its breaking down. People are more interested in turkey than in Thanksgiving. The churches are visited by a remnant and the highways are thronged with multitudes. The perfume of feasting in the home is delectable; but the incense at the altar is ceasing.

The tragedy of King Lear is not that the old hero loses his mind, but that his daughters, Goneril and Regan, are ungracious. The tenderness of Cordelia shines like a star of hope.

Deity sends his rains upon the just and unjust and we fight over the blessings as they flow away unused into the sea. Yet He holds no grudge against us but continues to make his sun to rise upon the evil and on the good.

Trouble alone seems to keep us from becoming top heavy. We are funny folks. The Dead Letter Office reports hundreds of thousands of letters to Santa Claus on Christmas. But in all these but one letter of "Thank you" has been received. What does Santa Claus think of that?

In 1914 thousands of American citizens were stranded in Europe at the beginning of the war. Letters of credit were worthless. Congress acted in the emergency and appropriated $2,500,000 to relieve necessities. Later the names of 2000 citizens whom the government had helped an' who failed to refund the money, were published. Investigation proved the were able to pay. What did Uncle Sam think of that?

Trouble does not make people misanthropic. After the sacrifice the song began in the ancient Hebrew temple.

"Lord God of hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget. Lest we forget!"

A STRONG REPORT

Representing the work of a whole year done under the direction of Charles Nagel, who was Secretary of Commerce in the Taft Cabinet, the report of the Business Men's Commission on Agriculture created by the National Industrial Conference Board has been issued, and it makes very interesting reading. The report solidly backs up President Coolidge in his vetoing of the McNary-Haugen bill, tells what is the matter with the farmer and what the commission thinks should be done for him.

The business men suggest the formation of a Federal farm board to supervise marketing, the loose conduct of which, in their opinion, is the main trouble with agriculture today. They also would like to see new bank laws that would afford farmers a chance to secure loans at lower rates of interest. At the same time they stand ready to indorse any other valid scheme for farm relief so long as it does not incorporate the underlying principles which the President has declared to be "an economic folly from which this country has every right to be spared."

Legislation of the McNary-Haugen kind is attacked by the business men as unwise and dangerous. Co-operative efforts in marketing, for which the President has raised his voice on occasion, are offered by the report as sound remedies. The reduction of railroad rates on farm products is also recommended.

So far as co-operation is concerned, the Middle-Western farmers, who are the chief complainants against the present condition of agricultural affairs, might study to advantage the methods of that highly efficient organization the California Fruit Exchange, and other similar institutions in this State. These strong organizations have been developed and maintained without government aid, and should afford some sort of model to be used as a basis for the kind of farm relief which comes from the farmer himself and not from the whole nation.

NONSTOP RECORD

Britain now holds the nonstop railroad train record, with her Royal Scott, an Edinburgh express on the Midland line. This train recently ran from London to Carlisle, 299½ miles, without stopping along the way. The best record America has made in this respect is the Pennsylvania's run of 217 miles, from Manhattan to Washington. A regular train running from London to Plymouth makes no stop between those places, 225 miles apart, and runs at a scheduled speed of 56.5 miles an hour. But an airplane hitting it up to 200 miles an hour for 1000 miles makes all these train records look silly.

VALUE OF EDUCATION

One of the most interesting collections of facts ever assembled to prove the cash value of popular education was given in a paper read at the recent industrial conference at Salt Lake City by President Franklin S. Harris of Brigham Young University. His most striking point, perhaps, was in pointing out that the increas in individual income in the United States has just about kept pace with the increase in the number of high-school and college students. There was practically no increase in the years from 1850 to 1870; but since 1870 per capita income has tripled, coincident with the tripling of the number of persons seeking higher education.

"Even for manual laborers, education is decidedly beneficial, President Harris finds—declaring that a study of several thousand workers in factories showed that their earning power was almost directly proportional to the number of years they attended school, the greatest difference being between those who had had only one year of schooling and those who had none. Those with a year of schooling had a 16 per cent advantage over the unschooled.

From Who's Who President Harris drew the conclusion that aside from engineers, lawyers and doctors, almost all of whom are college trained, 45 per cent of executives in metal and rubber industries, 65 per cent of bankers, 62 per cent of manufacturers, 59 per cent of capitalists, and 41 per cent of railway officials are college men. A study in the plant of the Great Western Sugar Company was also instanced; college-trained men, not necessarily graduates, rose to foremanships in three years as against eight years for men with lesser education; while of superintendents of factories, the college men were found to have attained these posts in a little more than six years while the noncollege men took fifteen years to make the same climb.

Figures compiled by the Massachusetts Department of Labor and Industry and Boston College show that the average untrained man earns $45,000 between the ages of 14 and 60; the high school graduate, $75,000 between 18 and 60 and the college or technical school graduate, $150,000 between 22 and 60.

THE PROBLEM OF MARKETING

It is evident that consumption must keep pace with production if we are to have continuing prosperity. This gives special significance to a paper read before the recent meeting of the National Association of American Manufacturers by Col. Walsh of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company. He says that production has now outstripped consumption and that the need of the hour is for merchandising to meet and master the increasing grave problem of marketing at a profit.

We are all pleased at the great prosperity of America and are looking forward to an even greater prosperity in the future; yet there are elements of serious weakness in the situation. Too little attention is paid to the mounting volume of production which is enjoying a relative growth far exceeding the growth of population. In this country we are producing fully 60 per cent more per individual than we were twenty-five years ago.

This increase is due almost entirely to the increasing use of machinery, electrical appliances and standardization of products. We cannot keep secret such improved processes and they are soon adopted abroad; consequently all great nations are speeding up their productions and entering into great industrial combinations to glut the markets of the world. The problem ahead of us is no longer production but markets.

THAT SPORTY FEELING

A woman writer denounces the growth of the gambling habit among men of today. As a matter of fact, the men who used to sit in at a little game in the afternoon are now playing golf. Of course, there is wagering on the links, but the game is not considered a gambling one. The women with their endless round of bridge games are proportionately doing much more gambling while the men are doing less.

PROPOSED PROTECTORATE

When President Kemal of Turkey delivered his 50,000-word speech at Angora recently—an oratorical effort that required seven days for its delivery—he broke the record for long-winded addresses in more ways than one, for in an executive discourse equal in verbal volume to four fair-sized novels, he actually managed to say something. What he said was by way of divulging a secret, or at least little-known, piece of proposed diplomacy in which the United States was to bulk large. Nor is it of less significance that this scheme never came to a head.

The plan was discussed by Turkish officials in 1919, and it was that Turkey was to become an American protectorate. Turkey, one of the weakest nations of Europe, needed a powerful friend. What more potent one could she have than this country? Britain had been proposed, but to most of the influential Turks the idea of a British protectorate was unthinkable because of British hostility during the great war. But America, though she had fought on "the wrong side," would be acceptable, as she did not declare war on Turkey.

It seems that what threw the plan out of court was the firm rejection by us of the Armenian and other European mandates, and Turkey did not risk a similar rejection in her own case. Europe would have been "thrown into a ferment," as the Manchester Guardian says, "at the bare hint of such a proposal." It is just as well, therefore, that our government did not receive the invitation, which, without doubt, would have been respectfully declined, even though it would have been of a highly complimentary nature and would have voiced a most friendly feeling on the part of Turkey toward this country.

SOME JURY NEEDS

The crime conference declares that among other things the country needs better juries—not bigger or broader, but of sterner quality. The idea is that the average jury is too easily swayed by sympathy or emotion. All the machinery of the law is operated first in the interest of the accused. The jurors are easy.

PREFERENCES

By James J. Montague

At twenty-one I loved the songs
By bards profoundly melancholy—
Of maidens, prey to cruel wrongs
Because of some slight passing folly.
The stuff that Mr. Byron wrote
With woe and passion always throbbing
I ever often used to quote,
And quite as often fell to sobbing.

Some ten years later I preferred
The verse that sang of war and glory,
My heart was always deeply stirred
By any great and epic story.
I fell for Kipling very hard,
I waded patiently through Homer—
And then I dropped that noble bard
And made a favorite of Omar.

To live alone for love and vine
Beneath the sheltering palms to revel,
To read, to flirt, to sing and dine
And bid defiance to the devil.
To follow daily, day by day
The line that marked the least resistance—
I thought was quite the proper way
To spend a glorious existence.

But now I'm getting on in years
And filled with musing melancholy,
The poems which dry up my tears
Are those of happy bards, and jolly,
Who have no reason for their rhymes
Who know no literary fetter,
In these depressed and anxious times
The sillier they are the better.

THOUGHTFULNESS AND THANKFULNESS

BY CHARLES COKE WOODS

It is only a step from thoughtfulness to thankfulness. The words fit well together in the atmosphere of our national Thanksgiving. We take too much for granted and let it go at that. If a neighbor or a friend should give us a hundredth part of the good gifts that nature and providence pour into our lives each day, we should consider ourselves indecently impolite if we were not heartily thankful. But we take it for granted that providence and nature will crown us and our years with goodness.

We make no vital response to nature and to providence. Of course, the sun will rise and set again tomorrow. Of course, the rains will fall in due season. We thank the gentleman at the oiling station for "free air," but what ails us that we do not give thanks to "The God of the Open Air?" We were thoughtfully thankful to the water company, but who are we that we should not be thankfully thoughtful of Him "Who sendeth the rain upon the just and the unjust?" We call it "a million dollar rain," but wnom do we thank for the million dollars? In the world's yesterdays a Hebrew poet remembered and exclaimed: "Oh, that men would praise the Lord for His goodness, and declare His wonders to the children of men."

Certainly if we stop to think we will go on and give thanks. But to live thanks is even better than to give thanks. Living thanks are not mechanically made. They blossom out of the living roots of great realizations. Giving thanks is not a perfunctory performance, but a living practice.

Our material blessings form abundant grounds for thankfulness. It is a noticeable fact that many of our American people have so much money that they are like little children spoilt with too many toys. Such specialists as Babson are constantly reminding us that one of the greatest perils of wealth is that of passing large sums of money over to young sons and daughters who have done nothing whatever to earn it. In this country, to be sure, the poor are as good as the rich and the rich are as good as the poor, if they are. The American ideal is not money, but manhood. It is not gold, but goodness. It is not cash, but character. When money is spent selfishly it is always misspent. In some quarters we boast of having 30,000 millionaires. But what is a millionaire worth, if his millions do not minister to human need?

We do not measure a man by his millions, but by the ministry of his millions. To be rich and right is a glorious combination. But to be rich and wrong, that is what made at least a dust pile of Babylon. Babylon's gold was her god. When Babylon's wealth went wanton her beauty broke like a bubble. Money is like fire; you may warm your house with it, or you may burn your house with it. Let us thank God for our millions, but let us pray for wisdom to administer these millions. They may make us modern benefactors or they may make us modern Babylonians.

We will thank God at this Thanksgiving season for our millions, but we will ask Him to give us wisdom to use our millions aright. What matters it if we have in our vaults $4,500,000,000 of gold if we lose goodness and God and our own soul? For what shall it profit a nation, if it gain the whole world and lose its own soul?

Yes, thoughtfulness will make us thankful. Foolish speakers and superficial writers may take a fling at the Pilgrim Fathers, but in these days of so much moral cowardice do we not need their invincible courage? In these days of so much religious dawdling do we not need their devotion?

They were the potential pioneers of our national Thanksgiving. They celebrated the end of the first harvest with rejoicing and thanksgiving. For more than a century this annual thanksgiving was largely confined to New England, though the Revolutionary War had several thanksgiving days proclaimed and observed by George Washington. During our Civil War Lincoln set thanksgiving days. He was the first President to set apart a national Thanksgiving as a holiday. Thoughtfulness will make us thankful for these historic precedents. Thoughtfulness will make us thankful for the influence of Thanksgiving Day itself. How this great festival has freshened our faith and quickened our courage through the years. No thoughtful citizen could have reason to regret it. In the midst of our dust and grime and clatter it is an annual reminder that above and beyond the dust we have the deathless soul.

President Coolidge's proclamation has the Pilgrim Father spirit, simplicity, spirituality, and sincerity. Its thoughtfulness will make us thankful.

All Americans ought to be thankful for a President who has it in him to write such a message. It ought to call us all to thoughtfulness and thankfulness. It is a strong and great generalization of our national and individual blessings.

Aside from thankfulness for material blessings, why should we not be thankful for our thinkers? Never did we have more thinkers, in science, in education, in religion, in civilization, thinking the way through a thousand tangled troubles. Lack of all our inventions, discoveries, and achievements. Not in our mountains, but in our mountain-minded men is where our great values lie.

Thoughtfulness and thankfulness go together. The thinker and the thanker ought to be one.

THE TOOTHLESS ANTEATER

The mouth of the anteater is perfectly toothless, and the food consists of insects, chiefly ants. The animal has small eyes, short and rounded ears and powerful claws. Its long and wormlike tongue is coated with a sticky saliva. When Mr. Anteater is hungry he merely runs his tongue into the midst of an anthill and the ants almost break their necks trying to see which ones can climb up the tongue first. The anteater is reputed to be very stupid and inoffensive, often falling a prey to animals smaller and weaker than itself.—[Pathfinder.

What is man's greatest gift?

The answer comes from the past. All the great music, all the great canvases and manuscripts call aloud, "Vision." For without vision man cannot create. He feels a stirring within him and he longs with a passionate desire to turn it into something tangible.

His vision is his alone. How he longs to share it, to stir, with dream music, or soft pastel shades another soul, but share it he must, for he is an artist longing for expression, and his vision leaves him no choice.

In the far-flung camp the Indian wove his vision of beauty into pottery and basket weaving. In the salon the poet sang his song of immortal beauty, that something of his vision might be reflected in the soft smile upon a woman's lips.

In the beauty of a painting lay the heartbeat of a painter—his vision of matchless wonder, a gift to posterity, a whisper from a genius one, passed on into that realm of mystery men call death.

Words, like soft whispering music, make a picture of the men and women who came before the vision-ary eye of the writer—men and women who live and love for every generation, great names that have no nationality, only humanity for their goal; great men and women who stir the imagination of today as they did that creative mind of long ago.

Great stones, carved into lasting beauty, are used to symbolize an artist's dream of architecture. He sees it completed, where others see but stones. He breathes into it his vision of beauty, and it rises stone by stone to live until time, or man's ruthlessness destroys it.

A city grows by vision. Great hearts carry to lesser minds some magic to enable them to grasp something of the dreamer's vision. The city of his dream rises before his mental eye, and he is filled with force and ambition to see it before he passes through those gates that open but one way.

Vision, the godlike gift, is in each heart, a seedling, seeking for light. There upon the hillside a man sees a garden. He sees the beautiful colors blending into harmonious beauty, and in his heart he feels the glow of the real garden ever, and his desire is to share his treasure. His inner eye sees, not the brown earth, or the stees hill, but the shades of exquisite hue, making a beauty place for all who love a garden.

It is vision that enables man to climb the hill of life. Ever beyond the clouds he sees the rainbow, and over the hill it must be better, and he dreams his wonder picture, a house of stone, or his words of poems, to express his desire for beauty.

Mystery of Blonde Bandit Believed Cleared

Thirty Suspects Participate in "Show-up" at Jail

Following the first show-up at the Los Angeles City Jail in which women in the ranks of the suspects stepped before their victims, one man and one woman, yesterday, were positively identified as participants in half a dozen robberies, while subsequent confessions and investigations are expected to clear up many crimes of the past few months.

Mystery of an elusive blonde bandit who figured in a number of daring robberies several weeks back was cleared up when Mrs. Ruth Whitsen, 21 years of age, arrested with her husband, Albert Whitsen, admitted in response to questioning by a woman victim that she recently had changed her hair from blonde to the color of raven's wing. The pair were alleged connected with six robberies while Whitsen was identified by seven additional victims.

The Whitsens were arrested recently in Dallas, Tex., and returned to Los Angeles yesterday along with Miss Betty Green, 20, and Edward Judd, 21, whom police declare already has admitted four or five robberies. It also is believed Betty Green may be connected with several holdups. Judd is asserted to have been implicated with John Watnik, killed last night in an oil-station robbery.

Appearing one by one in the shadows of a jail, some thirty suspects talked, listened and answered questions, while before the victims of oil-station, drug-store and other robberies attempted to identify them. Besides those definitely identified investigation into the actions of other suspects were carried on after the show-up.

Route for New Highway Sought

A series of meetings is being conducted by the Northwest Chamber of Commerce, according to President Will H. Collings, to decide on the route for the new Transcontinental highway, No. 66, through Pasadena to Los Angeles.

Questions of which route or name should be used for this new coast-to-coast highway, it definitely has been decided is route the thoroughfare from Pasadena to Los Angeles through the Moreno Highlands district," said Mr. Collings. "At the same time it is the consensus of opinion that this east-and-west highway will extend from Pasadena through Glendale across the new Glendale-Hyperion viaduct, and on to West Los Angeles by way of the Silver Lake or Hyperion. This seems the most logical route in view of the fact that when the Glendale-Hyperion viaduct is opened next May this will be the most direct route from the inland districts to the districts of West Los Angeles and Hollywood."

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to home and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

TROUBLES WHICH BAFFLE THE PARENT

"My boy is 21 months of age," writes Mrs. R. D., and weighs twenty pounds. He has twelve teeth and is fine and healthy. He is fed at 6 o'clock with orange juice and cereal, whole milk and bacon. At noon he has vegetable soup, potato and sugar, beef, or meat broth, rice and vegetables. At night he has his milk with us and is given whatever we think is good for him.

"My choice is what I offer him; but of course the day he first started to walk he has had to be forced. I have tried letting him go without food and he would go two or three days, drinking only a little milk to sustain life. Often it is food he likes and will not touch it. If I force the issue he will continue to eat it. At 10 o'clock I give him a malted milk and he loves that. He eats a raw apple several times a day and never apple sauce or prune juice. What am I to do? It is a battle three times a day and I am thoroughly discouraged."

Answer: I have a feeling that if you were to add up all the bites and sips your boy takes in a day you would find he is getting quite a respectable amount of food. Obviously, if he is fed at 7, 8:30 and 10 o'clock he is not going to have much appetite for other meals. It is easy enough for him to refuse at noon when he is not hungry, and your anxiety lends importance to his refusal so that his efforts are all in the direction of getting rid of it.

Give him cereal; buttered toast; fruit, and cocoa or milk in the morning, but by him and feed him regularly. Make him stay at the table for twenty minutes whether he eats or not. Do not talk about his not eating or act unhappy because of it. When he is through tell him that he doesn't get anything to eat, not even a bite of apple, or milk to drink, until his noon meal, at which he may have his milk, but also green vegetables or meat; and a simple rule is that if he doesn't eat put him down and give him nothing more until noon.

Keep this method for a week, remembering the same tactics at night. Try to feed as attractive as possible, not talk about what he does or when he does or when he does not eat. Don't make it seem a subject of importance. Don't expect him to happen. Merely get him in the right mood to accept food before him and gradually increase his capacity by adding a few more at a meal. It would be well, at first, to be satisfied with a few bites of each kind of food. Let him understands he is to eat everything before

RIPPLING RHYMES by Walt Mason

IN HOLLYWOOD

In Hollywood, gay Hollywood, movie queens are found, and star-struck jays upon them gaze, as they go drifting 'round. Their salaries are fabulous, they wallow in the green; and it is fine, we all agree, to be a movie queen. They live in costly palaces, they marry titled earls; they load their bosoms with precious stones, most forty-carat of girls. Pursued by eager journalists, they've so much fame it bores; and kodaks click when they stick their faces out of doors. In Hollywood, sad Hollywood, the would-be queens are found; they come with dreams and greed; they come with every stamp of shady schemes fron. every stamping ground. The damsels from the villages where people market hay, perhaps were told they'd harvest fame if they should come this way. But very soon would be celebrities, their wealth too great to name, and once they stood in Hollywood, where thrives the movie game. They come so full of confidence, ambition in them burned; they come in droves from cooking jobs and brooms and pastry ovens. They come from large department stores at Punktown-by-the-Sand, they come from farms with healthy charms for which there's no demand. They are so full of victory, as they come down the trail, though they have heard the grievous word of multitudes that fail! In Hollywood, grim Hollywood, the dream of hope deferred; and up and down the busy streets are weary, breaking hearts. It is a yawning sepulchre, it is a deadly tomb for hopes that have died from sleep, for purposes that bloom.

SHAKESPEARE'S PUBLIC

"If William Shakespeare were alive today he probably would fit in with the policy of the motion-picture concern whose aim is to "give the public what it wants," declares Benjamin Hampton in an article in Liberty. "Shakespeare," continues the author, "once declared rather earnestly that the play's the thing. He got his material for his plays wherever he could find it, and whipped it into shape to fit the demands of his audience. Apparently he had no thought that he was creating imperishable literature.

"The Stratford man's policy was to give the public what it wants, although just a wee bit ahead of the public's demands in the hope that it would be found may be distinctive and profitable, and just as it was successful with him, so it has been successful with picture-makers. Now all leading motion-picture work have adopted Shakespeare's conclusion that 'what's the thing.'

"If Shakespeare lived today," says the writer, "he probably would be in Los Angeles making motion pic-

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

The ballroom of the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bettingen in Hillcrest avenue, Oak Knoll, Pasadena, was the setting last evening of a lovely wedding when their younger daughter, Miss Betty Bettingen became the bride of Leonard Edward Harbach, Jr., the ceremony being performed by Rev. Leslie E. Learned in the presence of relatives and intimate friends.

The ballroom was transformed into a chapel with tall cathedral candelabra holding tall white candles on the altar, rose trees and a profusion of white chrysanthemums, ferns, foliage and potted plants completing the decorations.

Following the ceremony there was a reception in the living room to which 400 guests were bidden, and a wedding supper.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in a Chanel model of white velvet, with court train of rose point and princess lace, caught cap-shaped to her head and held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms while she carried an immense shower of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Margaret Martin was the maid of honor, wearing a Chanel model of pink chiffon and carrying deep pink camellias and lilies of the valley while Mrs. Myron Etienne (Lucille Bettingen) was her sister's matron of honor in Chanel model of coral chiffon and carrying pale pink camellias and lilies of the valley.

The other attendants, Mrs. Felton Stow Hollister (Doris Braly,) Mrs. Charles Raymond Fielahman (Leontine Bayer,) Miss Alice Hicks and Miss Polly Schoder wore Chanel models of green chiffon and carried arm bouquets of camellias and lilies of the valley.

All the gowns were draped and the hose and slippers matched.

Mrs. Bettingen received her guests in a gown of peach velvet and pearls and a corsage of orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Harbach are leaving tomorrow aboard the President Taft for a month's honeymoon in Honolulu and after their return will make their home here.

Mrs. Harbach, who organized The Spinsters' Club, of which she was president for two years, was graduated from Marlborough School, while Mr. Harbach is an alumnus of University of California at Berkeley and is affiliated with the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Edwin Harbach served his brother as best man and the ushers included George Brock, Harry Hoen Berger, William John Bettingen, Jr., Henry Ellsworth, Andrew Brown and Ernest Adams, while little Louise Virginia Leistikow, dainty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Leistikow, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl in pink tulle, and Billy Etienne, nephew of the bride, in white silk corded suit, carried the rings.

Wright-Ford

The marriage of Miss Elsie Wright, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Wright of Van Ness avenue, to Frederick Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ford of South Lake street, was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock last evening, the ceremony being read by Rev. Philip Easley in St. Stephen's Church, Hollywood, an autumn scene being carried out in the church decorations.

Sunset shades of chrysanthemums predominated, while adown the center aisle were tall cathedral candles, while atop the new posts were great clusters of chrysanthemums tied with tulle, the same effect being carried out in the bouquets tied to the candelabra.

In the outer aisles were immense baskets filled with the chrysanthemums and candles in holders on the high pillars, shaded from deep brown at the entrance down to paler shades as they neared the altar, where lights were shaded and garlands of canary shaded roses and baskets of Woodwardia ferns completed the decorations, and the entire church was lighted by candles.

Mr. Wright gave his daughter in marriage, the bridal gown being of white satin trimmed with point lace made en traine. The veil of duchesse lace was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and silver leaves and she carried a shower of orchids, gardenias and lilies of the valley tied with silver ribbons.

Miss Jean Dulin, maid of honor, wore a transparent velvet gown of peach-salmon shades while Mrs. Lex Cochran of San Francisco, sister of Mr. Ford, was matron of honor in gown of deepest shade of sunset bronze, other attendants being Miss Gwendolyn Longyear, Miss Ruth Mann and Mrs. Howland Ford, all wearing gowns of transparent velvet in the lighter shades down to the softest cream and carried armsfull of bronze chrysanthemums. They all wore small gold metal ribbon hats.

Mrs. Wright was gowned in black chantilly lace over flesh tones and Mrs. Ford, mother of the bridegroom, wore black velvet with silver coat and both wore corsages of orchids.

Howland Ford served his brother as best man and the ushers included Lex Cochran, Gilbert S. Wright, Jr., Sidney Searl and Barkman McCabe. Six hundred guests were bidden and after the ceremony there was a small reception and wedding supper at the home of the bride's parents for the bridal party and a few close friends, 100 being bidden.

The decorations at the house carried out the same color scheme as at the church, the bride's table being centered with canary shades of rose over a silver cloth.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford are planning to pass their honeymoon in Havana and New Orleans and will return to Los Angeles just before the Christmas holidays and will be guests at the Gilbert Wright home until they decide upon their own home.

Mrs. Ford was graduated from Marlborough School and Mount Vernon Seminary in Washington, D. C., and afterward traveled extensively abroad.

Many delightfully planned prenuntial affairs have been given in honor of this attractive bride among those of recent date being the luncheon with which Mrs. Raymond Stickney Taylor entertained the 17th inst., twelve guests being bidden. Mrs. Taylor has just returned from abroad and brought back with her the exquisite Dresden ware which she used in the table decorations, the candelabra place cards, favors and tally scores being carried out in lavender and green motif.

Those included will be the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Grey, Miss Carolina J. Pedroaena, Miss Isidora Pedroaena, Miguel Pedroaena, Gregoria Pedroaena and Mrs. Pedroaena.

Morning Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Bristow to Albert Stillman Chase, Jr., son of Mrs. A. S. Chase of 1480 East Mountain avenue, Glendale, will be solemnized this morning, the ceremony taking place at 8 o'clock in the First Congregational Church of Glendale. Miss Cecil Scott Chase, sister of the bridegroom, will be maid of honor and the flower girls will include little Betty Jane Clark and Elizabeth Crispin. Ravelle Harrison will serve Mr. Chase as best man and Berwyn Rieke will sing a group of songs before the ceremony. The wedding is the culmination of a romance which started at Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis, Or., where the bride-elect is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Chase is completing his course in medicine at the University of California and next year is going to take his bride to Chicago where he will enter Northwestern University School of Medicine at Rush, which is affiliated with the Phi Chi medical fraternity. Following a short motoring through the southland Mr. Chase and his bride-to-be will make their home in Chicago where they leave for the east.

OYSTERS EN MARMITE

Take four dozen oysters, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, the yolks of two eggs, one cupful each of milk and cream, one blade of mace and one lemon. Have small marmites or fireproof dishes in readiness. Melt the butter in a saucepan, stir in the flour; add the oyster liquor, mace, milk, half a teaspoonful of salt and a few drops of lemon juice. Stir over the fire until the sauce boils; take out the mace and season to taste; then stir in the beaten yolks of eggs and the cream. Put a few oysters into each serving dish; pour over the sauce and place in a moderate oven for ten minutes. While they are cooking cut some thin slices of white bread, stamp them out into neat rounds and fry a golden brown in hot butter. When the oysters are ready lay one of these rounds over the top of each dish. Serve at once with lemon slices.

GRAPE JUICE COUFFLE

Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in two cupfuls of grape juice, strain into a bowl, set the bowl in ice water and when the mixture begins to thicken fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs, and fill six wet individual molds with the mixture. To this puree add three-quarters of a cupful of cream beaten until stiff. Fill molds with the cream mixture and chill. Decorate with whipped sweetened cream and chopped meats.

TURKEY LOAF, POTATO BALLS

After removing the best part of the turkey for a salad or a creamed dish take all that remains of the meat and chop it up, or run it through the food chopper; add the left-over dressing, some chopped celery and also may be some of the onion left over from the dinner; add parsley and a little chopped onion. Place the bones of the turkey in a little water after they are broken and simmer for an hour or so, then strain off the liquid and add to the meat remnants. Add the beaten egg, salt and pepper to taste, if not seasoned enough. Form into shape of a loaf, and bake until a nice brown on top. To left-over mashed potatoes, add a half-cupful of rich cream sauce; add one beaten egg. Form into shape of balls, roll in egg, then in cracker of bread crumbs and fry in deep fat. Place around the meat loaf and serve with pickles.

DATE AND ORANGE SALAD

Divide four juicy oranges into their natural sections, removing all seeds and membranes. Wash and cut into seeds half a pound of dates. Mix the fruits, place them on crisp lettuce leaves and serve with mayonnaise dressing made without sugar and add a little whipped cream.

South's second rebid of Clubs was justified because of the honors in one hand.

North held no sound rebid other than to support Clubs until after South's second rebid.

West's rebid of Spades was necessary to show partner he had a minimum defensive bid.

East's second assist, while clearly indicated by his holding, was warranted by the added promotional value of his two small trips in Dummy.

Skillful Points of the Play

Trick 1. At the outset of the play West can count his hand for at least nine tricks, even with a successful Heart finesse and a fair break in the outstanding trumps. He has still one trick short of game and game. How is the necessary trick to be made? Only in one way. South must hold the King of Hearts in order that the finesse of the Jack in West's hand may win, and the King must fall on the first round of Hearts, establishing the Queen for a needed discard.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr Frank McCoy

author of "The First Year to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

TURKEY DAYS

I trust that every one of my readers will be able to enjoy eating turkey today. One reason you might not be able to—you might be on a milk diet, or taking a fast. And another important reason is that many people believe they cannot afford such expensive poultry. Some substitute chicken at Thanksgiving and other festive days because of the difference in price.

The average cost of chicken today is about 30 cents a pound, while the cost of turkey ranges from 80 cents a pound upward. The higher cost of turkey is caused by the fact that it is the custom to buy turkey only between the middle of November and the first of December. Consequently, turkey raisers must prepare their fowl for a market which does not extend over a very long time. It is also true that chickens are easier to raise than turkeys, and the initial cost of starting to breed chickens for eating purposes is much less than that required for the development of a turkey flock.

There are six principal breeds of turkey, and all came from original wild stock found in various parts of the North American continent by the early settlers. Some wild turkeys may still be found in some parts of the Middle West. The bronze domestic turkey was probably developed from the bronze wild turkey, which was originally found in Mexico.

Turkeys are hard to raise, and the farmer is entitled to a higher price than he receives for chickens, which have a market the whole year round.

It may surprise you to know that fewer turkeys are being raised each year. There has been a steady decrease for a number of years. In 1900 over 8,500,000 turkeys were raised in the United States, while in 1920 this number was cut to approximately one-half.

If more people understood the fine food value of turkey meat, they would pay a reasonable price and buy turkeys throughout the year, and then the cost per pound would soon be reduced to that of other fowl.

The method of killing turkeys insures a white meat, makes it more tender and, when properly refrigerated, turkey meat will keep longer than chicken killed in the usual manner Practically all dealers kill the turkey by hanging it by its feet and severing the veins in its throat, and do not cut off the head. A similar method is used by the Kosher butchers in killing all kinds of fowl. The Chinese also use this method. The turkey's heart pumps practically all the blood out of the body, and the meat is left more white than it would be with the insufficient bleeding which results when the head is cut off.

It is best to kill the turkey a few days before ready to eat, placing the bird on ice as soon as the bleeding stops and the feathers are removed.

Turkey raisers usually fast the birds for practically an entire day, giving them plenty of water to drink so the crop and intestines will be thoroughly cleaned of any food material.

The pullet turkey at 1 year of age weighs from twenty to twenty-five pounds, the hen weighing less than the male.

Turkey meat really goes further than most meat, as the bones are not large and there is little waste, so this form of protein food is not so expensive as many think.

Be thankful if you are able to buy turkey this year, and buy it oftener for your health's sake and to encourage the farmer to raise more.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: E. S. writes: "We have adopted a child who was born of a consumptive mother. She is 9 years of age. Has tubercular glands in her neck. Do you think there is any way of preventing consumption in this child? Will it help any to have those tubercular glands pierced? She has many of them."

Answer: Young children frequently have glandular enlargements which are not necessarily tubercular. These can be cured by diet even if they are tubercular. Lancing these glands will only make more trouble, as an added burden is thrown on the other lymphatics. Write for a special article on the cause and cure of swollen glands.

Q.: Mrs. K. B. asks: "Will boiling food ten minutes kill botulism if it is present? I use the cold-pack method of canning green string beans, but am always a little afraid to use them afterward, even though I boil them twenty minutes."

A.: If string beans are canned properly there need be no fear of botulism, as these micro-organisms are destroyed if the beans are boiled or steamed long enough. When you open a can of string beans notice if they have a normal odor and if so reboil them for about ten minutes. If any botulism exists, its effect will be nullified by this method and no harm will result.

Q.: F. J. B. asks: "Is there any way of making a large nose small by operation? If so, is it dangerous, and where would you advise me to go for it, and what is the cost of such an operation?"

A.: I would not advise anyone to try to reduce the size of his nose by an operation unless, perhaps, he happens to be in the theatrical profession. This operation is dangerous, and always very expensive if performed by a skilled plastic surgeon. You should be proud of your large nose, as physiognomists and phrenologists tell us it is a sign of great mental powers.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Woolen Stockings

To prevent shrinking when washing woolen stockings, let them dry over wooden shoe trees and they will dry the shape of your feet.

The Marshmallow Roast

When toasting marshmallows have handy a cube of butter so the toasters can thrust their sticks or forks into it before putting the marshmallows on. This will prevent their sticking and spoiling their shape in getting them off.

Cleaning the Wringer

For Coffee Drinkers

If your family insists upon having coffee three times a day, it is very hard to waste a great deal that is left over. Try pouring it into a pitcher while hot and then adding this amount to the fresh-made coffee next meal. Of course, the end of the day means emptying out what is left and starting afresh on the morrow.

SEIZE CARGO OF HOLIDAY CHEER

Officers Find 960 Kegs Under Cottonseed

Value of Booze is Estimated at $10,000

Capture Two Trucks; Third One Escapes

FRESNO, Nov. 23.—Accidental discovery of two trucks loaded with ten and fifteen-gallon kegs of liquor hidden under a cover of cottonseed, led to the arrest here early today of three men and a woman on charges of transportation and possession of liquor. Under arrest are G. H. Ha'l, Fresno transfer man; Ted and Sam Johnson, ranchers, and the mother of the Johnson brothers, Mrs. R. A. Johnson. Approximately eighty kegs were carried on the trucks.

Hall was held in $10,000 bail and the others in $500 bail each by United States Commissioner Samuel P. Hollins, when Dep. U. S. Dist.-Atty. Ohannesian said that charges of conspiracy to violate the Federal Prohibition Act may be filed later.

Prohibition Agents Paul Shannon and Paul Mathias were returning from an investigation when they came upon the two trucks, of which they became suspicious because of the flattened springs, which belied the visible evidence that their loads consisted of cottonseed. They halted the drivers and searched the trucks, finding 960 gal'ons of liquor. A third truck, which appeared soon after the first two had been stopped, escaped.

Mrs. Johnson was arrested later in the day at the family ranch, where the prohibition agents said they found evidence indicating that liquor had been or was to be buried in a ditch.

According to information obtained by the officers, the liquor cargo was destined for delivery to a point between Bakersfield and Tulare. The haul was worth almost $10,000, according to estimates by the officers, based upon current prices for bootleg liquor.

Falls in Faint in Courtroom

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 23.—Physical condition of Herbert Hart, who fainted in the Superior Court yesterday when he was arraigned on a charge of automobile theft, is puzzling local authorities, according to Fred Eng, bailiff of the court, who reports that Hart has gone on a hunger strike at the County Hospital. The young man at times is said to be in a state of semicoma.

According to court attaches, Hart, who is a young man, knew only of one charge of automobile theft against him. He stood up in court to hear the reading of the charge.

When Ver' Freeman, Deputy Clerk of the cour', came to the phrase in the information alleging a prior charge under the Dyer Act, Hart slumped into an unconscious heap on the floor of the courtroom.

GERMAN EXPERTS VISIT FACTORY

GLENDALE, Nov. 23. — Aeronautic experts from Germany who are touring this country in a study of aviation in the United States, were visitors to the Slate Hangar at Glendale today, to inspect the dirigible that is being constructed there. The visitors, who were conducted to Glendale by Dr. Hagen, German Consul at Los Angeles, were Dr. Wilhelm Hoff, professor in the Berlin Technical High School and associate professor at the German Experimental Station for Airships at Berlin; Dr. Wunibald Kamm, manager of the motor division at the Berlin experimental station; Dr. Friedrich Seewald, manager of the aerodynamic division, and Muhlig Hoffman, ranking official of the German Commerce Commission.

The German scientists were especially interested in the principles that are embodied in the construction of the Slate dirigible, that is scheduled to be completed and ready for its trial flights early in February.

MAY SHIFT TRIAL TO LONG BEACH COURT

LONG BEACH, Nov. 23.—William A. Burris, prisoner in the County Jail at Los Angeles, where he is awaiting trial on an assault charge, may be tried here for manslaughter instead, Dep. Dist.-Atty. McCartney said today, following the death at Los Angeles General Hospital last night of William B. Lester, 1509 Stanton Place, this city.

Lester sustained injuries which it is said led to his death when, during an altercation over a minor automobile collision, Burris struck the aged man, knocking him to the pavement. The alleged attack occurred August 10, police records show. Lester's death is held to have been caused by ulcers of the brain induced by the injury sustained in the fall to the pavement. Burris was arrested following the alleged attack and admitted to police that he had been drinking, police assert

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO GARDNER

MONROVIA, Nov. 23.—Believed due to a heart attack, Samuel Hamlyn, 60 years of age, a gardener at the Drexel Winters home on Foothill Boulevard, Arcadia, dropped dead early this morning. Thirty minutes previous he had gone from the house to the boulevard to get the morning paper and seemed in usual health. His body was discovered by Adelia Roame, a servant in the Winters home.

The aged man lived at 1842 West Twenty-first street, Los Angeles, with his wife and a son, Thomas. Mrs. Winters is the daughter of Mrs Anita Baldwin and resides near the Baldwin home on Foothill Boulevard. The body was brought to Remaker's chapel here pending funeral arrangements.

ACQUITTED OF FIRING BUILDING

Bakersfield Man Freed of Arson Charge by Superior Court Jury

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 23.—E. O. Allbritton was acquitted of all guilt in connection with the burning of an apartment-house here when a jury returned its verdict of not guilty after twenty-six hours of deliberation. This was the second trial of Allbritton, the first resulting in a disagreed jury, which was dismissed. Two young men, turning State's evidence, testified that they had been hired to burn down the building, which was insured.

After a deadlock had been indicated, Judge Lambert refused to dismiss the jurors, as another trial would be a costly affair to the county and the evidence pro and con had been adequately submitted to juries twice.

The defense contention was that the apartment-house had been fired without the knowledge of Allbritton and as revenge following a quarrel with the defendant. Allbritton categorically denied the State's charges.

The two young men who pleaded guilty to setting fire to the building and were given probation, saved an elderly woman who was trapped in the house by the flames.

Later the two "heroes" admitted in court that they had planned the fire by affixing a burning cigarette to a match which was placed under oil-soaked overalls.

South Pasadena Refuses to Sell

SOUTH PASADENA, Nov. 23.—The City Commission today refused the offer of a Los Angeles real estate syndicate for South Pasadena's one-sixth interest in the tri-city farm in Monterey Park, thereby placing another obstacle in the way of the syndicate's efforts to secure the entire 600-acre tract.

The offer submitted two weeks ago to South Pasadena and acted upon at the commission meeting today was for $125,000, the same price which Alhambra, also owner of 100 acres of the farm, voted some time ago to accept.

The City Commissioners were unanimous in their refusal to sell, and there was no discussion, although several interested citizens from Alhambra and Monterey Park attended the meeting.

Pasadena sold her two-thirds' interest in the farm for $1010 an acre nearly a year ago. Alhambra's sale to the same syndicate is now blocked by a referendum petition containing over 850 names which will require that the matter of sale be decided at the city election next June.

The offer rejected today by South Pasadena was submitted by N. W. Milligan of Los Angeles representing the realty syndicate.

ARGUMENT ENDS IN POLICE COURT

CUCAMONGA, Nov. 23.—When words failed them in their argument over an auto wreck in which they were not participants, C. Flinn and John Russo, both of Cucamonga, used their fists and feet on each other, and later paid cash fines in Judge James Sharpe's court at Cucamonga.

Flinn and Russo were attracted to the scene of an automobile crash at the intersection of Arrow Route and Turner avenue, in which W. H. Trump of Fontana was critically injured.

Their argument led to blows and kicks and arrest. They were placed under arrest by Traffic Officer C. S. Lehman of Upland.

Scarcely had the two fighters been separated than other events moved swiftly to claim a .ult of the excitement. Eddy Moren, 16 years of age, driving south on Turner avenue, near the scene of the accident, ran into Juan Torres, knocked him to the ground and the front and rear wheels of his car passed over the victim.

VALLEY BECOMES DAIRYING CENTER

CORCORAN, Nov. 23. — In 1880 the San Joaquin Valley had about one-tenth of the dairy cows of the State, but now about one-third of them are here, stated Edwin C. Voorhies, extension specialist of the State University to the meeting of farm advisers from the six San Joaquin Valley cities.

Climatic and feed conditions, which are most excellent, account for this, he states. Since 1920, during which period there has been an increase of only 15 per cent in the number of dairy cows in California, improvements in the herds had resulted in an approximate increase of thirty pounds of butter fat per cow, at a cost of almost nothing to the dairymen.

Mr. Voorhies deprecates a rapid increase in the number of dairy cattle in the State, but holds that a gradual increase of herds will come with increased population and demand.

Athletic Events on Calendar for Afternoon

VISALIA, Nov. 23.—Thanksgiving Day for people of Tulare county is particularly significant this year as generally speaking the twelve months almost ended has been one of wholesome progress and return to normal conditions, making for comfort, peace and happiness. A good rainy season followed by other favorable weather conditions resulted in normal harvests in most crops.

Great preparations have been made throughout the week for the day of feasting and thanks. Stores and markets have been crowded, ranches and packing houses hives of activity. In the midst of the rush people have paused to visit houses of worship, many communities featuring union Thanksgiving services Sunday.

People of Orosi will assemble at the Methodist Church this evening, Rev. F. F. Matsinger of the Presbyterian Church delivering the sermon. A special feature will be practical offerings for needy families, this to be distributed following services this evening.

The Baptist Church was the setting for union services at Lindsay this evening, Rev. J. R. Speck of the Christian Church bringing the message. Visalia, Tulare, Porterville, Springville and Exeter conduct services early tomorrow morning. Many people have gone to various parts of the State for family reunions, while Tulare county, in turn, has drawn numerous former residents. Sportsmen have made for the hills and duck preserve.

TWO CITIES HOLD UNION SERVICES

ONTARIO, Nov. 23.—Upland and Ontario will observe Thanksgiving tomorrow by holding community church services.

At Sawtelle Dr. Davies will preach the sermon at services to be held at the First Baptist Church. Services will be held also at St. John's Episcopal Church. Special Thanksgiving music has been arranged both at Venice and Sawtelle.

HAPPINESS EVEN IN DEATH VALLEY

STOVE PIPE Wells, (Death Valley, Cal.) Nov. 23.—There is to be feasting in Death Valley today and visitors to this valley of the silences are not going to eat "crow" as did Lewis Manly and Tom Rogers, the Texan of the ill-fated Jayhawker party that attempted to cross this region Thanksgiving Day of 1849.

On leaving Death Valley, history records, these two brave scouts of the party killed a hawk, a quail and a crow. Being famished from weeks of starvation they made a stew of the three birds.

"The quail was superb, the hawk passing, but oh, that abominable crow—" wrote Manly, fifty years after in his diary.

Leather-faced, calloused handed "desert rats," men who have seen Death Valley in its grimest mood and were thankful for the trickle of usurky, acrid water that meant life to the wanderer of these desert wastes on Thanksgiving Day, will today sit down to the first Thanksgiving feast in Death Valley of turkey and all the fixin's and rub elbows with men and women from the outside world who have come as sightseers to view the wonders of this forbidding region.

Lobster, sand-dabs and other delicacies have been shipped in, though for the most part the dinner will comprise a Death Valley menu—turkey raised on Furnace Creek ranch, also fresh vegetables and fruits, grouse from the Panamint Mountains, cactus salad and sherbet, frozen in Death Valley's own ice plant.

Mr. H. W. Eichbaum, wife of the Death Valley pioneer and road builder, who has linked this region with the outside world, will preside as hostess over the dinner as "the first lady of Death Valley." Mrs. Eichbaum is the first woman to have made her home in the heart of Death Valley. Honored guests at the festive board will be "Shorty" Harris of Bull Frog fame, Sam Ball and Sam Adams and "Tow-Gun" Charlie Walker.

REDLANDS WILL OBSERVE HOLIDAY

REDLANDS, Nov. 23.—Thanksgiving is to be a general holiday in Redlands, with practically every business house in the city closed, the banks, the offices and the public buildings.

In the schools of Redlands today there were special Thanksgiving programs with plays and recitations featuring the day in most of the rooms. The public schools and the University of Redlands are closed for the remainder of the week.

The holiday is featured here by two events over the week-end. One is the older boys' conference of the Y. M. C. A., which is to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and the other is the opening of the new nine holes of the country club course on Saturday.

To Investigate Strange Death

HUNTINGTON PARK, November 23. Further investigation in the death of Hugo Schmidt of South Gate, who was burned to death Sunday night, was recommended by a Coroner's jury here yesterday afternoon.

During the investigation, Schmidt's two companions, Homer Peterson and Howard Whitehead, were called to the witness stand, and both testified that they had been together for some time during the afternoon, and up until the time of young Schmidt's death. They stated that they had secured two bottles of wine from a place near Main and First streets, Sunday afternoon, and that they drank some of the liquid.

In the evening, according to the testimony, the three went to a local church where they remained about fifteen minutes after which they got into Schmidt's machine and started out East Irvington avenue, toward Bell.

When near the eastern edge of the city, Peterson and Whitehead left the car for a minute, Schmidt driving ahead for a distance of fifty feet, they stated. When they looked around to return to the car, it was enveloped in flames, they stated.

The two ran to the car, and tried to get Schmidt out of the machine, and then ran for help.

They were later taken in charge by local police and held at the station for investigation.

The jury yesterday recommending further investigation, returned a verdict that Schmidt's death was caused by the automobile becoming enveloped in flames while the deceased was seated in the machine.

Schmidt leaves a mother and a brother. The funeral services were held this morning.

HOSPITAL HAS BUSIEST MONTH

UPLAND, Nov. 23.—October proved to be the busiest month in the history of San Antonio Community Hospital, Mrs. Caroline Vermilyea, superintendent, disclosed in a report to the hospital board yesterday.

There were 127 patients admitted to the institution during the month, which netted receipts of nearly $7000.

Steady visits of the stork kept every available compartment filled with new babies during the month. Emergency beds were pressed into service for the little newcomers. The freebed fund of $10,000, is now within $1400 of its goal, Mrs. Vermilyea reported.

Judge Refuses to Enforce One Hour Parking

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 23.—A break between Chief of Police John G. Nish and Police Judge Donald E. Van Luven was forecast today when the magistrate continued his policy of suspending sentences on all violators of the city's one-hour parking law and the police vigorously renewed the campaign of citing all violators into court.

Judge Van Luven has announced that he will impose no penalties on motorists cited for violating the parking law until after the City Council receives a protest by business men that the law is hurting trade in San Bernardino. The business men through the Chamber of Commerce have called a meeting Friday at which a request to the Council to amend the law to provide two-hour parking will undoubtedly be presented.

"It would be unfair to impose penalties on motorists who violate the one-hour law if it is to be amended," said Judge Van Luven in supporting his adopted policy of leniency to the law violators.

The police, however, have adopted a police of drastic enforcement of the law as long as it is on the city books. More than ninety motorists were cited into court in the past week on the one-hour parking law, but more than twenty have had their $5 fines suspended, no direct penalties having been assessed in the Police Court.

Addition Made to Mail Lines

FONTANA, Nov. 23. — Authority from the Postmaster-General at Washington has just been received here for an extension of mail service twenty-seven miles in the Fontana district, according to Postmaster Edward Rees. The new service, which will provide daily deliveries for virtually every resident of the community, will go into effect on December 16, next.

First rural deliveries were inaugurated here on September 1, 1924, when a twenty-two-mile route was covered three times each week. Two years later the route had been extended to thirty-one miles and daily mail service was given for the first time. A total of fifty-seven miles will be covered under the new plan.

Postmaster Rees said today that the present postoffice quarters were inadequate and that he expected additional space or a new structure would be provided for in the near future.

Petite Beauty Puts McCormick Through Paces

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 23.—Harold Fowler McCormick, manufacturer and capitalist of Chicago, acted as chauffeur today for a pretty 22-year-old State traffic officer, obeying her orders to the best of his ability.

Although Mr. McCormick has been driving an automobile for twenty years, he has no license to drive in California, so he appeared today at the Santa Barbara office of the State Motor Vehicle Department.

Under the guidance of Miss Marguerite Horsch, petite and blond and who wears a badge almost as large as herself, Mr. McCormick meekly turned right, turned left, gave the proper arm signals, obeyed boulevard stops and parked, all at her direction.

"A perfect driver," murmured Miss Horsch, who is office clerk, as she handed Mr. McCormick his official permit to drive.

BEACH POLICE ARREST FIVE

Hold-up Victim Trails Asserted Yeggmen

Aids Officers in Breaking Up Desperate Gang

Note Written in Code Gives Tip to Detectives

LONG BEACH, Nov. 23.—A series of hold-ups in Long Beach and the murder at Wilmington of Jose Mauricia, storekeeper, during a hold-up, may be cleared up, local police say, as the result of the round-up here today of four men and one woman said to be members of a gang that has been operating in Long Beach and the neighboring city.

Detective Sergeants Wright, Dixon and Springer, who were assigned to the case several days ago, caused the arrest of the quintet after one of the hold-up victims had turned detective and followed the members of the gang about the city for three nights watching their operations. One member of the group, said to be the leader, still is at large.

The suspects, all residents of a cottage in Venetian Square, picked the wrong victim when they held up and robbed C. E. Elliott, another resident of Venetian Square, Sunday night. Elliott is the brother of Robert Elliott, Orange county deputy sheriff, and, spying the pair of gunmen who held him up as they emerged from a house in Venetian Square a day or two later, followed them and studied their methods. As a result, he was able to turn several clews over to police on which they acted and which led to the round-up of the five prisoners.

The prisoners are E. Webb, Murrell J. Ball, Harold A. Jackson, Robert L. Owens and Laura Tanner. Two of the pair have been practically identified by one of the half-score hold-up victims and police late this afternoon were endeavoring to locate other victims to identify the prisoners.

A note, written in code, found in the mail box of the Venetian Square cottage housing the gang, but in which the name Newhouse was written, led police Monday to the Newhouse Cafe, where the night before suspicious-looking men apparently bent on holding up the place had been seen and complaint made to the police. Guard was placed on the cafe and the robbery frustrated, police assert

The majority of the hold-up victims were robbed as they crossed the foot bridge over the flood control channel leading into the unfrequented harbor district. One Japanese restaurant was added to the list of hold-ups a week ago. The murder of Mauricia in Wilmington, which occurred last Thursday night when Mauricia, proprietor of a grocery store, reached for his gun when ordered to hold up his hands, will be laid at the door of at least two members of the gang, local police said.

Valley Walnut Crop Also Large

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 23.—Following the report of the State's $16,000,000 walnut crop, David Brown, manager of the San Fernando Valley Growers' Association, stated that the nut crop in the valley this year is the largest of record. The walnut plant here has handled already 450 tons of walnuts, against only 175 tons up to this period last year. The figures represent the first pool of the nuts, all of which has been packed and shipped out. A second pool will be made in about two weeks.

To date only 5 cents per pound has been made on the walnuts. Other payments will follow in regular order as usual. Despite the fact that the valley walnut crop is the largest in its history, it is probable that next year will see an output twice as large. This is due to the fact that hundreds of acres of walnuts are scheduled to come into bearing for the first time in 1928.

Comparatively speaking the walnut growing industry in San Fernando Valley is in its infancy. Each year for the last several years has shown gradual increase in production, when growing conditions are fairly favorable.

GLENDALE COUPLE WED FIFTY YEARS

GLENDALE, Nov. 23.—Recalling a wedding that took place in Los Angeles fifty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Tweedy, 324 North Louise street, yesterday celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a group of close friends who were present to congratulate them. Among the guests at the celebration were several of those who had attended the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Tweedy half a century ago, including Mr. and Mrs. James Tweedy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tweedy of Los Angeles; Mrs. Emily Tweedy and Mrs. Aurelia Tweedy of Huntington Park, and Mrs. Mary McNerney of Hollywood

BUILDING DEPARTMENT IS AFTER MORE ROOM

VAN NUYS, Nov. 23.—While waiting for the outcome of the plan to build a new and larger City Hall here, it is probable that the large force of the San Fernando Valley building department in the present City Hall on Sylvan street, will move from its quarters into the rear wing of the second floor of the new Arcade of the Provident Building and Loan Association, on Van Nuys Boulevard. J. J. Backus, superintendent of buildings, has recommended that the department be moved for want of space and has approved the new location in the Arcade. If the recommendation is approved by the Los Angeles Building and Safety Commission the matter of removal will be taken before the City Council for further ratification.

ACCUSE BOY OF KILLING TWO VICTIMS

Long Beach Youth Arrested for Eight Burglaries and Double Murder

CHINO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Richard Haver, 16 years of age, was arrested today at a vocational training institution here, charged with eight burglaries and the slaying of two elderly men in Long Beach while robbing their homes last September. The arrest was made by Chief of Police H. J. Henry of Chino and Long Beach detectives, who said the boy had confessed to the crimes.

Haver, who was placed in the juvenile institution two weeks ago at the request of his father, is charged with fatally injuring Frank Foster, 85, of Long Beach, at the latter's home on September 6. Haver is asserted to have pushed the elderly man downstairs when Foster tried to prevent the robbery of his home, causing injuries from which Foster died a few days later.

The second murder charge against the youthful burglar resulted from a similar attack twenty days later. Haver, in robbing the home of O. P. Hartman, 66, also of Long Beach, was interrupted by Hartman's unexpected awakening. Haver is asserted to have struck the man on the head with a blunt weapon. Hartman died the following day of a skull fracture.

A $5 gold piece and three alleged stolen watches were the clews upon which the heretofore mysterious murders were solved and the crimes traced to Haver. The stolen articles were found in the Long Beach home of Mrs. R. A. Post where the youth had been living. The detectives said Mrs. Post, declared the articles were given her by the youth Haver, the police said, implicated Mrs. Post in his activities, declaring she staged "wild parties" at her home, and had him obtain liquor for them. The gold piece and watches were assertedly stolen from the homes of the youth's two victims.

The youth's mother, Mrs. Emma Haver, lives in Oakland.

MOVES TO DISMISS CHARGES

Fresno Man Accused of Taking Fireman Fund Asks for Writ

FRESNO, Nov. 23.—Petition for a writ of habeas corpus freeing Lee Manchell from jail on a charge of misappropriation of approximately $5000 of funds of the Fresno firemen's Labor Day celebration was filed in the Superior Court today by Attorney Harry O. Meyers. The writ is made returnable Friday at 11 a.m.

The action today is the third attempt that has been made to liberate Manchell, the first being before Police Judge James G. Crichton when a reduction in Manchell's bond was sought and a second attempt on a writ of habeas corpus in which review of Crichton's refusal to reduce the bond was asked. The present action charges that Judge Crichton committed Manchell without probable cause, and that the transcript of Manchell's preliminary hearing does not show evidence that any crime was committed.

Manchell was the promoter of the celebration for the relief fund of the Fresno Fire Department. He was arrested at Birmingham, Ala., after having been once under arrest at Wichita, Kan., from where he fled before a Fresno police lieutenant arrived to return him to this city.

The organization meeting will take place at the home of Miss Jessie Campbell on Woodman street, at 8 p.m. All former college boys or girls are invited to be present and assist in drawing up a charter and by-laws. H.V.S. Hubbard, Mrs. George Clever, Miss Campbell and Phelps Gates are active in promoting the new club. When the club is perfected an effort will be made to affiliate with some of the larger university clubs in Los Angeles.

SUNDAY CONCERTS AT MEMORIAL PARK

PASADENA, Nov. 23.—The Sunday afternoon municipal concerts which have been held at Carmelita Park for the past several years, will be held at Memorial Park, starting December 4, according to the ruling of the Board of City Directors.

Directors Merrill, Taylor and Daugherty recommended the change because the donors of Carmelita Park provided that it should be used only as a site for an art institute, the previous concerts having been permitted by the trustees of the Pasadena Art Institute under protest.

Mrs. Bertha P Calkins who is in charge of the concerts for the city, objected to the proposed change because of street car and railroad tracks near Memorial Park, but her protests were overruled by the Directors.

TO EXPERIMENT WITH PLAYS

Proposal to Endow Playhouse

Attempt Made to Drama League

Would be Only Kind in World

PASADENA, Nov. 23.—A plan to make the Pasadena Community Playhouse the world's first endowed theater and an institution for dramatic experimentation was advanced today by Mrs. Johnson, president of the Pasadena Community Playhouse Association.

Mrs. Johnson said that such a plan all kinds of new ideas could be tried, making the theater a laboratory of art. It is not possible now when the play comes directly from the box office.

She pictured the theater as a center for the greatest plays and an institution which would be the first of its kind in the world where the professional theater is generally considered to be run for profit.

Nowhere in the English-speaking world is there an institution such as endowed theater, Mrs. Johnson said in asking consideration of the plan she proposes. She declared it would be as fitting to endow a theater for experiment and research in dramatic art as it was for the Huntington to endow its magnificent library as a center for historical and literary research.

Her plan was presented at a meeting of the Pasadena Community Drama League of America, of which Mrs. Robert A. Millikan, wife of the head of the California Institute of Technology, is president. A large number of notables of the literary world attended the luncheon meeting which was held at the Hotel Huntington.

Packing-House Closes Season

FULLERTON, Nov. 23.—With the final preparations for closing the packing-house of the Fullerton Valencia Walnut Growers' Association, officials of that organization were jubilant today over the season's run which broke all records in the history. During the season just closed the association shipped 11,000,000 pounds of walnuts, having a wholesale value of $945,000, according to Arthur Staley, secretary-manager.

The largest crop before this was in 1918, when 1130 tons were handled. Staley declared, however, that the crop in this vicinity was not only exceptionally large, the trees having borne heavily, but that May did considerable damage to the nuts, so that but a small percentage of them were of "No. 1" quality. Staley explained that the nuts are shipped locally being packed in Emeralds. The fact that the Fullerton Diamonds were handled in the county made necessary much grading, which was responsible for but unavoidable expense to the association, Staley said. Since the dealers usually required full carloads All necessary preparations for next season are now under way at the packing-house here, which will not be closed for several days.

ASK DAMAGES FOR ACCIDENT INJURY

ONTARIO, Nov. 23.—Asserting she bears permanent scars resulting from an automobile accident on May on Valley Boulevard, one mile west of Bloomington, Mrs. Mamie Rice of Ontario has filed a suit in Superior Court asking damages of $25,000 from Ray D McCurdy, her employer, F. K. Cox.

An additional $1143 is asked for hospital, medical and nursing fees and loss of time from her work while recovering from her injuries. The plaintiff states that she was riding in her car in a careful manner when McCurdy, acting as agent for Cox, crashed into her car while driving in a careless and negligent manner. She asserts she received numerous cuts, bruises and lacerations and permanent scars on her arms and face.

Cubs Divide Huge Melon

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—When the board of directors of the Chicago Cubs baseball club gather around Mr. William Wrigley's table week after next it is expected that a big melon will be cut and apportioned to the stockholders because the team had the biggest season in its history, leading all rivals in attendance, and thereby creating profits estimated to be close to the $1,000,000 mark. The Cubs' home game receipts alone reached almost $1,000,000 for the season. During the year 1,200,000 fans clicked their way through the turnstiles, and the average price of admission is close to the dollar mark. All told it is safe to say Wrigley's club showed profits of $750,000 on the year, if indeed it did not top the $1,000,000 mark—a figure never before reached by any major league club, even those which have broken into the world series cornucopias.

PULLMAN TIPS

EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO WITH THE U.S.C. FOOTBALL TEAM (Bachita, N. M.) Nov. 23. Rocky Kemp and Charley Borden have already won undying notoriety on this trip and the party is less than one day away from home.

It all happened when the boys got ready to hit the hay last night. Rocky opened his suit case and brought forth the loudest pair of pajamas ever discovered outside of Hollywood's most exclusive motion-picture circles. They were a knockout. In fact, they were so noisy that for a while Coach Howard Jones couldn't hear himself think, and the Trojan mentor is doing a heap of heavy concentrating on this excursion.

It was feared for a while that Keane wouldn't get any sleep at all last night; not because his pajamas were so noisy, but on account of their unique design. His robes de nuit are of a modest black and white check combination. There were two checker fiends in the next car and upon passing through they saw Rocky stretched out in all his manly glory.

The checker nuts stopped, looked Rocky over and began to mumble to themselves. Just as

Seats for 40,000 persons in the Coliseum will go on sale this morning at 9:30. Twenty booths strewing the big bowl will dispense the general admission pasteboards for the sum of $1, and also a limited number of reserved seats. The general admission ducats are a real Turkey Day bargain and entitle the holder to witness both games for the price of one.

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Seasoned with a dash of ancient rivalry today's pigskin feast will be served piping hot on the Coliseum turf with the colorful University of Hawaii eleven battling Occidental College at 2:30, preceded by the Hollywood-L. A. High game at 12:30 for the championship of the City League.

There were no rainbows yesterday, but the Deans went through a short, snappy workout just the same, although a rainbow would have assured them a victory over the Bengals. It's a tradition back on the Hawaii campus that a rainbow before a game means a win for the Deans, and the funny part about it is that the rainbow has never broken faith. Two years ago Otto Klum's boys got a glimpse of a rainbow out at Pasadena where they were working out and two days later they bumped off the Tigers. The weather man seems to be favoring Oxy this time, for he has promised a perfect football day with lots of sunshine, but no sign of moisture.

COACH KLUM.

Chances are that Hawaii is going to throw a lot of passes. Coach Klum favors an open game and the Deans were tossing the pigskin around yesterday as if they knew how. Also, if this Lemon Hoit person gets to trickling through the Bengals' paws, he may be a source of great trouble to the Eagle Rock eleven. He is fleet of foot and wiggles his hips with the dexterity of a Hawaiian maiden, which is considerable. Walter Macfarlane is another impressive backfield man in his multi-colored outfit of rainbow stripes. He plays fullback for the Islanders and does most of the punting. Between the two of them and Shiladell, a smashing line plunger, the Deans are well fixed in the ball toting department. The Deans will have a slight weight

OREGON TACKLES HUSKIES

COACH McEWAN

In an effort to match the strength of the much-heralded Washington line, Capt. McEwan plans to start a 200-pound forward wall.

With the light men eliminated from the line the Oregon team, which has yet to win a game this season, will go into tomorrow's contest without several of its regulars. John Warren and Homer Dixon will be at tackle posts instead of Harry Wood and Tom Weems. Merril Hagen will start at guard in place of George McCutchan and Frank Biggs will be in Ted Pope's end berth.

Rockne Drills Irish Players for Big Clash

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Nov 23. (AP)—Knute Rockne, whose Notre Dame football team will engage Southern California's Trojans Saturday at Soldier Field, Chicago, sidestepped savage ticket applicants long enough today to sneak in the back gate of Cartier Field and do some brief but profound "mastermind" with his ambitious young men. This subtle process consisted of a drill on all the fundamentals of blocking, charging and tackling, a swift running through of formations and plays which will be relied upon to outscore Howard Jones's tutored proteges, and a steady flow of low-voiced conversation which, it has been said, has made Notre Dame teams of the past

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

WHILE Pittsburgh's acceptance of the invitation to play in the East-West game at Pasadena on New Year's Day probably won't be forthcoming until after the struggle with Penn State this afternoon, it is all cut and dried. Graduate Manager Al Masters of Stanford dropped into the city yesterday to perfect certain arrangements with the Tournament of Roses Association and to start the ball rolling on the publicity that will tell Southland folks about the wonders of the New Year's competing teams.

As far as Stanford is concerned that is unnecessary. And from what we have all heard about Pitt, the Panthers have the type of a team that everybody likes to see in action, namely, an offensive eleven with a lot of punch and a great open-field runner in Gibby Welch. Any time a guy can run back two kickoffs on strong teams for touchdown in a single season he has to have something on the ball. The last team Welch did this on was Nebraska and the run practically gave Pitt victory over the Cornhuskers, 21 to 13, much to the mortification of Harry Minor.

One is still coming. The other is going. That seems to tell the story in the case of Messrs. Finklestein and Scheer... ...n to the ring world as Fields and Callahan.

Jackie Fields beat Mushy Callahan so decisively at the Olympic the other night that it was hardly a contest. If the form he displayed against Fields is an indication of his ability today Callahan is washed up as a topnotcher. He is no more the furious, rip-snorting kid who fought two terrific battles with Ace Hudkins, one of which he won, the other being a draw, than the man in the moon. There may be extenuating reasons for Mushy's poor showing the other night, but if there aren't, he is no longer a match for Sergt. Samm... Baker, who stopped him in Chicago last summer when Mushy was still good. On the other hand, Fields is improving. His hitting the other night was far more powerful than on any previous occasion, and his speed and generalship were splendid.

It not only will mark the first time the national classic has ever been staged in the Far West, but it accords this State unusual distinction in the first move by the United States Golf Association for a wider geographical distribution of the classic, thereby acknowledging the great strides taken by golf in this State in the past ten years.

GOLF TOURNEY CALLED OFF

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 23. (AP)—The Sacramento open golf tournament, which was to have been held next month, has been called off. Members of the Del Paso Country Club, who were arranging the event, gave failure of other Northern California clubs to co-operate by holding tournaments as the reason.

FANS TO HEAR TROJAN GAME

Southern California fans will get an opportunity to hear the play-by-play results of the Trojan-Notre Dame clash at the Coliseum beginning at 11:30 Saturday. Bezdek's State College Stars May Upset Panthers in Annual Clash; Cornell Touted to Lose

BY W. W. ROPER
Famous Football Authority and Princeton Coach

[Copyright, 1927, in All Countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—The leading games in the East tomorrow, Thanksgiving Day, will be Brown-Colgate in Providence, Columbia-Syracuse in New York, Penn State-Pittsburgh in Pittsburgh, and Penn-Cornell, Philadelphia.

The Penn State-Pitt contest probably will be the hardest-fought of the day. Pitt has its best team since the days of Glenn Warner, and Bezdek has a regular, old-fashioned State team.

BILL ROPER

It is hard to pick the winner, but I favor Pitt by a close score. Penn State played a tie with New York University the same day Pitt was defeating Nebraska. The Pitt line is more powerful than State's. Pitt hasn't lost a game, while Penn State lost to Bucknell early in the season.

Physical condition will play an important part in this game. Both teams have been through a stiff season. I would say a heavy, wet day would favor Pitt.

How Roper Picks 'Em for Today

Penn State-Pittsburgh: "I favor Pitt by a close score."

Penn-Cornell: "I favor Penn, but I don't think they will have a runaway."

Brown-Colgate: "I don't say Brown will win, but I doubt if Colgate has a set-up. This may be Brown's day."

N.Y.U.-Nebraska: "N.Y.U. is very likely to end a creditable season with a bad defeat."

Columbia-Syracuse: "A toss-up. If this happens to be a good week, Columbia has enough power to win."

DRAKE ARRIVES SATURDAY

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Drake University's football team, opponent of such eminent foes as Notre Dame, Minnesota, Pittsburgh and Navy this season, resumed tonight the trip to the Coast for the game at Los Angeles Saturday with the University of California at Los Angeles.

The Bulldogs of Des Moines, Iowa, after a two-day stopover here, left at 8:45 p.m. for San Bernardino, Cal., where they will remain until the morning of the game with U.C.L.A.

The Drake footballers were put through their second workout here this afternoon, after spending the morning on a sightseeing trip. Their coach, Ossie Solem, expressed himself pleased with the two-day stopover, declaring that it had done much to put his squad in fine trim for the forthcoming tussle.

ROMANS UPSET POLY MIDGETS

Blue and White Gridders in Victory by 14-6 Score

Shiffner and McConaghy Nab Passes for Touchdowns

Naylor Scores for Mechanic Team in Last Quarter

While their coach was home sick in bed, L. A. High's fighting lightweight squad gave their mentor, Dave Ridderbof, something to be thankful for today by defeating the Poly midgets, 14 to 6, yesterday on Dunn Field in a game that decided the City League Class B championship.

The Rompin' Romans, who outweighed and outcharged their Poly opponents, almost completely outclassed the Mechanics to wind up their highly successful season with six straight victories. Yesterday's loss was the first suffered by the Mechanic midgets, who wound up in the runner-up berth.

L. A. High's outfit won by mixing up a series of passes with a hard-running attack that played havoc with the Poly ends and tackles, Shifty Dave Shiffner, the half-pint quarter; Bob Reed, Horace Miller and Capt. Elvyn Jones formed the backfield that produced the two Roman touchdowns, Jones passing to McConaghy for the second score. Shiffner took a pass from Reed for the first touchdown.

POLY TACKLES HIGH

The Mechanics inability to tackle below the neck cost them their chance of victory, for several times Roman backs got away for good gains after they had been ineffectually tackled. "Chili" Gomes and Naylor did the best work for Poly in the backfield.

After being held on the 3-yard line in their opening drive, the Romans swept down to a touchdown in the second quarter when, with the ball on the 8-yard line, Reed passed to Shiffner over the goal line. The same pass was worked for the conversion.

In the third quarter the Romans scored again when Jones passed to McConaghy, who swerved and sidestepped forty yards to a touchdown. McConaghy converted with a place kick.

A penalty of thirty-six yards, which was called on Los Angeles High when Mindlin roughed the Poly kicker, gave the Mechanics the ball on the Romans' 36-yard line in the fourth quarter and paved the way for the Poly touchdown. Passes from Gomes to Spincer and Gomes to Beroutt gave the Mechanics the ball on the 9-yard line, from where Naylor slipped over on a prettily executed quarterback sneak that completely fooled the Roman secondary defense. Gomes's attempt to convert was smeared.

MANUAL ARTS COPS HAIRLINE VICTORY FROM RAILSPLITTERS

BY FRANK ROCHE

Father Time and the old Manual Arts jinx enabled the Toilers to snatch a hairline victory by a 7-to-6 score over the Lincoln High School eleven yesterday at Wilson Field. After outplaying their old rivals by 3-to-1 in the last half of the game, the Railsplitters pushed the ball to the 2-yard line and were all set to punch it over when old Father Time waved his wand and the game ended, giving the Toilers a victory by one point. The Lincoln team after getting away to a bad start in the first period, when the Toilers ran up a touchdown on them, came back in the last half of the game and ripped the Toilers to pieces, but they were never able to get by the Manual jinx.

On two occasions in the third period just as the Lincoln boys seemed about to score a touchdown, something happened in the way of a fumble or a bonehead play to hold them back. They did punch over a touchdown in the fourth period on straight football, when Osborne pushed his way through the Toilers for the score after "Big Boy" Brown and little Alvis Parrish had smashed their way down the field with the ball. Brown failed to convert, his kick being wide, and the Railsplitters lost their chance for a tie right then and there.

"With only five minutes to play the Lincoln players got possession of the ball after an exchange of punts. Mesa ran it to the 25-yard line and then "Big Boy" Brown, a skinny colored youngster, ripped the Toilers for two straight first downs. Osborne, Klubnick and Parrish passed it and pushed it to the 2-yard line and were just about to crash it across when the gun went off, ending the struggle.

Manual had all the best of the first period and Boy Sherry scored their touchdown after line smashes by Wills, Towle and Rosenberg. Bob Flanagan kicked the goal and gathered the extra point, which later proved to be the winning tally of the game.

Mandell Cops From Bambino

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23. (AP)—Sammy Mandell, Chicago, lightweight champion of the world, outpointed Babe Ruth, Philadelphia, at the Armory A.C. tonight to gain the unanimous decision of the judges at the end of a slashing ten-round battle. The title was not at stake, both men being above the lightweight limit. Mandell weighed 136 pounds, Ruth 137.

The Philadelphian put up a game fight, but was no match for the champion. The first six rounds were fast and furious, with the Chicagoan doing most of the leading. In the seventh Ruth appeared to tire and Mandell landed several stiff punches but was unable to floor his opponent.

A wild swing by Ruth in the eighth round opened a cut over the champion's eye. Blood flowed freely from the wound, but it failed to take any of the sting from Mandell's savage right and left jabs. Mandell went after Ruth in the tenth round, apparently bent on a knockout but the local boxer managed to ward off most of his hard blows.

SAUER COPS MAT CLASH OVER JONES

Triple Threat Grappler Gets Winning Fall from Hook Scissors Expert

Mr. Peter Sauer, the high-speed grappling artist with a hold for every occasion, secured one fall and the match from Paul Jones last night in one of the fastest and best-fought mat bouts seen at the Olympic Auditorium for some time. Sauer secured the winning fall with a series of reverse headlocks after 1h. 37m. and 25s. of highly palpitating wrestling and then finished strong to take the nod.

Sauer, frequently referred to as a triple-threat grappler, was the first man to solve Admiral Jones's famous hook scissors in the past few years. The wrestlers battled back and forth for over an hour with first one gaining an advantage and then the other. Jones finally clamped on his devastating hook scissors which he held for over five minutes. Instead of weakening, Sauer not only broke loose from the hold, but immediately secured an advantage when he secured a reverse headlock. Jones was tossed for a loop four times in a row before he was subdued and the decision awarded.

Dick Daviscourt, 235-pound matman, flipped Jack Roller with a half-Nelson and crotch hold after thirteen minutes and two seconds of ferocious wrestling. Both men were adept with their fists and Daviscourt gave Roller quite a shellacking.

MOORE TOSSED OUT OF RING AT HARBOR

Leo Mitchell and Ray Moore were tossed out of the ring in the sixth round of a scheduled ten-round bout at Wilmington last night after Moore had been warned twice to get in and fight.

Andy Mitchell won a six-round decision over Bert Moore in the six-round semi-wind-up. Sailor Near knocked out Algey Lambert in the fifth round of a scheduled six-round bout with a series of lefts and rights to the head. Jesse Couch defeated Hank Gatton in four rounds and Jimmy Power knocked out Ray Gott in the third round of the opener.

GREAT BATTLE ON PREP CARD

Newman's Athletes Lost to Cards Earlier, 5-0

Capacity Crowd Expected to See Playoff Clash

BY BOB RAY

Two of the most powerful high-school elevens in Southern California will clash today on the Pomona gridiron when Archie Nisbet's Cardinals, champions of the Citrus Belt League, entertain "Chief" Newman's Covina Colts, San Gabriel Valley loop winners, in a first-round game of the play-off for the C.I.F. championship of this section of the State.

A capacity crowd is expected to tax the Pomona field, for the clash between the Colts and Cardinals has the whole San Gabriel Valley talking nothing but football. Covina has been guided by Newman to the Southern California title for the past two years, but the Pomona eleven believes it will stop the Colts' march to another championship today.

In a practice game early in the season, Pomona defeated Covina, 5 to 0, but it is generally known that Newman's elevens don't get up steam until the season gets fairly under way so that game can't be counted for too much. The Cardinals romped through Redlands, Chaffey Union, Riverside and San Bernardino in easy fashion for the Citrus Belt League title and have a strong attack built around their backfield quartet, composed of "Hippo" Wilson, Vejar, Affleburgh and Keough. The Pomona line will start the game slightly hampered with its captain, Davidson, out with an injured ankle. Smith will start in Davidson's place. Otherwise the Cardinals are in A-1 shape.

Covina's attack is built around a quick-charging line and a strong running attack that features Galus Shaver, who apparently has taken Don Rieke's place on the Colt eleven. Jewett, Anderson, Needham and Goodrich, other Covina backs, are veterans of last year's championship squad.

Bright	L.E.R.	Dunea
Hanna	L.T.R.	Harris
Gatz	L.G.R.	Rae

Arizona Team Tackles Poet Eleven Today

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 23. (AP)—University of Arizona, defeated in only one game this season, went through its final hard drill yesterday afternoon preparatory to meeting the Whittier College Poets here Thanksgiving Day.

"Gloomy Mac" McKale, Wildcat mentor, believed that overconfidence would be the biggest wrinkle to iron out of what otherwise might be a winning aggregation. McKale has been stressing the importance to the Arizona footballers of not underrating the Californians, who hold a victory over Occidental College to their credit. The Oxies tied Arizona in the opening game of the season.

The injury of "Dunc" Brown, tackle, in the home-coming game with the University of California at Los Angeles has necessitated a shift in the line-up. Brown suffered an internal injury and was ordered out of all athletics for several weeks.

LIONS MEET SAINTS TO

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—The local fans will be presented with a choice bit of Turkey Day pigskin tomorrow afternoon when the Loyola Lions of Los Angeles clash with the Gray Fog of St. Ignatius at Kezar Stadium. The odds for winner have remained even with more Gray Fog backers in sight.

Coach Jimmy Needles of St. Ignatius, has announced his first-stringers will start the game. The Gray Fog roster is free from injuries and they should turn in their best football of the season.

The Gray Fog chances will depend a great deal on Capt. Carruthers at center, Horgan, Kropp and Santee in the backfield. If Carruthers proves capable in holding Hoeffer, hard-hitting Lion fullback for short gains much of the visitors' fire will be diminished. Do you go to breakfast wi... a dry, shiny, smarting fac...

It's not necessary any longer. Try this great new cream. It will leave your skin invigorated and soothed instead of hot and stinging.

No wonder shaving hasn't been much of a pleasure. No wonder that although you got up in the morning with your skin cool and rested it was often hot and smarting before you got to the breakfast table.

The reason for it is hydrolysis. Hydrolysis is the scientific name for the process through which free alkali is released when soap is dissolved in water. All soap—and this includes shaving soaps—is made with caustic soda or caustic potash (lye). As long as this caustic constituent is combined in the soap it is harmless, but when water is added a part of the soap "hydrolyzes," forming free alkali. It is this alkali, so liberated, which, in combination with the action of the soap, causes skin irritation.

But you can stop irritating your face now. Science has learned to reduce the amount of free alkali liberated by hydrolysis to a negligible quan... The result is a great shaving ... not only non-irritant, but through ... presence of certain emollient ing... ents, actually beneficial to your ...

Prep Tennis at Fullerton on Tomorrow

One hundred of the most promising of Southern California's high-school tennisers will swing into action tomorrow morning at Fullerton Union High School, where the annual midwinter prep championships open on the Union High courts at 9 o'clock. Chairman Lodge, coach at the Fullerton institution, reports a large entry list including many heretofore noncompetitive institution in the south. Billy Doeg of Santa Monica, brother of Johnny Doeg, 16-year-old sensation, reigns among the leaders in the junior division, while Louise Hoyt of Glendale, runner-up to Miss Gladman twice in the past year, looks like the winner of the girls' play. Each school is allowed two representatives in both the boys' and girls' events.

TIGERS-DEANS BATTLE TODAY

advantage on the line but otherwise the rival forwards rate on par. Oxy's chances of victory rest to a considerable degree on the line. If George Pusco and Johnny Eberle have a good day, the Deans are going to have their hands full stopping the crushing Oxy power plays. The Tigers are also perhaps a trifle more balanced than Hawaii with a fair passing attack, and a neat array of off-tackle bucks, in which Glenn Roselle does most of the ball packing.

Hawaii will enter the game a favorite, mostly because of past efforts, but personally we'd be against picking the Deans against the Tigers and vice versa. It looks like one of those games in which the breaks will play a large part, and thrills will be frequent and chilling.

It is doubtful whether or not the preps will have any voice left after the Roman-Foothiller tilt, which furnishes the first half of the big double bill.

Coach Vic Kelley's Redshirts, or, rather, Whiteshirts, since the boys will be clad in spotless jerseys with crimson numbers, will enter the game a popular favorite. The Romans will be out with their ancient slogan, "You Can't Beat L.A. High," and Herb White's eleven has enough faith in that line to make them hard to beat.

Little Laurie Vejar, Hollywood's diminutive halfback, who boasts of being the smallest in City League varsity competition, is going to get his first opportunity this season on a fast field. Vejar is so small, and he travels at such a fast pace that he skids and slips around like a first timer on an ice rink. But on the Coliseum greensward, with a firm footing, he is expected to furnish the cash customers with a throb or two. Capt. Merrill Brown and Neil McKay will furnish the other half of the Foothiller attack, and Meb Schroeder will call signals.

Upon the capable shoulders of Jimmy Owens falls the task of beating Hollywood more than upon any other man on the team. He is an outstanding quarterback and it will be up to him to make use of a heavier line which should wear down the lighter Hollywood forwards as the game progresses. Besides, he carries the ball a great part of the time and his shifty open-field running has kept the Romans in the running all season. Bob Beaver at fullback and Phil Grossman, who alternates at full and half, are the other two aces in the Roman deck.

A victory for Hollywood will give the Foothillers their first City League championship, even though they lose to Franklin in the final game of the season next week. If L. A. High wins, the Romans will have to down the tough Polytechnic eleven, their proverbial rivals, before claiming the title.

ST. MARY'S DECLINES TO PLAY GENEVA HERE

OAKLAND, Nov. 23. (AP)—An invitation to play Geneva College of Beaver Falls, Pa., in Los Angeles during the Christmas holidays has been declined by St. Mary's College. Board of athletic control members of the Oakland institution felt it would make too long a football season to keep up activities until the first of the year. Geneva was rated as one of the best teams in the East this year.

Trojans Romp Through Light Signal Practice

...ted reserves when the occasion demands. Not having seen Notre Dame this year, we can't vouch for the soundness of Taylor's statement but "Bee" is a well-known writer and has been for years. His report is in direct contrast to that given Howard Jones by Aubrey Devine, who has scouted the Irish in their last three games. But Aubrey is a member of the Trojan coaching staff and if he should tell Jones Southern California can beat Notre Dame and then the Irish should win Devine would be looking for some hole to crawl into. Aubrey was serious, however, and has sent Jones several reams of notes to prove how powerful the Irish are and what the Trojans have to do if they are going to win.

Rocky Kemp, who is looked upon as Capt. Morley Drury's most capable understudy following his brilliant showing against Washington State last week, has developed an infected foot which prevents him from working out with the team at various points along the route. Al Schoving, regular right tackle, has a sprained hoof, but runs signals with the boys and should be ready for action Saturday. How long he will last remains to be seen.

The athletes had two good workouts today and several brief gallops as the train stopped at little jerkwater stations. The first drill was at Tucson this morning, when two teams ran signals for twenty minutes. The boys had to perform on a freshly fertilized lawn surrounding the station and the sweet perfumery almost caused some of the players to lose their appetites. Later on a ten-minute drill was held at Douglas, this taking place just before lunch and inasmuch as there was no fertilized this time the boys enjoyed the workout and finished with a gnawing sensation about the midsection.

MENU SUPERVISED

Arriving here just at dusk, the athletes ran up and down the platform for several minutes, but because of the darkness there was little opportunity for signal work.

Jones is very particular about the menu for his boys and is endeavoring to keep them from gaining a lot of weight by overeating. For lunch they had a fruit cocktail, vegetable salad, toast and orange ice. Steaks are ordered for tonight and they'll probably disappear in a hurry. The athletes are drinking Los Angeles water, which was brought along as a precaution against getting upset through changing beverages. As a general rule a trip does not work much of a hardship on a bunch of football players, as they can rest and store up a lot of energy. This is to their advantage before a hard game, provided they don't become sluggish.

Jones rigged up a blackboard in the club car this morning and presided over a half-hour's chat talk. This consisted chiefly in defense against forward pass formations likely to be employed by Notre Dame.

The Trojan coach is specializing on this secondary defense drill because he knows his line is good. You have only to look at Southern California's remarkable record this year to agree with him.

No team has scored a touchdown by straight running attack on the Trojans this year. And what is more, most of the touchdowns which have been scored have been put over while second or third-string players have been performing for Troy.

GREAT RECORD

Go back over the record of the season and see what you find Occidental didn't score at all, which is a bit surprising, when you figure that they scored once on the veteran Trojans in midseason last year.

Santa Clara scored twice. The first touchdown came in the third quarter, when Mahlon Chambers, a fifth-string quarterback who isn't even with the team on this trip, fumbled a punt and the Broncos got the ball on the nine-yard line. Being unable to gain through Southern California second-string line the Broncos came to fourth down with five yards to go. Simon passed to Granucci and the latter got the ball after Barragar had slapped it into his arms. The other touchdown came on a pass in the last two minutes of play, when Jones was down to the last of his subs.

Oregon State scored twice. Drury's punt was blocked on the eight-yard line in the second quarter and Robbins picked up the ball and ran over the goal line. The Trojans haven't had a blocked kick since because Jones had perfected his backfield blocking, a thing which could not be done before the first conference game of the season. Oregon's second touchdown came late in the game, when Elliott fumbled a bad pass from center and Logan dashed 68 yards.

Stanford scored twice. The first aerial shot went over Russ Saunders's head and came when Drury was on the bench near the close of the first half. The second occurred in the last thirty seconds of play, Fleishhacker tossing to Vincenti, when the Cards had fourth down and three yards to go for a touchdown. Since the Stanford game the Trojans have gone through four battles, two of them tough scraps, and the only touchdown scored in all that time was a last-minute pass by Colorado, a team which was defeated, 48 to 7.

Which goes to prove that the Trojans are a mighty tough defensive outfit and that their defense against passes has improved tremendously, for this line of attack was the main hope of California and Washington State and neither of these teams made enough yardage to put in your vest pocket.

The weather so far has been good and if the team does not run into any colder climate than this everybody will be thankful. Along about tomorrow this time it may be different.

HICKEY AND CHILL SETTLE

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (AP)—President Thomas J. Hickey of the American Association, announced today that the $300,000 libel suit brought against him by Ollie Chill, former umpire in the league, had been settled out of court at Kansas City. He declined to reveal details of the settlement and said he had no further comment to make.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

TWO wild and woolly football games are promised for this afternoon at the Coliseum. The curtain-raiser between Hollywood and L. A. High schools which starts promptly at 12:30, will be exciting because high-school games between close rivals battling for the leadership of the City League, are always that way. The one which follows between the University of Hawaii and Occidental College promises to be the same way for the reason that the Hawaiians in particular, are noted for a great open-field and aerial attack, and the Tigers, who haven't had a chance to scout them, are sure to have to bend every effort to score to win the game. There ought to be several touchdowns in the course of the afternoon.

There's something about a holiday high-school crowd that makes it distinct from anything else in the world. The big Stanford-California game has color and excitement, but it is more repressed and organized. The high-school kids are spontaneous in their excitement. They start out in fever heat at the opening kick-off and they stay that way for the rest of the afternoon. Two years ago in the Turkey Day double-header, L. A. and Poly started things off with a rush and the Hawaiians and the Tigers kept it up.

One outstanding thing we remember about Coach Klum's Hawaiians, is that they seem to have about twice as much ginger and pepper as the ordinary run of college football teams. They have more of the spontaneity of the high-school youngsters, coupled with the skill that goes with experience. Their game against the Tigers two years ago showed that they could go like a house afire for a whole game and take advantage of every possible opportunity to break away for long gains. They're worth seeing.

There will be a lot of interest locally in the outcome of the eastern game between Penn State and Pittsburgh. Pitt is a possibility for the New Year's Day game at Pasadena, and will have to step high, wide and handsome to bowl over Hugo Bezdek's battlers from Penn State. By all rights Pitt ought to win by a couple of touchdowns, but if they don't, we hope those at Pasadena will not forget the University of Georgia as a possibility.

M'LARNIN WINS OVER WALLACE

Wallace swinging wild with left hooks and missing with his right-hand shots. McLarnin also was short with his rights, but succeeded in blasting over two or three lefts to the body as he forced Wallace to the ropes.

McLarnin was the aggressor in the sixth with Wallace backing away to escape rights to the chin. The Los Angeles boxer connected with five hard rights to the jaw in this session.

They slugged in the center of the ring at the start of the seventh, with Wallace scoring with rights, but McLarnin chased him to the ropes and landed five rights to the jaw without a return. Wallace appeared to be hurt, but refused to clinch. He was bleeding from the nose as the round ended.

McLarnin staggered Wallace with a right to the chin in the eighth, but Wallace came back with another savage right to the jaw. After this exchange, Wallace started to box instead of trading punches, and McLarnin's right eye started to close.

The tenth was a rip snorter, with both standing toe to toe in midring, exchanging punch for punch, but with McLarnin outscoring him.

McLarnin went into the ring with a weight advantage of six to seven pounds. He scaled 136 1-4 at 3 p.m. and figured to take on an additional pound or two between that time and the hour of crawling through the ropes. Wallace tipped the beam at 131 1-4, a pound below his usual weight.

Sammy McLarnin, a brother of the Los Angeles boxer, scored a technical knockout over Paul Pullman of Windsor in the third round of the opener. The match was one-sided, with Pullman hitting the floor in the first round. McLarnin weighed 144½, Pullman 132 3-4.

Slattery Wins Over McCarthy

BUFFALO, Nov. 23. (AP) — Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, light-heavyweight champion, received the decision over Pat McCarthy of Boston, a heavyweight, in a six-round bout here tonight. Slattery weighed 169 1-2 and McCarthy 184.

Slattery punished McCarthy badly in the first four rounds, closing an eye and cutting another. McCarthy staggered Jimmy in the fifth with a series of right-hand punches, and Jimmy was down for a flash in this round without taking a count. McCarthy hit low in the third and fourth and was warned. Slattery's speed made McCarthy appear outclassed.

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK (Mex.) Nov. 23.—The eleventh annual meeting of the Tia Juana Jockey Club gets under way tomorrow at the picturesque course in Lower California, fifteen miles south of San Diego, and is scheduled to run 100 or more racing days, during which nearly $2,000,000 will be distributed in stakes and purses.

Stage Benefit Show in Ring

With a great show the Pasadena Arena tonight presents an especial appeal to all fight fans. The cause is Joe Bailey, Pasadena boxer who went hunting and came back with a shattered arm which will keep him in the hospital for weeks to come and who never can fight again. He is to get all the proceeds of this Thanksgiving night show.

ACE HUDKINS.

The program itself includes stars of ring, mat and stage, in a monster benefit program. Probably its highlight is the appearance in exhibitions against sparring partners of those famous characters, Ace Hudkins and Jackie Fields. Each has promised faithfully to appear. Ernie Hood and Don Kennedy, Crown City favorites, also will appear in exhibitions.

The regular program of fights consists of six good four-rounders:

There will be seven sets of vaudeville, pantomime and a wrestling bout between Bull Montana and Al Bashert.

It promises to be a large evening and will start at 8:30 o'clock.

GRID STARS INVITED TO PLAY IN BAY CITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. DOMAN BIG NOISE IN STAR BOUT AT HOLLYWOOD SHOW

The big noise of the Hollywood American Legion Stadium show tomorrow night should be Vigo Doman, the heavyweight who has thirteen straight knockouts and is after his fourteenth. Doman will fight Eddie Kid Sullivan of San Francisco in the semi-wind-up.

Al Corbett was slated to fight Doman but after working out Tuesday informed Tom Gallery he had a broken bone in one of his hands that would prevent his fighting Doman. Eddie Kid Sullivan of San Francisco was landed and the fight should be a corker as Sullivan is rated as a worker with more than ordinary ability.

There will be five fights on the card. The main event will be for ten rounds and Everett Strong is now a favorite over Mike Hector. Strong is primed for this fight.

The Hollywood show for Thanksgiving Friday looks all the world like a thriller. The boys are the old-time punchers who are so popular with the fans.

NEW HOSPITAL READY TO OPEN

St. Vincent's Receives First Patients Tomorrow

Institution Replaces Old One on Sunset Boulevard

The new St. Vincent's Hospital, conducted by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent De Paul, will receive its first patients tomorrow. The hospital, located at Alvarado street and Ocean View Boulevard, replaces the old St Vincent's Hospital, which has operated for a quarter of a century on Sunset Boulevard at Beaudry. Sister Mary Ann is superintendent of the hospital. The Sisters of Charity of St Vincent De Paul opened California's first hospital on the old Buena Vista street in 1856, and there have seen more than seventy years of service in the city of Los Angeles.

The sisters' hospital has in former years operated on Buena Vista street, Alameda and Macy streets, Sunset Boulevard, and finally in the new location, which is central and within easy reach of both the business district and the resident section of Los Angeles. The property has a large frontage on Ocean View Boulevard, as well as on Alvarado street, and occupies the entire block.

MODERN INSTITUTION

The new hospital is modern and complete in every detail. The plans were drawn by the firm of Austin & Ashley and present the Italian renaissance of architecture. It is an eight-story fireproof building and will accommodate 280 patients. Within the main building special provision has been made for complete surgical department, consisting of five operating rooms, sterilizing rooms, scrub rooms and other accessories, equipped with every facility necessary to meet the most exacting requirements of the latest advances in this respect; a modern maternity department complete in every detail; radiographic and radiological department equipped in accordance with the most recent advances in these respective fields: bacteriological, pathological and histological laboratories; a hydrotherapy department, rooms for cardiogram and metabolism; dining-rooms for the sisters, doctors and nurses; and a complete culinary department, modern in every detail, and so ample in its plan as to be able to take care of any future addition that may be made to the institution.

LARGE DEBT ASSUMED

Throughout the entire building the floors of the patients' rooms, as well as the corridors, are laid in marble terrazzo. The walls and floors of the operating rooms and of the other rooms connected with the surgical department are tiled, colored tile being used in preference to white.

Surmounting the central portion of the main building there is an uncovered roof garden surrounded by a high wall, thus making it possible for the convalescent patients to enjoy the benefit of the fresh air and still be protected from high winds. By means of a specially constructed roof, it is possible to carry out the present purpose of making a veritable garden out of the roof garden, by introducing into its stretches of lawn, interspersed with flower beds containing a great variety of plants.

Despite their long period of service in behalf of citizens of the community, the Sisters of Charity have been unable to accumulate enough capital to defray the cost of the new institution and have therefore taken upon themselves a heavy burden of debt. One reason for their inability to save is that thousands of patients have received treatment and care in St. Vincent's Hospital without the payment of even a moderate fee.

CITY WINS POINT ON GAS

Long Beach Gains First Round of Battle Over Its Emergency Contract Abrogation

The city of Long Beach gained a temporary victory yesterday in Superior Judge Wilson's court when a demurrer by the Petroleum Securities Company of Long Beach, against the plaintiff city's action to abrogate a contract for from 17,000,000 to 20,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas at 12 cents a thousand feet, for three years, was overruled. The case will have to go to trial, which is expected to be in January.

The contract, made last spring during a dearth of gas in Long Beach, when a cool spell caused so much gas to be used that the city's 2,500,000 cubic feet of tankage was emptied and the populace suffered, was made by the outgoing City Council as an emergency measure. Contracts were made with various concerns for emergency gas and it was brought out that none of that contracted for with the Petroleum Securities Company has been used.

The company, holding the city to the contract, has sent the natural gas to the city's meter, where it has been allowed to pass into the air.

Up to the present, it was contended during the arguments, approximately $500,000 worth of the gas contracted for has not been paid.

Arguments by Attorneys Spicer, Wellborn & Wellborn, for the defendant, were to the effect that the contract was put through legally, although it was an emergency measure. It was pointed out that the city has a storage tank of but 2,500,000 cubic feet. It was contended the municipality uses from 16,000,000 to 20,000,000 cubic feet daily.

The demurrer was heard by the court as an emergency measure and efforts to expedite the trial were made. City Attorney Reid and George Trammell are representing Long Beach.

Collector Sued Over Diamonds

L. H. Schwaebe, collector of customs, yesterday was named defendant in a suit filed in United States District Court by Mrs. Christian Sand, seeking to recover $2712.50, damages to the amount of $600 and court costs, for seizure by customs agents of a collection of diamonds several days ago.

The diamonds were seized, according to government agents, pending an investigation of the manner of their entry into the country. Mr. and Mrs. Mach H. Shleniter are asserted to have brought the diamonds into the country and to have sold them to various brokers, from whom Mrs. Sand purchased them.

WILD POKER GAMES LEAD TO DIVORCE

Friend of Wife Testifies Husband Made all Callers Join Pasteboard Pastime

Mrs. Hazel Weil is now free to make up her own list of friends. Judge Fleming yesterday accorded her that along with a lot of other privileges when he granted her a divorce from Richard Weil.

"He insisted on my knowing only the people he selected for me to know," Mrs. Weil said, referring to her husband.

"Yes, and when her friends would drop in to see her, her husband would always turn the party into a poker game," put in Mrs. Mollie Peres, corroborating witness. "My husband played only once. Mr. Weil's game was too wild, he said," she added.

Nathan Goldberg counsel for Mrs. Weil, argued successfully that this sort of conduct would naturally cause a wife to suffer great and grievous mental anguish, whereupon Judge Fleming awarded the divorce.

COULTER'S SHOWS RARE BED LINENS

Unusual Blanketing and Spreads Specially Woven for Famous Inns

BY OLIVE GRAY

That Coulter's, the oldest dry goods house in the city, should be chosen to supply to hotels and clubs which are the newest addition to our highest form of modern architecture, bedding that is the last word in this line of luxurious supplies, tells the story of progress in store history.

Windows throughout the spacious frontage of the Coulter Dry Goods Store on Seventh street at Olive now have on display examples of linen weaving and blanket making covering the bedding requisites for the new Hotel Flintridge, the Desert Inn at Palm Springs, the just completed Spanish group—La Quinta—near Indio, and resupplies for the Jonathan Club, University Club, Women's Athletic Club and the Victor Hugo in Los Angeles.

Each group is shown separately, together with large photographs of the hotels and clubs for which the supplies are intended. Decorative touches emblematic of the region surrounding the group lend to these windows an imaginative atmosphere, desert growths, smoke tree branches backgrounding the desert resorts, and festive effects hintful also of the holiday season, further enhance the ensemble.

That the desert has come into its own as a resort for those appreciative of scenic beauty is attested by the preparation, for entertainment at the new hotel in Palm Springs and the group near Indio. Bedding such as might grace the most luxurious caravansaries in any capital city are to be installed at these remote places. Linens specially woven in Belfast embody the emblems or the names of these hotels, while the blankets exhibited are in the extreme of luxurious looming.

For La Quinta — "The Country Home"—each tablecloth and each set of napkins is centered by the small Mexicano, which is the emblem of the group. Group is used to express the fact that here, in the very heart of the desert, is located the new Spanish hotel and its surrounding bungalows. The woven name frames the "muchacho," and oak leaves and acorns are used in bordering. Fine, heavy linen canvas—one of the latest modes in table napery—fashions doilies and runners for use on breakfast and luncheon tables at this characteristic hotel, the damask being used for the more formal service.

Blankets for La Quinta are of St. Mary weave, the under ones in white bordered in stripes composing the Spanish colors—green, red, yellow and black. Kenwoods in colors various to correspond with the furnishings of each room are used for throw blankets above southern candle wicking spreads.

Table damask for the Desert Inn consists of heavy Belfast weave, with the flame woven in, and the new, heavy linen canvas for doilies. Here the spreads are of satiny marseilles, specially woven. Bath equipment—towels, bath mats and all small bath linens, such as shaving towels, wash cloths, etc., follow some particular color scheme for each room of these handsome hotels. Each piece of linen not only was specially woven in Belfast with the name, emblem and chosen bordering, but was there hemmed and laundered ready for use—a new feature in preparedness.

The new Flintridge Hotel linen and blanket equipment also is shown in the Coulter windows, as is that for the Los Angeles Jonathan Club, the Los Angeles University Club, the refurnishing—Coulter's having supplied the original bedding and table linens for these. The Victor Hugo's new table linens also are displayed here.

Not only are these linens and bedding a fiesta to the eyes, but an education in values, and a criterion for the latest modes in such furnishings. The photographs carry the thought to those remote and fascinating places where architects conspire with nature to create restful habitations for hurrying business-driven mankind, while the linens and damasks, by means of the central emblem, crest or the woven name, portray the salient characteristics of the club or hotel for which they were designed—the old Greek lamp of learning for the Los Angeles University Club, a French crest for the Victor Hugo, and so forth. The window exhibition will remain intact for several days.

Sun to Be Topic of Talk Sunday

"Our Nearest Star, the Sun," is the title of a lecture which Dr. Charles E. St. John of the Mt. Wilson Observatory will deliver at the Southwest Museum, Highland Park, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dr St. John is a solar physicist and in addition to his active connection with the Mt. Wilson Observatory he is a member of the International Commission on Solar Rotation and on standards of wave length, and president of the International Commission on Solar Physics. The old classification of moon, sun and stars has gone by the boards, and in his lecture of Sunday Dr. St. John will tell why the sun is a star and some of the striking discoveries that have been made in recent years about its characteristics and its relation to our world.

ART SCHOOL WILL HAVE SHOW HALL

Construction on a new exhibition gallery is now under way on the main floor of the Los Angeles Art Institute, according to Charles L. A. Smith, instructor and prominent California painter.

CHARLES L.A. SMITH

The school has needed a gallery to exhibit its paintings and drawings and it is planned also to have well-known California painters to give private showings here.

The opening is planned for the Christmas holidays and the showing will consist of landscapes painted at Jamacha ranch, the summer school on the Mexican border, and of portraits, nudes, charcoal and composition drawings made in the local school.

In having the exhibitions in the same building as the art school, Mr. Smith believes that the art-loving public will, by viewing the exhibits and then seeing the art students painting in the studios, get an entirely different aspect and a closer personal feeling toward the works of Southern California painters of the present and future, than has heretofore been entertained.

SHAME SUIT FILED OVER 'WILD PARTY'

Hollywood Matron Asks $100,000 from Auto Man and Screen Actress

Giving of an asserted "wild party" in a Hollywood apartment lead to the filing yesterday of a suit for $100,000 damages by Mrs. Don A. Groth, 1740 North Gramercy Place, against Worthy Butts, said to be the manager of a Hollywood automobile agency, and Sallie Winters. Miss Winters is asserted to be a motion-picture actress, also known as Sallie McGowan.

October 19, last, according to the complaint, Butts and Miss Winters entered the apartment of Mrs. Groth in the absence of the latter and her husband, and proceeded to stage a "wild party" with all the lights burning and the window shades up.

The defendants are asserted to have conducted themselves in such a fashion that the affair became a "disgraceful orgy." According to Mrs. Groth, she and Miss Winters are about the same height and weight. Mrs. Groth asserted the so-called party was given for the purpose of disgracing and shaming her on the theory that other guests of the apartment house, who saw the asserted affair, believed it to be Mrs. Groth and not Miss Winters, who was participating in the asserted tryst with Butts.

The complaint was filed by Attorney Frank G. Howe.

QUARTER CENTURY HERE ENDS

Services Conducted for Mrs. Susie E. Morrow of Willowbrook

Funeral services for Mrs. Susie E. Morrow, who died last Monday at the family residence at Willowbrook, were conducted yesterday at the Noel & Towne establishment, Compton, with Rev. J. K. Higginbotham officiating. The body was placed in the mausoleum at Compton. Mrs. Morrow had lived at Willowbrook for the last ten years. The four Morrow sons, with Tourist and Dale Moser, the oldest grandchildren, acted as pallbearers.

"Mrs. Morrow's life was a sermon, more eloquent in kindly, loving deeds than any tributes we could voice in words," said Mr. Higginbotham.

Mrs. Morrow, who was 68 years of age and whose maiden name was Susie Webster, was born near Sweetwater, Tenn. She had lived in Southern California for the last twenty-five years.

Besides her husband, John Morrow, Mrs. Morrow leaves five daughters, Mrs. May Sheets, Mrs. Bell Moser, Mrs. Dora Peters and Mrs. Maude Sharp of Los Angeles and Mrs. Beatrice Newman of Hereford, Ariz., and four sons, Charlie, Edward, Fred and Tom Morrow of Los Angeles, and seventeen grandchildren.

Tourist, the oldest grandchild, was so named because he was born on the train when his parents, Mr and Mrs. Barb Moser, were en route to Los Angeles from their old home in Monroe county, Tennessee.

The New Way of Practicing Dentis

Dr. Parker

THE E. R. Parker System in Dentistry is nothing but dentistry put on a common-sense basis. Instead of one man practicing in a small way in a small office, several dentists practice together under the Parker System in large offices, where there is room for complete equipments. Some of the System dentists extract teeth, some fill teeth, some make crowns and bridges, some make artificial plates and some treat diseased teeth. In this way each patient is cared for by a dentist who is experienced in the kind of work each patient needs. Dental work done in this manner is not only done better, but in less time, making fewer visits necessary, and the saving in time helps to make prices lower.

There are thirty-four offices where the E. R. Parker System is used, located in [illegible] cities. These offices are [illegible] large quantities of dental supplies [illegible] bought for less than has to be paid for small quantities. All dentists using the E. R. Parker System are registered, licensed and experienced. The work they do so well that it is guaranteed. You are satisfaction.

Under the Parker System no charge is made for examinations and advice. You find out what your trouble is without having to pay. Everything known to dentistry is used to try to overcome pain in Parker System offices, so you need have no fear.

STORY OF BEATING BACKED

Divorce Suit Witnessess Testify to Injuries of Mrs. Fraser at Hands of Husband

Several witnesses called in the divorce suit of Mrs. Lillian Fraser against Earl A. Fraser, wealthy Ocean Park concessionaire, testified in support of her assertion that her husband ha dbeaten her severely, when the case was resumed in Superior Judge Montgomery's court yesterday.

Fred Coffey, newspaper man at the beach city, who testified he had known the couple for fifteen years, said that when he was living at the Fraser apartments in Ocean Park he heard screams from the quarters occupied by the Frasers. He testified that he found Mrs. Fraser lying on the floor unconscious and that Fraser was standing over her.

VICTIM UNCONSCIOUS

"She was unconscious for an hour," said Coffey, in answer to questions by Attorney Francis J. Heney for the plaintiff. He told of calling a doctor.

On another occasion, at Wallgrove, he testified, he was sent out to get pictures of Mrs. Fraser and found her with a black eye, a bruised nose and her chest and shoulders all black and blue, the result, he testified Mrs. Fraser informed him, of her husband "beating her up."

Mrs. Flora J. Spafford of Ocean Park told of giving massage treatments to Mrs. Fraser over a period of two years to bring her back to health and of observing black and blue marks on her. She said that it was in her place Fraser suggested a second marriage ceremony with his wife as a help to "keep him straight."

INJURED HUSBAND

Roy S. Busch, whose wife, Sadie Busch, has been named frequently in the case as an object of attention from Fraser, told of a meeting of both couples and Fraser's refusal to retract statements regarding Mrs. Busch. He said Fraser on one occasion offered him $100 to keep Mrs. Fraser from learning of further attentions to Mrs. Busch. Busch said he informed Mrs. Fraser of the situation.

Busch is the person named in the trial as having threatened to kill Fraser over attentions to his wife, from whom he now is separated. Busch has a suit for $150,000 pending in court against Fraser over the affair.

The case was adjourned for a week.

RESPONSE IN CHEST PLEA RAISES HOPE

Day's Subscriptions Pass Those of Tuesday, Giving New Impetus to Appeal

Subscriptions to the Los Angeles Community Chest yesterday of nearly $2000 more than on the day before caused Chest workers to believe the Thanksgiving spirit is loosening the pocketbooks of citizens. As tabulated at campaign headquarters, 911 South Grand avenue, contributions of the day amounted to $12,433, as compared with $10,553 Tuesday.

The total now in hand is $2,357,812, or 85.74 per cent of the minimum budget of $2,750,000 necessary for the upkeep during 1928 of the Chest's 150 charitable and welfare institutions. The amount yet required is $392,188.

County and Federal employees yesterday had exceeded their subscription quotas, but city employees still were behind. With the exception of the latter, all the public-utilities division, including five that have operated among employees of private concerns, now are ahead of their quotas.

Chest campaigners believe today will bring in a large number of subscriptions. No citizen could feel truly thankful if his conscience had to bear the thought that he had done nothing for those less fortunate than himself, Edwin A. Meserve, campaign chairman, declared.

CONVENTION SEEKS FILIPINOS OF STATE

More than 7000 Filipinos from all parts of the country are expected to attend the convention sessions, the first national assemblage of the organization.

More than 13,500 representative citizens and business men yesterday expressed their approval over the agreement of the County Board of Supervisors, the City Council and Mayor Cryer on the plans for the new Civic Center.

These were members of the Chamber of Commerce, whose board of directors, speaking for the entire organization, yesterday voted to write letters to the Board of Supervisors, City Council and Mayor Cryer on the recent action of those various factions in getting together and approving the Civic Center plan.

The letters, written by General Manager Arnoll of the Chamber, were sent late yesterday.

YOU'RE another. You urge guests to make themselves at home, but never forgive them if they do.

And yet you take others at their word if they say the same to you.

The fact is that you want a guest to respect your family ways, prejudices, flivver, radio and meal hours. If he doesn't, when you say you want him to be at home you mean his, not yours.

Any one with breeding or sense will respect them—or, if he can't, not visit you. But folks like that are so rare.

Politicians call all men—on their side—gentlemen—but you know what politicians are. Most so-called gentlemen are only polished gents, like one I saw enter an elevator with his wife, on floor 10, when the elevator got down to floor 6 another lady got in, and he instantly removed his hat. Being a gentleman to everyone except your own only proves you're not one. True gentlemen are very much dodo, often heard of but practically extinct.

Yes, Palomine, the only persons you can afford to ask to make themselves perfectly at home in your house are those who invariably treat their own households as courteously as if they were only friends—and you're lucky if you know even one like that.

The Expert

Charybdis or Scylla—perhaps he will slice,
Or else he'll be subject to hooking,
The things that he says—well, are not very nice,
He counts every stroke—if you're looking;
He'll struggle around in a hundred and ten,
He's as wild as the man in the moon,
But when he is back in the clubhouse again,
He shifts to a different tune.

He talks about dropping 'em dead to the pin,
He gets quite familiar with par,
He casually speaks about "shots that went in,"
And "pokes" that have "carried too far;"
He tells how he sights every putt from the knee,
And mentions direction and power,
But lest he should fool you, just take it from me,
He's great at the game—in the shower!

CHUCKLES from LIFE

As the Fellow Says

Standards are odd things. I once knew a man who ran a bucket shop. He cut me because he believed my revoke at bridge was not accidental.

A man doesn't know what servitude really means until he has acquired a cook so good that he doesn't want to lose her.

And, along that line, take myself. I have a number of responsible friends; I am well received in excellent houses; even my banker pays me a modicum of respect. Yet a little, illiterate Scotsman, deems me, the world's most useless animal. He is the golf pro at the country club.

A people, they say, deserves the government it gets. Could anything be more horrible?

What annoys us about the younger generation is that we are shamed by its honesty.

An excellent rule is never to vote for any candidate so popular that the general public calls him by his first name.

TROJAN LAUDED BY ECKERSALL

Modern California Pilot All-American Timber

Ray Hibbs Also Boosted by Grid Authority

Dungan and Niemic Hopes of Fighting Irish

BY WALTER ECKERSALL

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Watch Morley Drury will be one of the final comments of Coach Rockne to his Notre Dame team, which faces Southern California on Soldier Field on Saturday in the most interesting intersectional football struggle of the year.

Coach Rockne and his players have every right to fear this fast and elusive back, who must be rated with the leaders of the country this year. This player, who weighs 190 pounds, and can run 100 yards in ten seconds, is one of the best backs of the year. In making yardage, Drury skirts the ends. Most of the tackles or crashes into him are spilled. His speed combined with his cunning gathered, enables him to gain ground when opposition is

NOTRE DAME DRURY IN ACTION

I saw this player in action against Stanford two years ago on the Coast. At that time he impressed me with his knowledge of the game, his headwork and aggressiveness. At that time I could only fault to be found with Drury was his daring. Instead of trying to avoid a head-on tackle, he was often rammed into his tacklers with the result he was hurt frequently.

Many of this nature can be easily avoided if the ball carriers feint in one direction and drive in another. If they do not encounter the tacklers, they will be free to the side and chances of scoring. Coach Howard Jones has already taught this player some of the art of dodging because the Trojan star has seldom been tackled. He has either carried the ball for long rounds when close to the goal, or he has avoided the tacklers.

Physically Drury is a fine ball carrier, but he is an excellent defensive player as well. He showed this latter qualification against Stanford. It is only reasonable to suppose he has improved in the latter. He is also a strong defensive player and an accurate passer of punts and forward passes. Because of his splendid speed and shifty, Coach Rockne and his team have every right to fear this player, whose status as an All-American possibility will be increased by his playing against the fighting Irish.

ROCKNE HAS STARS

Coach Rockne will endeavor to offset Drury with either Christy, Flanagan or Niemic. Flanagan has been going well this year. He has been unable to get loose on those long runs which have made him a respected player in the backfield. Christy may come into his own Saturday, and if he does, a victory should take place between the Notre Dame star and the flashy right of the Trojans.

Niemic, however, must not be overlooked. This player has been one of the best guards in the Notre Dame line all fall. While not the flashy ball runner of the Drury and Christy type, John manages to cover ground and this is just what Rockne expects of his players. Niemic never fails to do his part and his interference, while his punting is a deciding factor in the

JOESTING, OOSTERBAAN WIN PLACES ON ALL-CONFERENCE ELEVEN PICKED BY COACHES

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (AP) — Led by Herb Joesting of Minnesota and Bennie Oosterbaan of Michigan as unanimous choices, the all-conference team chosen annually by coaches of the Big Ten for the Associated Press was announced today.

The Minnesota fullback and the Michigan end were selected without a dissenting vote for their same positions on the coaches' honorary eleven, followed closely by Raskowski of Ohio at tackle. Baer of Michigan at guard and Crofoot of Wisconsin at quarterback; who fell just short of unanimous choices.

Rouse of Chicago was selected at center, beating out Reitsch of Illinois by one vote. The other winners of mythical honors were Hanson, Minnesota, guard; Nowack, Illinois, tackle; Fisher, Northwestern, end; Gilbert, Michigan, halfback, and Almquist, Minnesota, halfback.

All conference selections of the Western Conference coaches chosen today for the Associated Press:

Oosterbaan, Michigan, L.E.
Raskowski, Ohio, L.T.
Hanson, Minnesota, L.G.
Rouse, Chicago, C.
Baer, Michigan, R.G.
Nowack, Illinois, R.T.
Fisher, Northwestern, R.E.
Crofoot, Wisconsin, Q.B.
Gilbert, Michigan, L.H.
Almquist, Minnesota, R.H.
Joesting, Minnesota, F.B.

SECOND TEAM

Hayeraft, Minnesota, L.E.
Nelson, Iowa, L.T.
Mathews, Indiana, L.G.
Reitsch, Illinois, C.
Gibson, Minnesota, R.G.
Grange, Illinois, R.E.
Eby, Ohio, Q.B.
Timm, Illinois, L.H.
Wilcox, Purdue, R.H.
Lewis, Northwestern, F.B.

Capt. Herb. Joesting, Minnesota fullback, and Capt. Bennie Oosterbaan, Michigan, end, were all-American players last year, and likely candidates to repeat in that honor this season, were again the unanimous choice of the Big Ten coaches today in the all-Western Conference team. Coach Stagg of Chicago, who does not favor the picking of "all" teams, cast no vote, but the other nine coaches put those two stars on their first teams without exception.

There other conference honorees were within a shade of unanimous selection. The only votes cast for other players in their positions were due partly to efforts to balance the wealth of good line material. There three who almost made unanimous vote were Raskowski, Ohio's great tackle; Baer, Michigan's massive and powerful guard, and Toad Crofoot, captain and field general of the Wisconsin team, at quarterback.

Baer lost some votes in the effort of some of the coaches to shuffle Capt. Bob Reitsch, Illinois, and Capt. Ken Rouse, Chicago, onto the first team, though both have played all their conference games at center. Only one other center received votes besides these two, Randolpe of Indiana. Rouse received more votes for the first team, while Reitsch received more total first and second team votes. Only one coach failed to pick Reitsch for either the first or second team.

Hanson of Minnesota was the outstanding choice for the other guard. The other tackle position was a close race between Nowack, Illinois; Gary, Minnesota, and Nelson, Iowa, with Nowack having one more first-team vote than the other two, who were tied.

There was likewise a big acid of ends for the flank job opposite Oosterbaan. Waldo Fisher, Northwestern, received the most votes, but four others were given places by some of the football directors. Garland Grange, "Red's" brother, led Cameron of Wisconsin by one ballot.

The backfield positions, except for first and second team fullbacks, were likewise scrambled in the coaches' efforts to pay tribute to the array of great ball carriers in the conference this year. Crofoot was the outstanding choice for first team quarterback, but half a dozen halfbacks were given scattering votes in order to get them into the backfield for either running or blocking purposes. Eby, Ohio State, received the most votes as runner-up to Crofoot.

"Pest" Welch, Purdue's brilliant sophomore, was short of either team by the narrowest of margins, his single year of competition probably counting something against him. Louis Gilbert received a stray mention as quarterback to get his passing arm and educated toe into the backfield, but all but two chose him as a halfback.

"Tiny" Lewis, Northwestern's fullback, who suffered from a series of injuries this fall, was the preference of the coaches for second team fullback, overshadowed by Joesting, Fitz Humbert, Illinois, and George Rich, Michigan, also received mention.

KENT REDWINE UPSETS DOPE IN NATIONAL SQUASH EVENT

Kent Redwine, a last entry in the national senior squash tournament, upset the dope bucket last night and won two games over Chet Cooper and advanced to the semifinals at the Hollywood Athletic Club. Redwine won over Kenneth Albright two days ago and so far has defeated two of the best men in the event. However, he takes on a big bite tomorrow afternoon when he meets Bill Holman, the hardest squash ball hitter in the ranks. Holman has been going good lately, but Redwine has shown plenty of class. It should be a great semifinal match.

The winner of the games takes on the victor of the Dan Jones-Leslie Klawater game, which is also scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. Klawater is the national junior champion and his rapid rise in squash has been phenomenal. He has won the last three major squash tournaments. In meeting Jones Klawater is facing a veteran and one of the deadliest shots in the ranks. If Jones is hitting them right he is almost invincible, but Jones always manages to play. This should also be a thrilling game.

The four semifinalists are members of the Hollywood Athletic Club, making the third time in succession that the film city club has copped all honors in the game of squash-handball.

Vance, the Los Angeles Athletic Club star, gave Dan Jones of the Hollywood club a real tussle in their games. Jones was forced to extend himself to win and when the games were over looked like he was shoveling coal. Vance was going along great in the first match when a hard sock from Jones's racket caught him on the back, the little black ball leaving a red welt big enough to set an egg in. From then on Jones coasted in. You can't get away from the fact that one of those socks don't make you run for the exit. They hurt, especially when a little perspiration shows.

RACERS CAVORT AT COLTON

At Colton this afternoon a fast field of roaring speed kings face the starter at 2 p.m. in a six-race program arranged by Fred A. Rhetts. The event is the first for the prominent Colton sportsman who purchased the track several weeks ago, and since that time has converted it into a high-class racing plant.

Interest in the events has been aroused by the dazzling speed shown by the drivers in their trial qualifying laps, and race officials predict new records will be made this afternoon.

The track management has had the oval groomed, and the drivers agree it has never been in better shape. Rhetts will station assistant starters around the track to prevent fouling that has been charged to several pilots. Violation of driving rules endangering the lives of spectators will result in immediate disqualification.

Today's program will consist of four ten-lap races, a twenty-lap event and the twenty-five-lap championship sweepstakes. A two-lap trophy dash will also be a feature event.

Schedule for Show Arranged

The judges' schedule for the seventh annual two-day championship dog show slated to be held in the Ambassador Auditorium Saturday and Sunday was announced last night by Norman A. Pabst, secretary of the Los Angeles Kennel Club and manager of the event.

Frank Addyman and Theodore Offerman, both of New York City and considered two of the most noted canine judges in this country, will arrive in Los Angeles today with John E. DeMund, president of the American Kennel Club. Offerman, an amateur judge, and Addyman, a professional, will preside over all classes.

THE SCHEDULE

Offerman will open the show Saturday morning at 10 o'clock judging all toy breeds in alphabetical order, and Addyman will work the Belgian sheepdogs, dachshundes, Dalmatians, Eskimos, Great Danes, collies, greyhounds and St. Bernards between the hours of 10 and 12:30 o'clock.

Starting at 1:30 Offerman will cast his eye over Airedales, bull terriers, dandie dinmonts, Irish setters, Kerry blue terriers, Scottish terriers, Sealyham terriers, West Highland white terriers and Welsh terriers.

Saturday evening between the hours of 6 and 10:30 Offerman will judge chow chows, schnauzers and cairn terriers, while Addyman looks over the whippets and Boston terriers.

Addyman will judge shepherds, starting at 10 a.m. Sunday. During the afternoon Offerman will work the smooth and wire fox terriers and Addyman will pick the winner in the English shepherdog, samoyed, doberman pinscher, pointer, English setter, Irish setter, cocker spaniel, Springer spaniel, Chesapeake Bay dogs and miscellaneous classes.

Sunday evening Offerman will judge the best toy and best terrier. Addyman will award the best working, best nonsporting and best working dogs. The exhibition will be brought to a climax by both Addyman and Offerman picking the best dog in the show.

TIMEKEEPER DIES

OAKLAND, Nov. 23. (AP) — Louis Bernstein, 52, one of the best-known timekeepers in California boxing circles, died in a hospital today after an illness of several weeks.

Alva Bradley to Head Club

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23. (AP)—Alva Bradley, head of the syndicate of Cleveland business men which recently purchased the Cleveland American League baseball club, today was named president of the company.

Mr. Bradley also will act as treasurer. P. J. Morgan was named vice-president and Joseph C. Hostetter secretary.

C. L. Bradley and John Sherwin, Jr., other members of the syndicate, will serve as directors.

E. S. Barnard, former president of the club, and recently named head of the American League, attended the meeting and tendered his resignation as director.

HUMPHREYS KAYOS McINTYRE IN THIRD

STRANGLER LEWIS WINS

PORT WORTH (Tex.) Nov. 23. (AP) Ed (Strangler) Lewis, wrestler, won from Howard Cantowine here tonight in the first fall with a headlock after an hour and four minutes of wrestling. Cantowine was too weak to continue.

AUERBACH SHOWS WALLOP

Herman Sprawls Sparring Partners in Preparation for Tuesday's Bout With Ace Hudkins

If Herman Auerbach throws a few punches next Tuesday night at the Olympic like those he used in a workout at the Manhattan Gymnasium yesterday Ace Hudkins has something else to worry about.

Auerbach dropped one of his sparring partners twice and the other three times. Hudkins, who had entered the building to get ready for his drill, stopped long enough to lead the cheering while Auerbach did his stuff.

"I always told you that Auerbach was a tough baby," said the Wildcat to his brother Clyde. "I saw him have Colima down, too. The only thing Auerbach needs is experience and I'll have to furnish that."

Hudkins scaled 140 pounds yesterday after his workout. He said he might not be over 146 by next Tuesday night. The Ace has never quit training since he was in shape to fight Joe Dundee.

The weight for the bout is 150 pounds. This means that Auerbach has the most preparatory work ahead of him, for he usually tips 151 or 152.

The supporting card was announced yesterday. Bobby Fernandez, Mexican featherweight champion, who has grown heavier, boxes Jimmy Fox in the semi-wind-up. Steve Polas a Greek, boxes Johnny Williams in the special event. Williams is said to have had Doc Spell on the floor twice a few weeks ago up north.

PILOTS PASS UP TURKEY TO EAT DUST AT ASCOT

With just three days left to test before the dawn of race day, the famous A.A.A. championship pilots entered in Sunday's big classic at the new Ascot Speedway today were to practice on the roaring bowl from early morning until dusk falls this evening.

At least five of the drivers will be out at the track by noon today with their powerful special-built race cars, Harlan Fengler, former race star who is promoting the classic, said last night.

Leon Duray, the big Frenchman, and Cliff Bergere, both of whom are piloting the freak front-wheel-drive cars that have proven sensations in the automotive world in the last two years are due on the track early as is George Souders, the winner of the last Indianapolis 500-mile race, with his fleet Miller special.

Babe Stapp late yesterday showed a burst of terrific speed on the huge bowl when he roared around in thirty seconds, just one second above the track record hung up several years ago by Ralph De Palma, the colorful Italian veteran, and Duray when they were competing in outlaw meets.

Stapp's speed was considered remarkable by racing experts at the track because the speedway was slippery with liquid calcium chloride, the dust-laying chemical which is to make the course as dustless as concrete when Fred J. Wagner, official starter, drops the flag for them to roar away in their bitter battle.

The steeply-banked curves were so treacherous that Stapp almost turned completely around twice in the heavy mile mad dash. Barney Oldfield, the referee for Sunday's classic, declared Stapp was risking his neck every inch of the way.

Fengler stated last night the main gates of the speedway would be open to the public today to watch the practice. Although this is Thanksgiving Day, the drivers are permitted to be on the track all they desire.

they were about to sit down and use Rocky's pajamas for their playing board Manager Bus Blanchard appeared on the scene and shooed 'em away. Boren's sleeping garments are of the same pattern as Kemp's and it is said that Rocky made himself pocket money by selling Charley his extra uniform.

Frank Anthony, the 200-pound guard, is the dignified member of the party when it comes to slumber clothes. Frank wears a long night gown and doesn't care who knows it.

Cecil Hoff, who hails from Huntington Park, is so hardy that he scorns pajamas, night gowns and all other variations of evening wear. How he will fare if it's cold in Chicago remains to be seen, or maybe we should say told. Some of the Trojans are more famous as motion-picture stars than they are as football players.

At least one would be led to believe so from the comments heard at Tucson this morning while the boys were going through their workout. Capt. Morley Drury and Howard Elliott were spotted as actors in two recent pictures and other players, such as Jess Hibbs and Russ Saunders, were pointed out by excited film fans of the Arizona metropolis.

Clifton B. Herd, the handsome assistant coach, has already acquired the reputation of being the heaviest eater among the noncombatants. Mr. Herd, who is frequently mistaken for one of our best-looking movie actors, wields a mean knife and fork.

Every time Cliff orders an extra steak Henry Monahan, the Southern Pacific's official representative on this trip, lets out a groan of anguish. If Mr. Herd's appetite holds out, and there is no reason to suspect that it won't, Monahan may have to get off the train and kill a steer before Chicago is reached.

Coach Jones is a bridge hound. He, Herd, Bill Hunter and Gordon Campbell form an inseparable quartet whenever card playing begins. Jones applies his football theories to bridge. On the field he says "Whip your man." In bridge he figures the best way to beat his man is to get the bid all the time. As a result his foes have to bid sky high before they get a tumble.

Jones plays good bridge until he starts thinking about a defense for Notre Dame's passes. Just before leaving Los Angeles Bill Hunter bought two suits of heavy underwear for each of the players. One uniform is for everyday wear if the players need it, while the other is to be put on under their grid outfit if the weather is freezing cold in Chicago.

George Templeton liked his outfit so well that he put it on after dinner last night and finding the suit warm enough didn't bother to don any more clothes. Naturally, he presented a striking figure throughout the evening.

There are a number of notables on the train, among them Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Doheny, Jr., and Gill Boag, famous for being the husband of Gilda Gray, well-known exponent of shimmy dance. Mr. Boag is taking motion pictures of the Trojans from the minute they leave Los Angeles until they return, including a complete shooting of the game. These will be shown in Los Angeles next week.

CHESS

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 23. (AP)—Alexander Alekhine, Russian contender for the world's chess championship, tonight won his fifth victory over Jose R. Capablanca, the present champion, after sixty-three moves.

One more victory and Alekhine will have won the championship. Capablanca, the Cuban chess wizard, has held the title since 1921. Capablanca has three victories to his credit in the present world's series, which has gone thirty-two games so far.

PITT FAVORED TO TRIM PENN

vals, meet at Franklin Field. Penn has improved since midseason. From the Dartmouth score it doesn't look as if Cornell had. Both teams have played Columbia. With that as a basis, Penn should be a heavy favorite. I favor Penn to win, but I don't think they will have a runaway match.

Penn's defense has not been particularly good against forward passes, and Cornell has a good passing attack. But I doubt if the Cornell line can hold Penn. A great deal will depend upon the condition of Anderson, best man on the Cornell line.

EVERY TEAM GAME

On past form it doesn't look as if Brown had much of a chance against Colgate but I believe every team has at least one good game tucked away, and this may be Brown's day. Brown's showing to date has been the greatest reversal of form I have ever seen in football.

Colgate has not been particularly impressive, though the team has played some good defensive football, particularly against N.Y.U. It would be a rash guesser who picks Brown to win, but great are the uncertainties in present-day football. I don't say Brown will win, but I doubt Colgate has a set-up.

The Columbia-Syracuse game looks like a toss-up. Columbia was very disappointing against Penn. The team seems to have its good and bad weeks. If this happens to be a good week, I think Columbia has enough power to win.

New York University is very likely to end a creditable season with a bad defeat. It is almost impossible for any team to travel half-way across the continent and play good football. Last week Nebraska had a disastrous game with Pitt, but this is no reason to expect the Corn Huskers will not be in top form against New York University. If Nebraska were playing in New York I would pick New York University, but as the game is played in Lincoln I favor Nebraska.

GOOD GAMES IN SOUTH

There are many good games in the South. Georgia, with a clean record, meets Alabama. Last year's southern champions are not very strong this year. If Georgia can hold its form, it looks a couple of touchdowns stronger.

Washington and Lee is in Jacksonville to play Florida. When the Generals were in Princeton they looked very good, but the team seemed at its peak in October. I don't know about Florida, but I do know the long journey is a handicap to Washington and Lee.

The Johns Hopkins-Maryland game should be a battle. Hopkins held Columbia to a tie a couple of weeks ago, while Maryland hasn't looked particularly impressive in its last two games.

Tennessee should have little difficulty defeating Kentucky. One of the traditional games in the South is played at Roanoke between V.M.I. and V.P.I. On past performances, V.P.I. looks stronger. Sewanee and Vanderbilt play at Nashville. Of late years Sewanee has been outclassed. It looks as if Vanderbilt would have little trouble this year.

LONG BEACH STARS FACE AVIATOR TEAM

The Long Beach All-Stars will open their grid schedule today when they tackle the fast-stepping March Field Aviators. The All-Stars are a group of players recruited from the ranks of Long Beach High School players, the greater part of whom are letter men. Most of the squad are former Poly players of Long Beach. The All-Stars will play a series of games on Burcham Field, Long Beach, during November, December and January. They intend to tackle the leading club teams in the Southland. Games with the Los Angeles firemen and police teams have already been arranged.

TABERSKI RETAINS TITLE

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (AP) — Overwhelming Pasquale Natalle, the challenger, in the final block tonight, Frank Taberski, world's pocket billiard champion, successfully defended his title in a three-day challenge match, the final count being 450 to 171.

BEAR NINE GLANCING AT CROWN

California Makes Plans to Romp Off With Collegiate Baseball Title of State

BERKELEY, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Having successfully turned back the Reds of Stanford in both the freshman and varsity soccer series just completed, Coach Carl Zamloch of California's baseball varsity, has taken up his next concern, baseball, and is now laying plans for the capture of the State College Baseball Association which came into being last season as a result of his own initiative and promoting energies.

Zamloch's sad announcement for Stanford, University of California at Los Angeles, Santa Clara, St. Mary's and the University of Southern California, is that he has practically the same nine which handled itself in a fair way last season, won the "big series" from Stanford and gave much promise at the close of the schedule. This group of veterans will be further bolstered by some fine men from the frosh team.

Among the outstanding men in the Bear lot is Capt. Rolly Douthit, slugging outfielder and brother of Taylor Douthit, centerfielder of hitting fame with St. Louis Cardinals, also a Zamloch product. Whitey Wyatt, first-string catcher, will also be back as will Al Shaffer, second-choice catcher, and Earl Jacobson, pitcher. A few more veterans who will join the returning parade include Jack Hill, outfielder, who came here from Los Angeles; Milt Devore, second base; Chat Millett, short, and Frenchy Combatalade, infielder. This gives Zamloch a rousing start on the State league and prospects of something to crow about when the 1928 playing time is concluded.

IRISH PRACTICE FOR GRID CLASH

do things they were not generally considered able to do.

The oversized squad looked fit and the coaches admitted as much except in the case of the resourceful "Butch" Niemic, halfback, who absorbed a generous modicum of punishment in the Drake game.

Physically the assorted elevens which comprise the Notre Dame team appeared to have reached the crest of the inevitable rebound from the Army defeat two weeks ago.

NOTRE DAME IS READY

South Bend "strategists" who usually know the way the land lies at Cartier Field believe Notre Dame will play its best game of the year Saturday against the Howard Jones clan. The men are rested after the light Drake game, they said, and other factors upon which they base their conclusion are the dissipation of overconfidence which tinged in the atmosphere before the Minnesota game, the return to effectiveness of men earlier handicapped by injuries and the likelihood of the formidable group of seniors playing "heads up" football in their final appearance.

Christy Flanagan, Reilly, Smith, Polisky, Voedesch, Walsh and Collins are only a handful of the men Rockne loses by graduation this year. The Notre Dame style of play is regarded as a variable quantity based on the weather at game time and upon the tactics which Jones employs.

ROOSEVELT HIGH TO FACE SANTA BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 23.—Roosevelt High School of Los Angeles and Santa Barbara High School will meet in a Turkey Day football game here tomorrow for the second time this year. In an early-season battle the two teams battled to a 6-to-6 draw, but Coach Schutte is confident that his recently developed passing attack will mow down the Rough Riders tomorrow.

SAILOR CREWS IN FAST RACE

California Takes Second in Thrilling Contest

Colorado Gobs Battle Way to Third-Place Honors

BY FRANK T. HARVEY

Using a long steady stroke which carried them across the water at a rapid pace, the first enlistment racing boat crew from the battleship New Mexico yesterday surprised the fleet by crossing the finish line first to win the two-mile recruit crew event in the most bitterly contested pulling event ever witnessed on the local naval course. Time for the winners was 16m. 15s., considered excellent time for a two-mile race.

The race was thrilling throughout the first part when first one crew and then another would forge to the front, only to be overtaken and passed by the boys from the wonder ship.

At the boom of the starter's gun the crews from the Idaho and Tennessee shot out like a bullet and raced on even terms for the first 200 yards. The California then crept up and took the lead, only to be passed by the Mississippi. The New Mexico then made a spurt which carried them to the lead position, and at the one-mile marker they were leading by two boat lengths with the California trying hard to overtake them. The Colorado was fighting it out with the Mississippi for third place and these vessels were followed by the Idaho, Tennessee and Pennsylvania.

The New Mexico managed to hold her lead and crossed the finish line first with a lead of one and one-half lengths over the California. Other boats finished as follows: Colorado, third; Mississippi, fourth; Pennsylvania, fifth; Idaho, sixth; Tennessee, seventh; West Virginia, eighth, and Arizona, ninth.

The New Mexico was awarded 50 points toward the Iron Man trophy for first place, the California received 35 points, the Colorado 20, Mississippi 10 and Pennsylvania 5.

Boxers and wrestlers from the battleships Colorado and the U.S.S. West Virginia met on the quarter deck of the former Tuesday night before a crowd of several hundred sailors, officers and numerous civilians in the next to final interclub meet of the season. Honors for the evening were divided with the Colorado winning the wrestling meet, 18 points to 13, and the West Virginia taking the boxing 28 points to 6.

Featherweight Carmine of the Colorado, made short work of Cherry, West Virginia, pinning him to the deck in 1 minute and 13 seconds with a body hold.

The lightweight bout also went to the Colorado when Sailor Mack Simpson pinned Fay of the West Virginia, in 3 minutes and 15 seconds with a body scissors.

The welterweight bout between Erickson, Colorado, and Shults, West Virginia, was one of the best seen in the fleet this year, with both boys showing plenty of ability at slipping holds. Erickson won with a top-time advantage of 2 minutes and 5 seconds.

BOXING

The officials for wrestling were: Referee, Lieutenant-Commander Kettle; announcer, Chief Boatswain's Mate Powers; timekeeper, Ensign Brinser; judges, Ensign E. J. Sullivan, Ensign J. B. Dunhoff, Ensign D. F. Sullivan.

Football teams from the Battleships Maryland and Pennsylvania, who meet Saturday for the championship of the battleship divisions, will go through their final practices today and after a rest tomorrow will be in fine shape for the fray on the following afternoon.

Opinion in the fleet as to the outcome of the game is fairly evenly divided with the Maryland a slight favorite in the betting. The big Marylanders looked very impressive in scrimmage yesterday afternoon with Capt. "Tex" Miller and Quarterback Timmons shooting a world of class in their passing.

The Keystoners are also in fine condition and are confident of turning in a victory. But, Navarre, Chiramonte and Bangle will offer a world of wealth in the backfield and line when the referee's whistle sends the teams into action.

The pep-spreading cheer leader Sammy Bear has his rooting section working over time this week and promises to turn in something new in the way of ride line assistance Saturday.

The crack baseball team from the battleship Tennessee which has been working for the past month in anticipation of the fleet athletic season which starts soon is anxious to play practice games with civilian nines. The Rebel team is coached by Ensign Sullivan, former Naval Academy star. Games may be arranged by getting in touch with Mr. Sullivan aboard the U.S.S. Tennessee, San Pedro.

Boxers and wrestlers from the Flagship California and the U.S.S. Idaho will collide tomorrow night aboard the Idaho in an official elimination smoker.

The California with such well known navy boxers as Bobbie Near, Eddie Williams, Billy Eagman, Babe Bartachough, Frenchy De Bonico and others have been running up numerous points toward retaining the iron man in the boxing competition and are favored to win by a large score over the Vandal glove slingers tomorrow evening.

The football team from the battleship Mississippi is anxious to meet other fleet teams in practice games now that the elimination season is coming to a close. The Mississippi is especially anxious to arrange a game with the Rebel squad from the Tennessee. The Tennessee and the Mississippi battled to a scoreless tie during the elimination season and it is probable that a game between the two teams will be arranged.

COMPTON SURPRISES WOODROW WILSON, 20-0

Compton High pulled a big upset in the Bay League yesterday, swamping the supposedly strong Woodrow Wilson High of Long Beach, 20-0. Compton's aerial attack was too potent for the beach boys. Gebhardt picked up a Compton fumble and ran 65 yards to what seemed would be a Wilson score, but the play was called back because of an off-side penalty. The line-ups:

Compton (20)		Woodrow Wilson (0)
Johnson	L.E.R.	Walther
Woods	L.T.R.	Jackson
Lind	L.G.R.	Zissenstenl
Hedgecock	C.	Pastor

COUNTRY PROPERTY—For Sale —41

BIG PROFITS IN CALIFORNIA DAIRIES

The law of supply and demand has always made the wheels of commerce go around, and always will.

There is prosperity for the producer when demand exceeds supply—market certainty and good prices.

The supply of milk products in California is far short of demand. More than a million cows are required to supply California. At present the State contains only 450,000 cows. Consequently prices here for milk products are well above the national average.

MILLER & LUX has put on the market thousands of acres of the very best ALFALFA LANDS in the State, and is selling them cheap and giving TEN YEARS TO PAY.

These properties in the Western San Joaquin Valley lie in the heart of California's finest dairying district. They are for sale in ALL SIZE TRACTS, and may be served by cheap gravity irrigation.

Where can you find a greater opportunity to make quick and sure profits from the land?

Impromptu Parade Conducts Chief to Hotel

Official Ceremonies Held at Al Malaikah Temple

Pacific Coast Shriners turned out in force yesterday and last night to pay their respects to Imperial Potentate Clarence M. Dunbar on his first official visit to Los Angeles and Al Malaikah Shrine yesterday.

Shriners from San Francisco, Sacramento, San Diego and as far west as Honolulu were present in the welcoming committee to the highest official in Shrinedom, when he arrived at the Southern Pacific station.

Following his official welcome to Los Angeles, two separate dinner functions were held in honor of Potentate Dunbar, one attended only by officials of Al Malaikah Temple and kindred temples of the Coast and the other attended by the women in the party.

RITES AT TEMPLE

Following the dinners, the ceremonial reception was conducted at the Shrine Temple, with an elaborate prologue produced by Theodore Kosloff and his ballet dancers.

While the official and formal reception to Potentate Dunbar was conducted at the temple, the color for the entire affair was produced on his welcome at the station. He was greeted not only by the uniformed drill team of Al Malaikah and the band but also by uniformed chanters.

The Shrine cavalcade stopped traffic from the station to the Biltmore. The impromptu parade, with the Al Malaikah band leading and the Shrine chanters and the uniformed drill team in line, was a sufficient turnout to halt the downtown traffic of the city.

RECEPTION HELD

One of the first to greet Imperial Potentate Dunbar was James S. McCandless of Honolulu, former Imperial Potentate, who made the trip to Los Angeles for the sole purpose of welcoming Mr. Dunbar to the west coast. He was joined by Ernest L. West, past Potentate of the San Francisco Shrine.

At the hotel a reception in honor of Imperial Potentate Dunbar was held. This affair was followed by an unofficial meeting with the women, who had attended their husbands on this occasion. Potentate Sim Crabill of Los Angeles Shrine, was the official welcomer of the national chief.

UNOFFICIAL VISIT

The national executive's trip to Los Angeles is in line with the policy of every Imperial Potentate visiting each Shrine in the United States during his term of office.

"This is a beautiful country and I am glad to be here, even for just a short time," said Mr. Dunbar, who is from Providence, R. I. "I learned of the city during the nationally famous convention here and it has always held a warm spot in my heart."

Mrs. Carrie Parillo of 7035 Parmelee avenue owes her life to her 11-year-old daughter Mary, who dashed a bottle of poison from her hand as she started to drink the contents following a quarrel with her husband, according to reports made by Deputy Sheriffs Burkhalter and Lamkin yesterday.

The officers were summoned to the Parrillo residence Tuesday night, when it was reported Mrs. Parillo had attempted to end her life. After receiving first-aid treatment Mrs. Parrillo was permitted to return to her home.

Pushball Hunt Being Pushed

Firemen and policemen of Los Angeles may be aided by Uncle Sam in their search for a pushball for the fire-police interdepartmental fiesta the afternoon of December 10 in the Coliseum, the proceeds of which go to the relief associations of the public safety employees.

The departments are expecting an answer to their SOS sent out to locate such an article, from the United States Navy, which is reported to own one of the huge spheroids.

Fifty of the huskiest men from both the police and fire departments will meet in battle royal for possession of the pushball between halves of the football game.

BALLYHOO ORDINANCE FACES TEST

Convicted Main-street Barkers File Notice of Appeal on Sentences

Following their conviction by a jury last Monday on a charge of crying and proclaiming a show on the sidewalk in violation of Ordinance 6859, Cal M. Lipes and Jack Kating of the Dreamland Palace, 339 South Main street, were yesterday sentenced by Municipal Judge Blake to pay a fine of $50 and spend fifty days in jail. The jail sentence was suspended, however, with provision that the men are not convicted on a like charge within the next year.

Deputy City Prosecutors Eberhard and Rosenblum, who prosecuted Lipes and Kating, obtained the first conviction on the ballyhoo ordinance here, following more than 100 arrests.

At the same time, Carl Martin, arrested at the World Museum, 508 South Main street, on a similar charge, went on trial without a jury before Municipal Judge Frederickson. After Chief Investigator Vail of the City Prosecutor's office testified as to the arrest of the defendant, the magistrate gave both sides five days to submit briefs.

Thanksgiving in Judge's Bosom

Entering into the spirit of the occasion, Municipal Judge Valentine yesterday gave Edin Fraser, 18-year-old high-school student, a Thanksgiving Day sentence.

Charged with driving forty miles an hour in a twenty-mile zone, Fraser would have been forced to spend Thanksgiving Day in the City Jail if Judge Valentine had meted out his usual sentence to such violators.

"Son, you've sat through the entire afternoon calendar and seen several fellows go to jail for a less serious offense than the one charged to you," the Magistrate explained to the defendant. "Now, go home and eat your turkey with the rest of the folks, but remember this speeding business must stop."

DR. STEVENS WILL SPEAK

Stevens, coadjutor bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker at the Thanksgiving services to be conducted tomorrow evening at the Temple of Sinai Congregation, Fourth street and New Hampshire avenue. ROW OVER HOSTESS AT CLUB ENDS

Mrs. Frazier-Hoover Gets $195 in Her Suit on Job She Didn't Get

A row over the employment of a hostess for the Casa del Mar Club at Ocean Park, just prior to the opening of the place in the spring of 1926, was settled yesterday when Superior Judge Bush gave judgment for 195 to Mrs. Mabel M. Frazier-Hoover, who brought suit for $2500.

Mrs. Hoover formerly was executive house-keeper and assistant manager of an apartment house and when she heard the club was to employ a hostess she applied for the position. She testified that George W. Blanchard, the manager, decided she was fitted for the position and she was employed at $150 a month, with meals and quarters in the club.

The manager, she testified, mentioned she would require "proper clothing so she declared she invested $500 in dresses. A few days later, she said, she was informed the club had decided not to employ a hostess. In the meantime she had resigned her position with the apartment-house.

Dr. H. C. Loos, former president of the club, testified that the decision to do without a hostess was because they had sought and failed to get the one wanted.

Forty-Foot Fall Not Serious but Four-Foot Drop Is

Two workmen fell forty feet with only slight injuries yesterday while another man received a skull fracture which may prove fatal when he sank to the sidewalk in a faint.

George Spear, 32 years of age, 725 Barnett street, a plasterer, and H. L. Vieres, 40, of 274 South Main street, a contractor, fell from a scaffolding on which they were working at 4627 St. Charles Place and received only minor cuts and bruises.
